Ready For Him. The landlady notified with unfeligned dismay that her new lodger's fire consumed more coal than she had been accustomed to provide for it. She mentioned it. "Oh, yes," explained the ingenious young man. "You see, I always place the lumps of coal upon the fire in such a way that the grain of the coal is perpendicular—that is, running up and down, you understand. It makes much better fire. Nothing like a little science, you know."

The unimpressed female who contracted for the supply of daily necessities spoke in a hard voice that almost stopped the lodger's watch: "That may be so, but I always charge a shilling extra to scientific gent!"—London Telegraph.

The Wind and the Keyhole. "How excellently I whistle!" said the wind to the keyhole. "Well, that's good!" answered the keyhole. "It is I who do the whistling. I should have thought you knew that." Just then the old lady took some paper and stuffed up the keyhole, so that neither wind nor keyhole whistled any longer, and it would be difficult to say which of the two was more annoyed.—My Magazine.

Well, Why Not? Crawford You seem to think your wife the most unreasonable woman in the world. Crabshaw—Yes, see, I mortgaged the house to buy her a car, and now she wants me to raise money on the car to purchase her a birthday present.—London Answers.

Dorothy Shultz should remember that "Books" spells books and when Miss Lauver asks for the principal books of book-keeping she should not try to tell us of the principle "Berks" or at least omit "Principal" and use the singular. The class of '20 held a "feed" in Pfhaler's Hall last Wednesday evening. About sixty persons were present including members of the class and the High School teachers. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing games after which came the "feed," and a sumptuous "feed" it was, too. After everyone declared they had eaten enough to last them a week the jolly crowd disbanded. Wanted—Someone to play Cupid and patch up the trouble between Dick and Helen. Conversation overheard in Senior typewriting class on Monday.—Dorothy Shultz. "It certainly was cold coming to school this morning. I believe that if I had had to come as far as Margaret Opel, I would have frozen before I got there. Margaret Sipple. Oh! You needn't worry about her, for she drove to school this morning, and she had something good and warm around her too."

The following statement was found on Delmer Wenzel's Physical Geography paper—A liquid is closer together and thus takes longer to heat. We wonder what he was thinking about? Miss Beck. "What is the meaning of the word realistically?" Frank Rowe. "That is beyond my vocabulary."

When John Boose was asked why he stood up at the table, he explained by saying he could eat more. John didn't "take" into consideration the High Cost of Living. Miss Beck. "What kind of a sentence is that?" Pearl Lint. "A patriotic sentence." Miss Broadhead realizes the high cost of living and the rise in the price of eggs. She told the girls in cooking class to make scrambled eggs without the eggs. Who ever wants to try it can have the recipe. What should make "Dot" go sleepy on Monday morning that she must beg to be allowed to keep her eyes open during practice in typing for fear of falling asleep? Miss Lauver is trying very hard to show her Senior that "losses and gains" are a part of book-keeping. Recently she asked what we get when we subtract, the debits from the credits. Claude Deal answered, "A difference." (Bright boy.) Owing to classical Juniors and Seniors asking for a course in typewriting and others asking for cooking or sewing Mr. Weaver has arranged the whole program so that we can successfully find our classes on the bulletin board let alone at class time.

Driving Screws Into Plaster. When screws are driven into a plaster wall they may be made firm enough to hold considerable weight if they be withdrawn, wrapped with cotton string and dipped into plaster of paris until sufficient adheres to fill the hole in the wall and to permit some of it to be forced behind the plaster. This latter forms a plug that holds the screw firm.

Short Amendments. The shortest amendment to the United States constitution is the eighth, containing but sixteen words, as follows: "Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted." The sixteenth or income tax amendment is set down in but thirty words.

Making Assurance Doubly Sure. The pupils in a certain class in hygiene were told to set down on paper the reasons why, in their opinion cremation was superior to burial. "Cremation is good," wrote one little boy, "because the person might only be in a swoon, and if he is burned he cannot recover."—New York Times.

Gave Him a Pointer. "I'd like to see Mr. Jones," said the lady caller. "Mr. Jones is engaged, ma'am," replied the new office boy. "Engaged, fiddlesticks!" exclaimed the lady. "He's married, and I'm his wife."—Indianapolis Star.

This World of Ours. "De world was made in six days," said Uncle Eben. "But it's been taking thousands of years to get desirable tenants for it."—Washington Star.

ST. PAUL The temperature of this region fell from 23 degrees above zero on Sunday evening to 16 degrees below zero on Monday morning. A fall of 44 degrees in 12 hours. The high wind accompanied the change in temperature. It blew out several window glasses for H. J. Engle. Rev. L. N. Wilson of this place preached in the Progressive Dunkard church, Sunday in Mechanicsburg. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Engle, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sechler. H. G. Lepley, spent several days in Somerset last week, on business connected with the collecting of taxes. Mrs. Mary Tennessee, Margaret Lepley, Charles Lepley, Glenn Lepley and Joe Tennessee, were Sunday visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Forest Welser's in Summit Mills.

Driving It Home Let us drive home to you the fact that no washwoman can wash clothes in as sanitary a manner as that in which the work is done at our laundry. We use much more water, change the water many more times, use purer and more costly soap, and keep all the clothes in constant motion during the entire process. It's simply a matter of having proper facilities. Meyersdale Steam Laundry Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA
