Driving It Home!

Let us drive home to you the fact that no washwoman can wash clothes in as sanitary a manner as that in which the work is done at our laundry. We use much more water, change the water many more times, use purer and more costly soap, and keep all the clothes in constant motion during the entire process.

It is simply a matter of having proper facilities.

CUT OUT WASTE, SAYS UNCLE SAM

E. Lawrence Fell Heads Organization in Pennsylvania to Lend Assistance.

PLEA TO BUSINESS MEN

Co-operation Sought in Avoiding Excessive Deliveries by Grocers and Other Merchants.

E. LAWRENCE FELL.

Philadelphia, May 7.—Mr. E. Lawrence Fell, of Philadelphia, has been appointed director of the Commercial Economy Board for Pennsylvania. This board is a branch of the Council of National Defence. Mr. Fell has entered upon his duties, working in close co-operation with Howard Heinz, U. S. Food Administrator for Pennsylvania and chairman of the Food Supply Division of the Committee of Public Safety.

In setting forth the scope of his work, Mr. Fell made this statement: "It must be evident to merchants and business men that in order to win this war we will have to put every available man into the army or into the government's service producing for that army. The purpose of the economy board is to encourage and assist in the elimination of all waste.

"One of the first of our serious endeavors will be to eliminate excessive deliveries. We look forward, in the grocery trade, for example, to not more than one delivery a day to any one household and over any one route and probably it will be necessary to reduce suburban deliveries of large grocery stores and department stores to two or three per week.

"Where this reduction has already been accomplished merchants have been surprised and gratified at the hearty co-operation of the public and have received practically no criticism for so doing. Department stores in a number of our large cities have curtailed deliveries to one day and have eliminated special deliveries and special service, or have made a satisfactory charge for this service, sufficiently large to discourage it.

"From time to time this office will put forth various concrete propositions looking toward the carrying out of the general policy of saving waste and when it is possible will inaugurate local campaigns to carry out these propositions."

Mr. Fell makes an appeal to public officers, chambers of commerce, merchants' associations and other civic bodies of the state, to co-operate with him in bringing about the reforms which are in his care. Mr. Fell is a graduate of Swarthmore College in the class of 1888 and is president of the Franklin Printing Company. He is on the membership committee of the Union League and three years ago president of the United Typothetae of America—the printers' national organization. Mr. Fell has devoted himself to the education of his craft in factory management and cost-accounting. He has spent fifteen years in lecturing and writing on these subjects throughout the United States. He was selected by the Commercial Economy Board because of his experience in the elimination of waste and the study he has made of efficiency methods.

What Food Control Does.

Congressman A. W. Overmyer, speaking in the House of the Food Administration a few days ago, said: "What the Food Administration has done is to regulate the world's food supply so that America and her allies may be fed at as reasonable prices as it is possible to obtain. Reasonable prices are not necessarily low prices. They are the best that can be obtained under all conditions of the situation. "And whatever may be said, no one is heard to complain that our armies are not being fed and that is admirably important. Nothing else matters much at this moment. If they are fed they will hold out until we can get more men and airplanes and cannon and ammunition to them. "What if our population is called upon to forego and sacrifice and practice self-denial, so long as our armies and allied armies are fed?"

EAT CORN MEAL TO SAVE WHEAT

Super-Abundant Supply Makes Its Use a Patriotic Duty, Says Food Administrator.

SOLVES WHEAT PROBLEM

Scores of Attractive Dishes May Be Made by Use of Old and New Recipes.

"Thousands of tons of corn meal and millions of dollars will be lost if the American public fails to co-operate in the efforts of the Food Administration in the next few weeks."

This warning is issued by Howard Heinz, U. S. Food Administrator for Pennsylvania, who is urging on the people of Pennsylvania the necessity of consuming the great excessive stocks of this wholesome food which has accumulated in the last month or so. Mr. Heinz said:

"When the Food Administration last winter faced the necessity of shipping seventy-five million bushels of wheat to the allies, and to do so was compelled to put the people of this country on short rations of wheat flour, a warning went forth to millers all over the land that corn should be converted into flour and the meal used as substitutes for wheat.

"Millers all over the country patriotically began turning out corn meal to meet the altered condition. Their loyal response is known to the entire country. Unfortunately, in this crisis the exceptional weather of the winter interfered with the prompt shipment of this product. Millions of pounds of corn products were held in mills, storage warehouses and elevators because the railroads of the country were unable to handle it.

"This stock began pouring into the market as soon as transportation lines were able to handle it, with the result that these delayed shipments flooded in upon dealers, wholesale and retail all over the country, filling their warehouses to overflowing. The conditions of last winter were entirely unforeseen and could not be provided against with the result that today there is a vast volume of corn meal that should be disposed of. The Food Administration, in an effort to relieve the situation, is urging upon the people of the United States to purchase freely of this commodity and other substitutes of a like character.

"Corn meal is now on the market at a very low price—5½ or 6 cents a pound—much cheaper than wheat flour and other substitutes for wheat. It is one of the most wholesome of foods. It can be utilized in innumerable forms in cookery and in the making of Victory bread it is equally useful. Corn meal mush, fried mush, corn muffins, corn bread and Indian pudding are only a few of the familiar forms in which it appears on the table. It is welcome in the diet of almost every one, and it contains all the nourishing qualities of the best food."

OYSTER CRACKERS; GO EASY ON 'EM

Federal Food Administrator Classed Them as Bread and Says "Use Sparingly."

And now it is the festive oyster cracker that has come under the ban of the Food Administration. No more can the busy citizen order "half a dozen raw," or "plate of clams," and while consuming his six bivalves get away with half a pound of crackers on the side. Never again, at least during the period of the war, can Mr. Ordinary Citizen order "one small stew" or a bowl of soup, and when the half pint of savory mixture reaches him mix up with it a quart of crackers broken into crumbs in his dish.

Because, he it known, that Jay Cooke, U. S. Food Administrator for Philadelphia, has decreed that crackers are in the same category as bread, and that hereafter it will be contrary to the Food Administration rulings for oyster houses, restaurants, quick lunches, hotels and clubs to serve more than two ounces of crackers with an order of soup or oysters in any shape.

In one way it is possible that the restaurants will regard this a blessing in disguise, for it is no secret in the trade that a great many customers consume at least one-third the value of their soup order in crackers that are served as a side dish. It will be a money-saving proposition to the restaurant man and will doubtless be regarded by him in that light.

The Administration is going thoroughly into the matter, and investigations will be instituted to find where and by whom this order is violated in the ranks of oyster houses and restaurants.
