State Ticket Headed by Able and Brilliant Statesman.

OCCUPIED PLACE IN THREE CABINETS

Distinguished Service He Performed for His Country Gives Him a High Place in the Hearts of All Citizens—Is Admired and Supported by Men of All Political Parties—Strongly Condemned Wilson Administration in Recent Speech.

Philadelphia, Oct. 3.—Headed by a man who is recognized not alone in this country, but throughout the great nations of the world as a diplomat of wonderful brilliancy, the Republican state ticket this year appeals to voters of all political parties. When the Republican leaders unanimously agreed upon Hon. Philander C. Knox as the candidate for United States senator any hope that the Democrats may have had of reducing the G. O. P. majority in Pennsylvania was shattered. Mr. Knox will sweep the state and his presence on the ticket will induce hundreds of Democrats to vote the straight Republican ticket.

HON. PHILANDER C. KNOX.

Pennsylvania is proud of Philander Chase Knox. He has demonstrated capacity to perform big things. As a lawyer, as a statesman and as a diplomat he has shone before the eyes of the world and gained not only credit to himself but immense credit to the state which produced him.

Mr. Knox is a native of Fayette county. Shortly after his graduation at Mount Union College, Alliance, Ohio, he was admitted to the bar of Allegheny county. In 1876, when a lawyer but less than a year, he was appointed assistant United States district attorney for the western Pennsylvania district. His practice grew rapidly and within a short time he was looked upon as a leading lawyer of the western part of the state. Cases of great importance found Philander C. Knox as chief counsel, and his success was such that litigants all over the country demanded his service.

In McKinley's Cabinet.

In 1897 Mr. Knox was elected president of the American Bar Association. Four years later he was tendered the place of attorney general by President William McKinley. After giving the matter great consideration and being compelled to decide between a lucrative law practice and a duty he owed his country, he accepted the great honor and served as legal adviser to the martyr president.

When Colonel Roosevelt became president one of the first things he did was to reappoint Knox as his attorney general and he served till 1901, when upon the death of the late Senator Quay, the governor appointed him United States senator. In 1905 he was elected for the full term and remained in the senate till President Taft made him secretary of state.

It was as secretary of state that Philander C. Knox earned for himself an unusual reputation for brilliant diplomacy. His negotiations with foreign countries never resulted in situations that might embarrass the administration in which he served. The honor and integrity of his country he endeavored to preserve at all times and never did he deviate from that course.

Sentiment of Thousands.

Once during the present administration when the demands of the United States for the reparation of a wrong were being met with insolence and ridicule by European countries, United States Senator Cummins exclaimed: "Oh, for Philander Knox as secretary of state." This sentiment was the sentiment of thousands of others who live beyond the confines of Pennsylvania. For Knox stands as one of the brainiest diplomats who has served the United States in the position since the close of the civil war. The other two are the late John Hay and Elihu Root.

In his speech at York last week Mr. Knox gave a sample of the wonderful grasp he has on American political affairs. Every man within the hearing of his voice instantly felt that here was a statesman who knew how to handle a critical situation. They realized, too, that back of the knowledge was a fearlessness and a refreshing nature in view of the weak attitude of some of the Wilson cabinet members.

Condemned Administration.

Senator Knox condemned the Democratic administration in language that could not be misunderstood. A few of the striking points were as follows:

"President Wilson made war upon Mexico when he invaded her territory, else he shed the blood of the young American marines who fell at Vera Cruz in an act of personal vengeance.

"The Mexican people were immolated on the sacrificial altar of blood and revolution.

"When history deals with this administration its record of destruction will loom up as its most distinctive characteristic.

"In China a policy of co-operation was ruthlessly abandoned."

and the aspirations of one-fourth of the human race were crushed."

In speaking of the Republican nominee for president, Mr. Knox said:

"The Republican party has the rare good fortune of presenting at this critical period in our nation's life a candidate whose superior Americanism, patriotism, deep vision and God-fearing characteristics commend him to the thoughtful and patriotic men and women of a land. When to these personal attributes are added his experience as a wise administrator and a just judge we present a combination invincible and unexcelled."

All the value of Piedmonts is in the cigarette itself—where it should be.

The reason is that Piedmonts, being made of Virginia tobacco, pay no duty. They're ALL Virginia tobacco—mild, and mellowed by Virginia's golden sunshine.

If you ask a tobacco expert, he will tell you that Virginia is the best cigarette tobacco on earth.

"A package of Piedmonts, please."

NOTE:—It is impossible to sell a package of 10 cigarettes of all Turkish tobacco for 5c. Not that this Turkish tobacco costs more than Virginia, but because duty, ocean freight, marine insurance, and expensive handling charges must be added to the cost of all Turkish tobaccos. But Piedmonts, made of highest-grade Virginia tobacco, have none of these expenses. All their value is in each cigarette.

