LAWS SHOULD ACCORD WITH PUBLIC APPROVAL

A well-known publicist recently spoke of the opinion felt by the people of a great state to a certain law. He then said that this was no reason for repealing the law. This type of reasoning is typical of many reformers who seem to work on the principle that the best way to do away with crime is to make more acts criminal.

PAINFUL CORNS

Loosen—Lift Out. A little known Japanese herb, the discovery of an eminent German scientist (Dr. Stickle) instantly soothes the corn, callous or wart, then loosens it so that shortly you can lift it right out. This new discovery called "Corn Fly" excites the white blood corpuscles to action and granulates the corn at its root so that it drops out and leaves no trace of scar or soreness.

This obligation is like unto the obligation to God in that it centers in love. The measure of love is not the same. The measure of love to God is the absolute limit of human capacity. That unto our neighbor is "as thyself." Our neighbor is a finite being, therefore the love is not absolute.

1. By co-operation (Mark 4:23-25). The walls of Jerusalem needed to be rebuilt. The task was great and the enemies strong. Nehemiah could not have done it alone, though working all the days of his life, but "every one unto his work" made the walls a reality. A short time. Social solidarity is a reality. "No man liveth unto himself," therefore human life is lived at its best in co-operation with one another.

2. By the strong bearing the burden of the weak (Heb. 13:17). By this means we build up each other. We are given strength, not to use for ourselves, but that we may help sustain the weak. We are not to please ourselves. Our supreme example in this is Jesus Christ. If He had pleased Himself, He never would have come down to earth, taken our nature and suffered the shame of the cross. The rich are to help the poor. Indeed, some are made rich in order that they may intelligently render helpful service to the poor.

3. By rendering lowly service (Phil. 2:3-8). The supreme business of life is to serve, not to be served. Christ came not to be ministered unto, but to minister (Mark 10:45). Christ, though equal with God, humbled Himself to become the servant of men. The human mind is naturally selfish, therefore the only way man can possibly render lowly service to others is to have the mind of Christ. The only way this mind can be in us is as Christ is in us, the Lord of our lives.

4. By rendering justice to everyone (Col. 3:22; 4:1). All our wrongs have rights which must be recognized to accomplish which the chief of God must put on a mind of mercy and kindness (Col. 3:12). This kind of treatment finds illustration in our home relationships—wives and husbands, parents and children, masters and servants. Failure to render justice is a source of discord and confusion.

5. By giving to others (Jan. 2:14-17). Christianity shows itself in practical living and charitable giving. To profess to have faith and to be destitute of practical deeds is to give the lie to our profession.

Brothers All. During the World war a desperately wounded German and an equally desperately wounded Englishman were lying on the field side by side. They heard each other murmur "Mother" and "Mother," and through ignorance of each other's language they found in "mother" a word that made them brothers. They made each other feel that they must pray together, and together they prayed "Unser Vater der bist im Himmel" and "Our Father which art in heaven."

After a meeting at which the necessary proceedings took place, Mr. L. Klatskin, president of the Penn Furniture Co., decided to place this entire stock of furniture before the public in an auction sale. The R. Wm. Guyney Co. of Pittsburgh were engaged to dispose of the stock. This will be good news for many people who have limited funds to pay for furniture of a high standard of quality. The furniture will be offered in suites or separate pieces for bids. The amount each item will bring, does not have a great bearing in the matter of profit or loss, as the entire stock was bought at a low figure, and many items will be sold at ridiculously low figures before an actual loss would be realized.

Mr. Klatskin does not wish to make this a harvest for his credit, but a bargain hunt and a good-will building that will be the center of discussion among the people of this community for years to come. In his opinion, this affords an excellent opportunity and a forum in which to express his gratitude to patrons and friends of the Somerset vicinity for the past successful years of the Penn Furniture Co.

This big AUCTION EVENT will begin FRIDAY, SEPT. 27. See page 3 for full details.

LEGION OFFERS BLOCK PARTY AT SOMERSET. The largest parade of its kind ever seen in Somerset will be the big parade on Friday evening of this week as part of the American Legion Block Party which opens on Thursday and continues through Friday and Saturday.

Through the efforts of Chairman Chas. Brown and his parade committee, more than twenty bands, and drum and bugle corps have promised to take part. This will include units from several neighboring counties, and will form an imposing spectacle. The floating uniforms and equipment of the many organizations, and the stirring martial music will make an event that will not be forgotten for a long time by those who see it. The parade will be reviewed from the judges' stand and silver cups awarded as prizes to the bands. A drill competition will take among the drum and bugle corps for the cash prizes offered, each one eager to take the big prize home to add to its treasury. $50.00 will be given as first prize, $30.00 for second and $20.00 for third prize.

The different committees on stands have reported good progress and everything will be in order in plenty of time for the opening on Thursday evening. A number of new features have been added and visitors will find plenty of entertainment. The Ladies' Auxiliary is working hard in hand with the Legionaires and will have charge of several booths. Bad weather can not spoil the celebration as the big Stoker building can take care of a large crowd indeed.

Prohibition has helped bring the legal reserve of American Life Insurance Companies to more than 100,000,000,000 according to a statement made recently by Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, general secretary of the world league against alcoholism. John Colledge, son of former President, Calvin Coolidge and Miss Florence Trumbull, daughter of Governor Trumbull of Connecticut, were married in Plainfield (Conn.) Congregational Church on Monday, September 23rd.
