lieve that it was without design that the Resurrection was associated with the dawning light of a new morning. It is suggestive of a new beginning, it marks the opening of a fresh experience and is full of the promise of a new day of enlarged opportunities. Man associates action and life in its fullness with light. Night is the symbol, not alone of inaction, it is identified in our minds with the baser things of life; it is a time for treason, stratagems and spoils; it is suggestive of death itself. The patient in his fever and delirium tosses restlessly through the night, he finds quiet and assurance with the dawning of the day. Even the birds and flowers sleep through the night and awaken with the morning. In the shadowy hours of

Rabbit and Egg Legend Universal

Joyous Easter is here. After Sunday school and church where special Easter Sunday exercises make the day more joyous, thousands and thousands of boys and girls will return home and hunt for Easter rabbits and eggs. Then the egg-rolling contests will begin, But this great sport for the youngsters will not stop with the close of the day. Easter Monday is always a great day for the kiddles, if they have any unbroken eggs left for rolling. And there 'always seems to be a reserve supply. Easter Monday is a gala day for the youngsters of Washington, for on that day they go to the White' House grounds where they roll their vari-colored eggs for the President and first lady and, of course, for their own entertainment.

the President and first lady and, of course, for their own entertainment.

Easter is now a Christian festival in memory of the crucifixion and resurrection of our Savior, but it had a heathen origin. It is a relic of the pagan festival of spring celebrating the rebirth of life after the dormant period of winter. It was not until 325 A. D. that the Council of Nice proclaimed Easter as the time for celebrating the resurrection of Christ. The council also decreed that it should be a movable feast which cannot be earlier than March 22 or later than April 25, and that it be determined April 25, and that it be determined by the old paschal or Jewish lunar month, always falling on the first Sunday after the full moon on or next after March 21. Thus, if the full moon falls on Sunday, then Easter day is the next Sunday.

Easter Legends.

All youngsters know about the rabbit and eggs and their connection with Easter. The Easter egg and the legend of the rabbit are universal. But how did these symbols of this joyous festival originate? The origin of egg-rolling which most children enjoy so much is supposed to have begun centuries ago from the practice of farmers rolling eggs over their lands to be sure of abundant yields at harvest time. This was because the egg was the pagan emblem of the germinating of life of early spring. The children are told that the rabbits lay the eggs, and for this reason the latter are nearly always hidden away in nests or in flower beds in the yard and garden. The rabbit is another pagan symbol and has always been an emblem of fertility. Modern peeple have lost knowledge of what these symbols mean, yet they have continued-these old pagan customs, perhaps by force of habits, and certainly for the amusement of youngsters at Easter time.

Why Eggs Were Colored. Easter Legends.

Why Eggs Were Colored.
As to the coloring of Easter e oring of Easter eggs a the use of eggs was forbidden during Lent, they were brought to the table on Easter day colored red to symbolize the Easter joy. This custom is found not only in the Latin, but also in the Oriental churches." Christians are supposed to have adopted the eggrolling custom to symbolize the resurrection, and the eggs were colored red in allusion to the blood of redemption. Yet, other colors were later introduced and now they have no special significance except to make variety.—Pathfinder Magazine. Pathfinder Magazine.

The Son of God.

Night! and a naked Cross Lifted against the sky, On whose stark arms the Sun Lay Down to Die.

There is the hazard that one may be wrong on Easter morning, and yet it seems, so far as recollection serves, that Easter mornings commonly are suited to the joyous significance of the The sunshine loves the earth. day. day. The sunsmise loves the earth, and lingers on it, and trees put forth their leaves in tender haste, and shrub and tree, after their fashion, are in bloom. One would vow almost that the cherries bloomed for Easter, and the cherries bloomed for Easter, and that the quince in the garden had put forth in token of the resurrection.

It is excellent, in all truth, that Easter should fall as it does in this region, and over a broad belt of the planet. For the season is—shall we not say?—synchronized with the message, and the mother earth cries out, sage, and the mother earth cries out, albeit dearly, that there is no death, but only the seeming thereof. You will look long in months to come for turf that is greener than the sod of Easter Sunday, for flowers that are more innocent of hue and petal. And if it be fair, as we insist the morning ought of right to be, you will look long for such another morning.

For so many, many days the earth has slept, in that Sumber which feigns death, Seed and root in their loam, dreaming of a time when a touch should awaken them, and they should rise to be with world again—a world of sunshine and laughter. Is there aught of sadness in this? There is much of promise fulfilled. For the seed quickens and the fibers rouse once more, that Easter shall be pleasant, and that lane and lauwn shall have leaf and flower and bladed green. On all ordinary occasions we have little faith in weather prophecy—but this morning should be bilthe and sunny. It really should be, for it is Easter.—Portland Oregonian.

It seems that several centuries ago one of his ancestors, also a society man of many love affairs, was carried off by the Corsairs during one of the wars. While he was lying in prison he made a vow that if he ever returned to Spain alive he would join the Good Friday procession and barefooted he would carry a heavy cross. This he did, and furthermore, he made a condition that all male inheritants if they wished to inherit the family property, decided that each member of the

The Easter "hare" originated in Germany, and there the little children in the German village are taken to the woods the day before Easter and each child makes a nest of twigs and then runs away. Then when he comes back next morning, lo! the nests are all beautifully filled. Who else but the hare could have laid the eggs? For the hares do not lay ordinary eggs. Only large painted, candy eggs.
