That these old songs should have embodied and retained the characteristics of the people among whom they originated gives them an importance which their crude words and the elementary character of their melodies scarcely seem to warrant. The words often seem a mere meaningless jumble, the melody is always within the easy compass of home voices. No doubt both express, in some supernally wise way, the one unalterable sentiment of maternal love.

Shamokin.—In response to the go Shamokin.—In response to the government's call for students in radio and buzzer service for signal corps work in the army, twenty young men in the draft have enlisted for a course to be installed by the local school dis-
