WEIRD PROPHECIES

Out of the darkness comes a voice, prophecying the de-struction of Garrett, which town on November 6th fel in-to the hands of the newly elected officers on the Socialist par-

The voice from the darkness was immediately met by a voice from the light, with the a voice from the light, with the astonishing declaration, "Woe be unto Garrett since she fell into the hands of the Socialist officers. Everything will now have to be divided up. All will be forced to go back to Old Testament days even to the days of King Solomon, when the wise old King of that day ordered the stolen baby to day ordered the stolen baby to be divided into halves in order that a dispute between two women be successfully settled. Oh, but won't some wonder ful things happen town there I certainly must remain a-way from work a few days to participate in this dividing up scheme which the Socialists will carry out when sworn in-

And there has been so much stored away to be divided up. Which reminds me of a fellow who happened to be traveling in Berlin some years ago, when he was apprized of the fact that the world famed singer, Sarah Bernhart, was to be heard in the German city's be neard in the German city's big theatre. Suddenly a taxi cab came along, and the traveler, recognizing the driver thereof as an old friend, halted him and said, "Hello, who are you serving today?" And the driver replied, "I have the honor and pleasure to drive the world's famous singer to the

"Madame Bernhardt," the

"May I look in and see her?"

asked the traveler.
"Certainly," rej replied driver.

But upon looking into the cab the traveler cried out, "I can see no one on the inside."
"Well," said the driver, "that is her." This was a humorous reference to Ma-dame Bernhardt's leanness. All of which clearly illustrates what one could find in Garrett to be divided up. So much dividing up has been going on in the past that there is nothing left for the Socialists to divide up.

The modern workingman under our chaotic capitalist system, knows nothing but work, eat and sleep. He is forced to divide up his earnings forced to divide up his earnings to such an extent that the capitalist gets four-fifths and he retains but one-fifth for himself. And then he is told that the harder he has it in this life the easier he will have it in the next. Oh, what an insulting fable to survive still in this so-called intellectual age. Writers and historians call our attention often to the dark ages, but, sorry to say, we are not yet completely out of the dark ages. Never was there not yet completely out of the dark ages. Never was there a truer saying than that of Robert Burns, "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn." Oh, how we practice economy and how patriotic some people are for the almighty dollar, causing little children to be ground up in the grist mill of modern capitalism.

Thousands of carloads of italism.

Thousands of carloads of life's necessities may lay and decay in the freight yards, in order that the human machine may be squeezed for another slice of that one-fifth of its earnings; in order that the idler may slumber on the flowery beds of ease.

But the time is not far distant when the prophecies of St. James will come true, especially the one in chapter 5 where he says, "Go too now, ye rich men, weep and howl stant of to John Shumack, Elk Lick township, $4400.

Oh, may the time soon be

Oh, may the time soon be here when we put into practice daily the true principles of Christianity, and not do as we are at present: preach Christianity one day out of a week and live the life of a rascal the other six, which again reminds me, this time of Billy Murray's little song, where he sings:

"He goes to church on Sunday, he hands around the contribution box,
You meet him in the office

You meet him in the office on a Monday, he's as crooked and as cunning as a fox.

On Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, he robs everlybody that he can, He goes to church on Sunday so they say that he's an honest man."—Contributed.

Our town had some more youthful runaways. On Sunday, Donald Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Miller, Chester son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Corbett, and Howard, son of Dr. and Mrs. Peter L. Swank, took a notion to take a little ramble and accordingly boarded the street car and went to Meyersdale where they bought