WAR TO VICTORY,

German Chancellor Says the Somme Line Will Hold

CALLS ROUMANIA 'TRAITOR'

In Opening Address Before Reichstag
Members Are Told Food Supplies
Are Sufficient and Future Is Secure.

Germany will persevere until victory is hers, the German Reichstag was told by Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg at its opening.

The chancellor declared that this year's harvest had made Germany's position much more secure than was the case last year.

In his attack upon Great Britain he declared that that country was breaking one international law after another and was above all Germany's "most egotistical, fiercest and most obstinate enemy."

"A German statesman," he said, "who would hesitate to use against this enemy every available instrument of battle that would really shorten this war—such a statesman should be hanged."

"When in August, 1914," he went on, "we had to draw the sword we knew we had to protect our hearts and homes against a mighty and almost overwhelming coalition. Ardent and until then unknown and often ignored, patriots fanned up in all hearts defying death for certain victory. Today, after two years of fighting, struggling, suffering and dying, we know more than ever before that there is only one watchword, namely, persevere and win. We will win. Last winter there was pusillanimous anxiety as to whether our foodstuffs would suffice. They have sufficed. This year's harvest makes us much more secure than was the case last year."

The allies cannot break through the German lines of the Somme, the Chancellor declared.

"The English and French, it is true," he said, "have achieved advantages. Our first lines have been pressed back some kilometers and we have also to deplore heavy losses in men and material. Still another trench and another village may be lost, but they will not get through."

In regard to the eastern front where, the chancellor said, the Russians had renewed their offensive with heavy attacks, he predicted the same result. "Here, too, the battle is proceeding," he said, "but just as surely shall we hold our own."

In the Balkans the entente has planned to split our alliance, to interrupt communication between Germany and the Near East, to crush Bulgaria, Turkey and Austria-Hungary one after the other and then to throw all their forces against isolated Germany."

The chancellor at this point asked what had been gained by the army of General Sarrail and by Roumania's "treason" and answered the question as follows:

"The situation of our faithful, brave allies is unshaken. Austria-Hungary stands together with us on the eastern front from Lake Narocz to Transylvania. The Turks are fighting in Galicie, German, Bulgarian and Turkish troops have defeated the Roumanians in Dobrudja. Bulgarian, German and Turkish troops have fought their way to Macedonia.

"The Salonika army has been able to make only feeble advances. The Germans, Bulgarians and Turks in Dobrudja marched to the northward while our enemies hoped that the Russians and Roumanians would march to the southward.

"The aims proclaimed by our enemies are becoming increasingly clear and admit of no misunderstanding. They are: Lust of conquest and annihilation. I have spoken in this house repeatedly about them. It is proposed to give Constantinople to Russia; Alsace-Lorraine to France; the Trentino and Trieste to Italy and Transylvania to Roumania.

"Germany will not be permitted to think of peace while her house is burning. She must first extinguish the fire."

DR. HARVEY W. WILEY TO VOTE FOR HUGHES

He Says Wilson Has Failed to Enforce Pure Food Law.

"I favor the election of Mr. Hughes to the Presidency for entirely different reasons than those held by most of his supporters. It is not because of the Mexican policy nor the foreign policy of the administration nor because of its domestic policies. It is because of the apparent indifference of the administration of President Wilson to the cause of pure foods and drugs. Practically all of the abuses which were injected into the pure food law by the preceding administrations are still in force. Benzene of soda is still rampant. The fumes of burning sulphur are marching along undisturbed. There is evidently a lull in the activities of the administration of the law. A well-known beverage, declared by the supreme court misbranded and amenable to the food law has not been molested. No attempt has been made to enforce the law in regard to the bleaching of flour. The repeal of the mixed flour law, that splendid safeguard to the purity of our bread, has been tacitly approved by the treasury department.

"Mr. Hughes in his activities on the supreme court has stood like a stone wall for the proper administration of the food law. I believe his election would see a radical change in the attitude of the government towards pure food and pure drugs, so vital to the welfare of our people. For this reason I sincerely hope that Mr. Hughes may be chosen as our next president.

"I should expect Mr. Hughes as president to have the same attitude toward the pure food and drug law that he had as a judge on the bench and to appoint a secretary of agriculture with subordinate officers who would be enthusiastic and earnest in the enforcement of the pure food law for the benefit of the physical, mental and moral welfare of our people."

WE SHOULD CONSIDER WHAT IS RIGHT,
THEN DO IT.

"Our government is based on the idea that we have Legislative solutions. It is not based on the idea that the Government must act without knowing the justice and merits of the cause in which it acts."—Mr. Hughes in His Speech at Portland, Maine.
