First Capsule, 246, Drawn by Secretary Baker, and the Rest Proceeds in Order—How New Registrants Will Be Placed.

Washington.—The drawing of numbers to determine the order in which youths of the classes of 1918 will be called into military service was conducted here June 27 with much the same ceremony as marked the great drawing of a year ago.

The figures show you at a glance in what order your number is drawn. The registration numbers—"your number" comes first. The figure accompanying it tells the order in which it was drawn and therefore the order in which you will be called for service.

All youths whose numbers were drawn will be assigned to the various five classes on the basis of information furnished in the questionnaire now being mailed out. New registrants will be placed at the foot of the list in each class in the order their numbers are drawn. Indications are that all new registrants placed in Class I will be called before the end of the year and that only a few months will elapse before those whose numbers are drawn last will be called.

Invention Constantly Improved. The storage battery or electric accumulator of France was first exhibited in London 37 years ago. Since then invention has been greatly improved by Edison and others, and is now successfully applied to the operation of street cars and other uses.

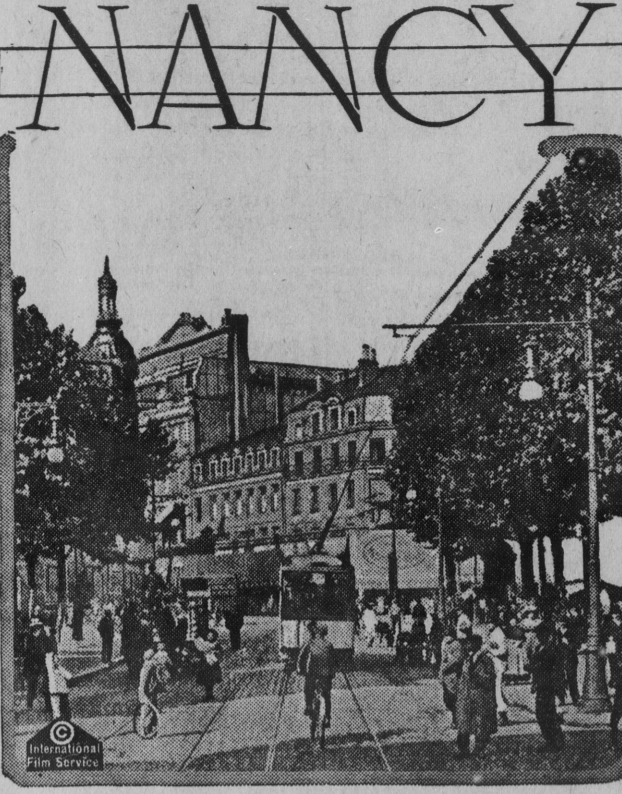

Steady Hand Imperative. A steady hand in military affairs is more requisite than in peace, because an error committed in war may prove irreparable.—Bacon.

Happiness That Satisfies. Happiness is never more real, more satisfying, than when founded on clean heartedness. The possessor of a clean conscience sees more beauty in the world around him, because he looks through clearer eyes. He has faith in his friends, because it is so easy for the one who is straight himself to believe the same of others. He gets the best out of life because he unconsciously attracts it.

Camp Fire Hints. A camp fire for cooking will burn with a steady glow if a small bag of charcoal is added to the wood after it has a good start. One successful camper builds his fire in a small trench about 18 inches long and a few inches wide and deep. Two flat stones placed across the top for the frying pan and kettle give an even heat. Meat, potatoes, corn and apples can be roasted by holding them over the fire on the ends of green, pointed sticks. An old newspaper is useful in starting the fire, and plenty of matches should be at hand.—World's Chronicle.

The Worries of Officialdom. The number of persons who are addressing the Governor's office, state draft headquarters and even the United States marshal regarding the way people affected by the operation of the draft are concerned is becoming striking. The Governor's office has been sent letters complaining about everything from the way wives of men who have gone to war are acting and bringing up their children to the failure of a local committee to hand out sandwiches to the men it sent to camp.

WORTH KNOWING. Minnesota is the latest state to bar alien teachers. Congressman Nolan of California is a molder by trade. It is proposed to give London (England) freemen an increase of 15 shillings ($3.75) a week until after the war. Harry McDonald two years ago entered the Columbus (O.) prison weighing 200 pounds. When released the other day he weighed 340 pounds.

Street Scene in Nancy.

NANCY, the former capital of Lorraine, which was left to France by the Treaty of Frankfurt in 1871, and the chief city behind the sector which the American troops took over from the French, is of historical interest, writes Mme. Marie de Perrott in the New York Tribune. Illustrious at the time of the dukes of Burgundy, their last scion, Charles the Bold, came to a miserable end there. Thence the three last "Roman emperors" went to be crowned in Vienna. In 1914 another German emperor, Kaiser Wilhelm II, believed that Nancy would fall three days after the hostilities began and, according to his habit, was already dressed for the part—had his face made up, like the actor he is, for a triumphant entry. But he had reckoned without the defense of the Grand Couronne, and above all without the indomitable will of a nation.

As I write I see once again before me the panorama I know so well. From the Plateau Haye there lies before me a view of a long stretch of close roofs, towers, spires, churches, high iron frameworks. This is Nancy itself, united to its suburbs by secluded, shaded avenues. In the distance sparkles the lake of the Seille, which forms a boundary, for it is German today. To my right glides softly the Moselle, no longer dashing impetuously through rough mountains and thick woods, but as far as Metz and Coleniz bordered by vineyards, already so famous in the Rome of old, where big clusters of purple or golden grapes reflect in the water their color and light. Cloe by the small River Ameuse, a tributary of the Meurthe, is dominated by the abrupt hill of Amanance and the woods of Champenoux, where so many of our brave dead are lying, for it was the theater of the first German attack in 1914.

Burial Place of Dukes. All those who have visited Nancy before 1914 remember its churches and public buildings. The ducal chapel, one of the gems of the world's architecture, a been, ever since
