Republicans Are Already Preparing For a National Campaign.

M'KINLEY AND ROOSEVELT.

Their Speeches in Reply to the Notifleation Committees Were Well Received, While Bryan's Talks to the Democrats and Populists Fall Very (Special Correspondence.)

Harrisburg, July 17 .- With the formal notification of the candidates for president and vice president of the action of the national convention, the Republican campaign can be fairly said to be now under way. Throughout Pennsylvania there is a feeling of confidence in the outcome of the campaign and every Republican looks for a glorious victory at the polls in No-

But battles must be fought to be won. No political campaign, no matter how rosy the outlook may have been at the beginning, was ever successful without diligent and hard work and constant and due regard for the determination of the opposition to take advantage of every opportunity that would be presented in the course of the canvass.

Pennsylvania, of course, is safely Republican this year, but the matter of organizing for the contest and lining up the active party workers for their duties both before and on election day must be pushed with the same vigor and close attention to detail that has characterized the management of the Republican organization of the Keystone state for years.

ORGANIZATION IS NECESSARY. Pennsylvania's great Republican majorities are only obtained through systematic, careful and untiring labor in drilling the army of committeemen upon whose shoulders the responsibility of the party organization in their respective localities rests and in educating the voters, and especially the young men who propose to cast their first ballot, as to the issues involved in the election, President McKinley, in a very comprehensive and thorough address in reply to the committee on notification. presented the salient points of the Republican canvass in characteristic

Eastman claims that the shooting was accidental, while the attorneys for the state hold that it was intentional. Witnesses testified that after the shooting Grogan said, looking at Eastman: "There is the man who shot me," and Eastman responded, saying: "Yes, I did kill him, but I did not mean it. It was an accident." Grogan responded: "He did mean it." The dead man's brother testified that the professor had threatened his victim after a fight some time before the

BOLD JERSEY CITY ROBBER.

In His Flight He Frightened an Jersey City, July 18.—A bold robbery that incidentally resulted in the death of an aged woman, was committed in this city yesterday. Laura Rickerich, 23 years old, the cashier of the Prudential Life Insurance com-pany, went into the Hudson County National bank to make a deposit. She carried in her hand a satchel in which was $1,000 in cash and checks. Just as she stepped inside the doorway she felt her arm pinched and her grasp on the bag was relaxed. At that moment the satchel was snatched from her hand. Turning quickly she saw a man run down the street, and she raised a loud cry of "stop thief." In answer to her cries a crowd of fully 200 persons joined in the pursuit. The thief jumped over a number of fences and finally rushed into the flat house at No. 101 Sussex street. In the door-way of No. 103 sat Mrs. Henrietta Fuhling, 61 years old, an invalid. When she saw the thief running she thought he was making for her, and giving a scream she fell back in the chair dead. The man escaped.
