

Horticulture is Prominent in Farmers' Week Program

Since Pennsylvania ranks high as a producer of fruits and vegetables, much prominence will be given on the program for Farmers' Week at the Pennsylvania State College to lectures and demonstrations relating to the production, harvesting and marketing of horticultural products.

The list of speakers will include not only specialists in various phases of horticulture connected with the college but also prominent men throughout this and other States who have been successful producers.

There will be discussions on the locations of orchards; the selection of varieties of fruit; cultural methods for orchards; pruning, spraying and tillage; harvesting and packing apples for market; diseases of fruit; injurious fruit insects; grading, and cooperative marketing.

There will be demonstrations in orchard planting, grafting, pruning, budding, making and applying sprays and apple packing. Interesting exhibits of fruit and vegetables will be on display the entire week.

Driving It Home!

Let us drive home to you the fact that no washwoman can wash clothes in as sanitary a manner as that in which the work is done at our laundry. We use much more water, change the water many more times, use purer and more costly soap, and keep all the clothes in constant motion during the entire process.

It is simply a matter of having proper facilities.

SALISBURY

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Diehl, Jr., of Six Mile Run, visited at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Diehl, in West Salisbury, several days last week.

Lewis Hoy is nursing a very sore foot, the consequence of getting that member entangled in the wheel of a motor cycle a short time ago. By the help of a pair of crutches he manages to get along pretty good.

Mrs. Lloyd Miller and son, of Elk Lick township, were Salisbury visitors on Saturday.

Mrs. Leo Hendrix, of Swissvale, spent Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Keller.

Misses Romaine and Anna Dietz spent the latter part of the week in Johnstown with Mr. and Mrs. David Beamer.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Haselbarth spent Thanksgiving in Pittsburgh with Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Kretzman.

Union Thanksgiving Services were held in the Salisbury Lutheran Church on Thursday at 10 o'clock. The sermon was preached by the Rev. E. D. Burnworth of the Brethren Church.

Miss Susan Engle, of St. Paul, spent several days the fore part of the week with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Yaist.

Prof. O. O. Saylor, principal of the Salisbury schools, spent Thanksgiving at his home in Somerset.

Miss Olive and Robert Maust of Blue Ridge College, spent last week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Maust.

About a week ago a young son of Mr. and Mrs. John Livengood was accidentally shot in the foot by a young son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Reiber while the lads were out hunting. Six small shot had penetrated the unfortunate lad's foot but he is getting along as well as may be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Livengood spent part of last week shopping in Pittsburgh.

COAL RUN

A. W. Malcolm, who has been in the store business here for many years has taken up his old job of digging coal.

If any medals are distributed after the war for having accommodated men who take the place of workmen on strike, Coal Run will witness one of its young fellows a-wearing of it.

Miss Catherine Smith visited the Coal Run school Monday.

Mrs. Stanton, of Confluence, spent Sunday at the home of her grandson, Roy Hinebaugh.

Mrs. Jane Chaney, of Davis, W. Va., was visiting in this vicinity last week.

The folks here had smiles all over their faces last Sunday when they witnessed bread rolls and biscuits flying in the air, thinking that some good fairy had come to pay them a visit, until they discovered that all this came from a man's window and were not altogether baked. Remarks overheard from the outside would not show up well in print, but it is believed some one was offering up a prayer.

Mrs. Lloyd Sipple was shopping in Salisbury and Meyersdale Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Swarts-welder have gone to house-keeping in the house owned by Milton Bowman.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Snyder spent Sunday at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. Albert Ries.

Mr. Maust, one of our School Directors, visited the school on Thanksgiving day.

A sample of more than one pebble on the beach is being displayed by one of our young fellows, whose wife has gone to the country. Better be careful, son.

Mrs. William Howell, of West Salisbury, spent Sunday at the home of her son, Robert Howell.

Marshall Lowery, who is employed at Berlin, passed Sunday with his parents here.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. James Wise, Wednesday last, a son. Many of our young people seem to be love struck, one young fellow started from home to go see his fiancee and had to turn back because he met her coming to see him.

Charles Ohler, who has been on the sick list, is improving again.

ST. PAUL

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hause and their children, who were spending the last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Engle, have returned to their home in Somerset.

Miss Erma Sipple, who is working in Meyersdale was at her home on Thanksgiving day.

The children of H. G. Lep-ley, who were home from school for a few weeks, due to a case of measles in their home, have resumed their studies in school again, as no more cases developed. We are glad to say that the little sufferer, Joe Tennefos, has recovered and is as lively as ever.

Mr. Francis Sipple and Mrs. Zach Faidley did their butchering on Thanksgiving day.

The St. Paul pedagogues, Misses Elsie Sipple and Edna Livengood were the partakers of a splendid dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Sipple on Thanksgiving day.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bodes and their baby, of the Bissell farm, were the guests of his mother, Mrs. Mahala Bodes, on Thanksgiving day.

"It was always so and it will always be so." The idle rich the tramp and all those who add nothing to the wealth of the nation are supported on the backs of the producers of wealth and always will be, if the workers, who are the producers, consent to support them.

When working people strike one way and vote another they get it where the chicken got the sharp-pointed axe.

Lloyd Bittner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Bittner, of Meyersdale, is spending a week with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Sechler. He expects to return to school in Meyersdale as soon as the small pox quarantine is lifted from the schools.

Beginning on Tuesday evening of this week there were services every evening at the Reformed Church, except on Saturday evening, preparatory to the Holy Communion which will be celebrated on Sunday morning at 10:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bowman and children, Silvia, Charles and Gordon, of near Summit Mills, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sechler. Miss Olive Bird, of Listonburg, cousin of Mrs. Sechler, also shared their hospitality on Sunday.

Some of the younger set were skating on a small pond in the limestone quarry owned by the Ringler brothers, on Sunday. The ice was in fine condition for skating and they reported a good time.

The Elk Lick Teachers' Institute will convene in the St. Paul school house on Saturday, December 8. Patrons of the school and others interested in education are invited to attend.

And this is liberty—that one grow after the law of his own life, hindering not another.

—J. Wm. Lloyd

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sechler are visiting his sister, Mrs. Sadie Bittinger, at Bittinger, Md., who is seriously ill.
