

Meat is as Necessary as Steel and Ships

Food is the first essential of the fighting forces.

The American farmer and the packer have met every war emergency, and have promptly furnished an adequate supply of wholesome meat.

No other industry can claim a better record of war time efficiency.

Swift & Company has shipped to the United States Government and the Allied Nations,

Over 12,000,000 Pounds (400 carloads) per week, of beef, pork, and lard, since January 1, 1918.

In one week recently we shipped 24,000,000 Pounds (800 carloads) and the demand is increasing.

Our profits are limited by the Food Administration to 9 per cent on investment in the meat departments. (This means about 2 cents on each dollar of sales.) No profit is guaranteed.

We are co-operating with the Government to the best of our ability.

IT'S ALL WRONG, PROFESSOR.

In a current story about the Incas, or Ancient Peruvians, Mr. T. A. Joyce makes the following startling summary of peasant and labor conditions:

"The condition of the peasant in Peru approximated nearer to the ideals of the doctrinaire socialist than in any country of the world. But it was at a price which, perhaps, the native of no other country would consent to pay. From the cradle to the grave the life of the individual was marked out for him; as he was born, so would he die, and he lived his allotted span under the ceaseless supervision of officials. His dress was fixed according to his district; he might not leave his village except at the bidding of the state, and then only for state purposes; he might not even seek a wife outside of his own community. An individual of ability might, perhaps, rise to be one of the subordinate inspectors, but the higher ranks were inexorably closed to him."

It's all wrong, professor. If any such animal as your "doctrinaire socialist" ever got into our organization, there's not a single Comrade worthy the name who would not vote to throw him out if he had no better "doctrine" than the one you just described. It isn't to put at the service of the state all labor possesses, but rather to put the state at the service of labor, that the Socialist proposes to put into operation his new plan for the salvation (not enslavement) of all humankind.

FENTRESS, VA.

It gives much comfort to us to hear from our native home and the surrounding country through the old reliable Commercial. Long live The Meyersdale Commercial!

The general health of the country hereabouts is good—just a little cold contracted by some of us within the last week.

Saturday morning we had a heavy frost. Ice froze, and the ground was caked a bit in the gardens. The fruit was not damaged, it being too far advanced, but garden truck suffered some.

While our schools will be open until the first of June, the attendance is falling off noticeably, as the youngsters are needed at home at present.

Miss Ida Keim stopped going to school last week, for this term. The Misses Amanda and Stella are attending yet for a while.

T. J. Tannafoss has built a small addition to his home, which gives the Mrs. better accommodations and makes it more convenient for her.

Mrs. Archie McKown was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Kemp, over Sunday.

Mr. Wesley Shaddinger recently sold two valuable cows to parties in the country east of us, price unknown.

Mr. Earl Smith has sold his large farm of four hundred acres to a company of land sharks in Norfolk, who are buying all available land in the country hereabouts.

N. W. Keim and wife paid a visit to Dr. R. L. Miller recently. Dr. Miller is an up-to-date farmer and a regular encyclopedia of information. Some of his early corn and the potatoes are up. The Dr. is a good jovial fellow. He is interested in raising Belgian hares to increase the meat supply for home consumption. He thinks his "Belgians" are doing their "bit" towards "canning the Kaiser." J. S. Keim also is raising the Belgian hare. He has a herd of 26 Rufus Reds.

THE STRONGEST THING

One afternoon a magician was walking along the Ganges river, in India. As he looked up he saw an owl with a mouse in its beak. The owl, filled with terror, let the mouse fall. The magician then took it home and changed it to a girl whom he called his daughter.

"Now, my daughter, I want you to marry the strongest thing," so he went to the Sun and said, "O Sun, you are so strong; won't you marry my daughter?" But the Sun said, "I am not the strongest thing; look at the Cloud that covers me." They went to the Cloud and said, "O Cloud, you are so strong; won't you marry my daughter?" But he said, "Look at the Mountain." And the Mountain said, "Look at the wise Mouse that bores in my side." When the magician heard this he turned her back to a house.—Martin Dobel, 11 years old.

Enough to Feed the Entire Allied Army

Corn Bread with Rye Flour

1 cup corn meal	1 teaspoon salt
1 cup rye flour	1 cup milk
2 tablespoons sugar	1 egg
5 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder	2 tablespoons shortening

Barley flour or oat flour may be used instead of rye flour with equally good results. Sift dry ingredients into bowl; add milk, beaten egg and melted shortening. Stir well. Put into greased pan, allow to stand in warm place 20 to 25 minutes and bake in moderate oven 40 to 45 minutes.
