SHORTEST ROAD TO BALLOT REFORM

Chauncey F. Black Advocates the Proposition of a Non-Partisan Constitutional Convention.

COMMENDS QUAY'S ATTITUDE.

Sound Money Democrats of Pennsyl publican Ticket, Which Gives a Death Blow to Legislative Fusion on the United States Senatorship.

(Special Correspondence.) Philadelphia, July 31.—Ballot reform may be one of the important state issues in the coming campaign. There is reason to believe, however, that this may be eliminated from the partisan contest, if the leaders of the different elements continue to express senti-ments in accord with those uttered within the last few days. Col. Quay, in a recent public declaration, went on record in favor of the most sweeping reforms in the matter of a secret ballo and an absolutely fair return of the votes cast, and he also advocated per sonal registration of voters. He gave it as his opinion that these reforms could only be had within a reasonable time by the calling of a non-partisan convention, which would amend the present constitution so as to permit the requisite legislation to be passed before the adjournment of the next legisla ture. It would be necessary for the legislature which convenes in January next to pass an act providing for the immediate calling of a constitutional convention. Such a convention being held without delay would permit of the introduction of such bills in the general assembly as would be required to carry out the purposes of the framers of the constitution.

GOVERNOR BLACK'S ATTITUDE

It was, therefore, noteworthy that last week former Lieutenant Governor Chauncey F. Black, one of the most respected and distinguished members of the Democratic party in this state, came out boldly in favor of the holding of a convention to revise the constitu-tion in order to reform the voting system of the commonwealth.

In a carefully prepared statement for publication he gave the objections to following the antiquated method of leaving this problem of ballot reform to be solved by the state legislature un-der the existing constitution. He referred to the fact that John Wanamaker, in at least two of his public reform could be obtained, and he referred at some length to the failures of the past, declaring that the ballot law now in force in this state is a fraud, and then recounted the abuses that have grown up under the present system. Governor Black then pointed to declarations from John Wanamaker in November, 1899, and again in March. 1900, on the subject of ballot reform and quoted him as having said on the last occasion mentioned:

"I, therefore, address myself to the people of Pennsylvania, to all qualified electors without distinction of party, at $150. whose lives, liberties and property lie today at the mercy of irresponsible political machines and their powerful secret and corrupt allies, and ask them to unite in the nomination and election of candidates for the legislature pledged to vote for a fair, non-partisan act calling a constitutional convention for immediate ballot reform, the substance and essential provisions of which shall be embodied in the fundamental law beyond the reach of corporate or machine power."

QUOTES COLONEL QUAY.

Continuing, Governor Black said: "And now comes Mr. Quay, the accepted chief of the regular Republican party, not only with a candid admission of the scandalous state of affairs and the universal demand for a change, but with a carefully devised and specific program fer a constitutional convention as the only means of certain and immediate relief. He declares that the legislature, under the present constitution, has no power to pass a personal registration law for the cities or to provide a secret ballot, while any voter may take another into the booth to attest his ticket; that the pending amendments we not madatory; that even if, after a long and expensive process, they are adopted and incorporated in the constitution, they do not, of themselves, effect a reform, but leave the whole matter dependent upon the will of future legislatures which, as all our experience shows, are little likely to abate abuses that inure to the profit of powerful corporate or private inter-

"Thus we have the intellectual and responsible chiefs of the two divisions of the Republican party," remarked Governor Black, after quoting Col. Quay at length, "in unison upon this edy when I sat for any length of time I most important of all public questions in our state. Mr. Quay, after due consideration, magnanimously and une-quivocally accepts Mr. Wanamaker's proposition for an immediate and radical reform by the only means available. He not only accepts it, but he pledges himself and, as far as he can, his party to a fair, non-partisan constitutional convention bill like that of 1872. Here we have the perfect model, the Buckalew bill, under which asword was uttered from beginning to

Powers said he wrote the letter to President Ste vens, of Barbourville, Feb. 10, sayin

"The present demoralized condition of the Democratic party is due to me more than any other man in the state They know I am in favor of an ope declaration of war."

Former Governor Brown, who wa conducting the direct examination asked Powers what he meant by thi expression. The prosecution objected to any explanation of the letter, or the ground that there was no ambig uity about the words used, and that i should go to the jury to be construe by it. The court sustained this con tention. Powers admitted part of a conver sation with Representative Hamptor of Knox county, but said Hampton ha misconstrued the main point. Wha he said was that if Goebel should be come governor and witness held or to the office of secretary of state tha somebody might assassinate him, bu did not mean to insinuate that Goebe would have that done. He also admit ted that while in jail at Frankfort he urged Culton to not testify in the ap plication for bail, but said that h make the recommendation for Culton'
