The outstanding feature in this legislation is sugar, and the Republicans will have more trouble trying to example in the proposed three cent tariff on world sugar and 2.40 on Cuban sugar than anything else in the bill. Admittedly what looks like unlimited discrimination against Cuba is defended on the ground that the domestic cane and sugar beet producers must have greater profits in order to place their industry in the United States on a profitable basis. But in doing this they throw the gates ope to free sugar from the Philippines and Hawaii, but place additional burdens on Cuba, which is treated like a bad foreigner, in its efforts to mainport among leading Republican mem bers of the two Houses of Congress

RIGHT FEED FOR A DAIRY HEIFER

Dairymen should become more far-sighted in raising young stock, for the quality of the future herd depends largely on breeding and inherited promal we want when she calves. She will be lacking in capacity, and as the consumption of roughage is necessary for economical milk production, it will be found that in the end it does not pay to neglect the young stock.
One cause for the marked difference factor of ration when young, says J. P. LaMaster, chief of the dairy division, at Clemson college, South Carolina.

During the summer, on good pasture, little if any, grain is needed if the heifer is at least ten months old; but when pastures are poor or dried up, a little grain is necessary. In winter, however, to get the most rapid growth it is necessary to supply a considerable proportion of the nutrients in the form of concentrates. Where even the best roughage is fed alone, the growth will not be as much as where grain is fed also.

alone, the growth will not be as much as where grain is fed also.

The following are suggestions for rations for helfers in winter:

1. When silage and legume hay are available: corn silage, alfalfa, cowpea or soybean hay at will. For helfers less than ten months old, two pounds of grain daily in addition. The grain must be equal parts of corn and oats. For helfers within three months of For heifers within three months of calving, in order to insure good flesh at that time, three to five pounds of grain should be fed depending on con-and oats.

4. When no silage or legume hay is available: It will pay to buy legume hay; or if grass hay is fed alone, feed all they will clean up. A grain ration for mixed hay will have to be somewhat higher in protein, such as three pounds of a mixture of two three pounds of a mixture of two parts of corn and one part of cotton and trustworthy persons.

If a dairyman is buying his cow through a cattle dealer he should be able to trust him, and when he does not know a trustworthy dealer, he should seek assistance from a county and full information about these organizations may be obtained from the county agricultural agents. In case there are no such organizations, county agents :an supply prospective buy-ers with the names of reliable breed-ers, dairymen, or dealers in the county. The New York state college says that too much caution cannot be used in buying cows for, although extra time may be needed during the pur-chasing, much time and money can be saved later on. Dairymen who have lost herds because of random buying are more careful in the future.
