

SALISBURY SEARCHLIGHT

Mrs. Victoria Baumgartner, while returning from the W. C. T. U. meeting at the home of Mrs. G. B. Showalter, Monday evening, stepped over a culvert into the side ditch, fell and fractured one bone in her forearm.

Had the street lamp at this point been in order the accident would not have happened. It is high time for the Town Council to go after the Light Company and see that they give them what they pay them for. There isn't a night that there are not a number of the lights out of working order and at the same time the borough pays for the service in full.

There is at least one thing that the miners strike has accomplished in this part of the region. It has enabled the farmers to procure labor to harvest their crops and do their threshing. Without this help many farmers in this locality would have been short of hands, and yet we have some farmers who are in sympathy with the "scabs." Base ingratitude! Of course some of these are farming, both, on top and under the ground.

On last Sunday, Emanuel Stevanus, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stevanus and Paul Corbet, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Corbet, left their homes and without the consent of the parents went to Johnstown where they enlisted in the aviation branch of Uncle Sam's army. On Monday morning they were shipped to Pittsburgh and on Monday evening were on their way to Columbus, O. While it was a rash act on the part of the lads, they may thereby learn obedience better than they could be taught anywhere else.

The election seems to be very quiet in both the townships and Salisbury Borough.

There must be immense inducements offered for men to "scab" in the mines, or men with good jobs elsewhere or a trade of their own like a blacksmith for instance, would not go to do the dirtiest of dirty work against their fellow men. Oh, well, it may not be the big inducements either, it may just be the natural dirtiness in them that's working out to the surface where it can be seen with the naked eye.

The C. T. Hay family have moved to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. May for the winter until they decide on a new home since they sold the residence on Ord street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Tressler and children, of Springs, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Schramm, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Resley Tressler and baby spent several days at Sand Flat, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Stevanus. J. W. Corbett was a business visitor to Meyersdale on Monday evening.

The social held in the Red Cross rooms last Tuesday evening proved a great success as the receipts well indicate, the receipts for the evening being $171.62.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George James was the scene of a very pleasant Hallowe'en Social on Wednesday evening, when their son, Luke, with a number of other Boy Scouts entertained the Girl Scout squad of town. Refreshments were served and all had a royal good time.

ST. PAUL

Hallowe'en came and went with a few gates removed from their hinges, a number of cabbage roots strewn around a little more corn for the chickens and a party of young folks held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sipple.

The following persons were present at the party, most of whom were dressed in costume: Misses Thelma Sipple, Freda Sipple, Gladis Sipple, Edna Bodes, Mary Bodes, Lillian Engle, Nellie Engle, Freda Engle, and Edna Rhodes, and Clarence Rhodes, Charlie Engle, Ray Bodes, Evan Engle, Clyde Sipple and Roy Sipple. Misses Elsie Sipple and Edna Liven-good acted as chaperons.

The St. Paul schools lately introduced a new feature in the way of a literary society. The sessions are held once a month, on Friday afternoon. The last session, which was on Friday, November 3, the presiding officers were: Mary Bodes and Thelma Sipple. The program consisted of songs, queries, an essay, recitation, and dialogue. These young people are making a good beginning. The teachers and the pupils are to be commended for this endeavor. The patrons of the school are invited to these meetings.

W. H. Kretzman, supervising principal of the Meyersdale schools, delivered an address to the Reformed Sunday school here at the rally day services on Sunday. His remarks were appropriate for the occasion, and the school showed its appreciation by a vote of thanks. The Professor had been a member of this school in his early manhood.

Mrs. Salome Engle and her mother were visitors at the home of Mrs. Wm. Sechler, on Sunday.

Mrs. John Opel, of Summit Mills, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Albert Engle, on Sunday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Bodes, a girl.

Long live the Meyersdale Commercial. She stood for righteousness in the past, she stands for righteousness now and we hope she will always stand for it in the future. We believe she is in the fight for freedom as opposed to oppression. The battle is on, let us fight and pray for her success. Subscribe for "The Commercial," her subscription price is $1.25 per year.

HANDWERK SCHOOL

Farmers are about through with their fall work and are getting ready for the winter work.

R. J. Engle, while going home from S. D. Gnagey's last Friday eve, encountered several wildcats. He is still able to be about.

S. D. Gnagey has purchased several nice steers from J. C. Kretzman, with which he is well pleased.

Dennis Bockes will soon be ready to move into his new residence.

Truman Sanner is busy with his corn husking at present.

G. O. Handwerk is busily engaged hauling props for the mines.

Miss Florence Kretzman has accepted a position with L. A. Kretzman.

L. A. Kretzman and Ray Hershberger are busily engaged in hauling lumber.
