Mr. C. William Thompson, publisher of the York Labor News, who has been doing organization work for the Socialist Party, working out of Meyersdale the past two weeks, left Sunday to continue his work in the north end of Somerset county. Mr. Thompson is well pleased with the good results he got in this end of the county, and has hopes for equally as good results in the northern district. While here he made many friends, from whom he was reluctant to be parted so soon, although time may see him back in our midst again when he can be of further service to our movement in this district. "Service" is the watchword in the Socialist movement, as in any great moral crusade, and it sometimes severs a tie of friendship to the regret of all parties concerned, so we will seek comfort in the belief that a gentleman of Mr. Thompson's accomplishments will have friends wherever his services are required.

The following named relatives and friends from out of town attended the funeral of Mrs. C. C. Sides: Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Sides, of Harrisburg; Mr. C. W. FERN HOLT CONCERT COMPANY

This company includes Miss Fern Holt, violinist, who is one of West Virginia's favorite daughters. She comes from a family of musicians, all of whom have appeared for many years in Lyceum and Chautauqua programs. Miss Holt has been prominent in musical circles, not only in the cities of her home state, but has toured many of the larger cities of the East.
 Linna Hennig-Sherman, reader, was leading woman with Walker White-side. She is sure to please the audience in her versatile program. Her splendid stage presence, and rich, clear, resonating voice command attention.
 Flora Williams, piano soloist, has also appeared on many of the leading Chautauquas, including Chautauqua Lake, New York. She has a voice of remarkable range and purity.
 Helen Hiatt, the little girl of the Company, is the pianist, but plays with the maturity of years selections from the great masters.
THIS COMPANY APPEARS ON THE FIFTH DAY.

AMERICA'S GREAT NATURALIST AND SCIENTIST

Dr. S. C. Schmucker.

Doctor Schmucker, author of many books of nature and "Seeing Things Out of Doors," is coming to tell you about the things you have already seen and known, but have not observed. He will analyze the meaning of a flower. He will do it so gently and beautifully, and apply the lessons to human life so aptly, as to command your closest attention. Doctor Schmucker will also discuss the subject of "Human Wreckage." Being a close friend of Thomas Mott Osborne, and thoroughly acquainted with the remarkable results of his Mutual Welfare League at the Auburn penitentiary, he will draw lessons and give advice that should be heard by every young life of the community. Mr. Schmucker has appeared on all of the prominent courses and teachers institutes of America.

CHAUTAUQUA'S MAN OF MYSTERY

"The Great Brush."

Edwin Brush is the Chautauqua's man of mystery, the illusionist, magician, and entertainer with weird Hindu, Occidental, and Oriental magic. Brush's night is the night of nights for the boys and girls, and some grown-ups. It will contain two hours of surprises, laughs and provoking fun of the strange and mysterious. Comedy runs all through the program, and his jokes together with his tricks give you two entertainments in one. Many critics consider Mr. Brush to be the leading magician upon the Chautauqua platform. But Brush is more than a magician, more than an entertainer; he is a great moralist. As he aptly puts it, "I want to make men better. I do tricks for a purpose. I want to show men the evil of gambling, and the folly of the games of chance. The purpose of a lyceum," continues Mr. Brush, "should be to educate and entertain. First to create a taste for good, clean, moral things; then to cultivate that taste and never give it up."

Come out on the fifth night and hear the great Brush, the Witty Wizard, the Mirth Provoker, and the Master Magician. He will make you forget your troubles and feel that life is really worth living.

TWO ENTERTAINMENTS IN ONE—FIFTH NIGHT.

DEAN ARTHUR HOLMES

Eminent Educator, Author and Lecturer.

The National Lincoln Chautauqua brings to your community one of the nation's foremost educators, Dr. Arthur Holmes. As Dean of Pennsylvania State College he has directed the minds and the morals of thousands of young men and sent them forth with renewed ambitions and higher ideals to fight the battles of life. Although children and problems of children have been Dean Holmes' specialty, yet in his graduate work and travels he has made an extensive study of German philosophy and German education. Why Germany selfishly plunged the world into war, and the preparation of the child for future responsibility, are the vital topics to be interestingly discussed by Dean Holmes on the afternoon and evening of the fourth day.

For fifteen years Dean Holmes has been a prominent figure in the nation's educational gatherings. He has the voice and the magnetic power of an O'Connell and the physique and logic of a Webster. Every father, mother, and patriot should hear him.

HARRIE BLAND

Director of Bland's Orchestra.

Harrie Bland has a national reputation as an organizer and director of orchestras and bands. He is to the orchestra what Creator is to the band. This is Harrie Bland's seventh year with the Lincoln System. He has toured all the circuits, some twice, appearing in seventeen states and giving more than a thousand programs.

Director Bland will be heard in a new feature this year. He aims to present in the afternoon a singing band, and an orchestra at night. These programs will be presented with their appropriate costumes. There will be a great variety of quartettes, duets, solos, in voice and in brass. Aim to make the fourth day one of the big musical events of your city. This is positively Bland's last appearance on the Eastern Circuit.
DON'T FORGET THE FOURTH DAY.

AMERICA'S BEST IN MUSIC

Van Vliet-Mathieson Company.

Few cities outside of the larger centers of population, such as Chicago, New York and Cincinnati, are given an opportunity to hear such high-grade artists as those who make up the Van Vliet-Mathieson Company. Your Chautauqua on the last day is assured of a rare treat of high-grade music. Their presentations are standard, but not so standard as not to be popular, and not so popular as not to be standard. Cornelius Van Vliet is ranked as one of the world's great cellists. He has appeared in solo work with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, with Te-trazzini, and Mary Garden.

Christian Mathieson, also of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, is one of the leading tenors of this country, and in voice and execution has few superiors in the musical world.

The company is made up of five artists, and will present a program of such variety as to meet the tastes of all music lovers. Remember that when you hear these artists you have heard among the best that America offers.

FIVE BIG ARTISTS ON THE LAST DAY, AFTERNOON AND EVENING.

"The Great Brush."

Come out on the fifth night and hear the Great Brush, THE WITTY WIZARD, THE MIRTH-PROVOKER, AND THE MASTER MAGICIAN. You will forget your troubles and you will feel that life is really worth living after hearing BRUSH.
