More Contributions Needed to Reconstruct the Stricken City. Galveston, Tex., Sept. 26.-The fol-lowing signed appeal was issued last night, addressed to the American people 'Seventeen days after the storm at

Galveston it is still impossible to accurately estimate the loss of life and property. It is known that the dead in the city will unmber at least 6,000, or approximately one-sixth of the census population. The island and ad-jacent mainland will add perhaps 2,000 to this number. Actual property dam-age is incalculable in precise terms, but it will easily amount to \$30,000,000. This estimate takes no account of the direct and indirect injury to business. Along the beach front upwards of 2,600 houses were totally destroyed. The wreckage constitutes the embankment of debris extending along the entire beach from three or four blocks inward for about three miles, the removal of which will cost \$750,000 to \$1,000,000. From this debris there are still daily uncovered by the workmen now systematically employed from 30 to 50 bodies, which are burned or buried on the spot. Moreover, we estimate that $97\frac{1}{2}$ per cent of the remaining houses throughout the city were damaged in greater or less degree

'The munificent contributions sent to the governor and directly to the relief committee are perhaps sufficient to defray the expenses of removing the wreckage and disposing of the dead bodies and meeting the most urgent sanitary requirements, but the homeless will still be without shelter when this is done

We believe that the well to do and the charitable people of this nation will not be contented to merely appease hunger and bind up bruises, but will in every large measure and with more far reaching effect contribute to ration of this people to a celf support and self respect. the resto It is for this purpose that we make this The generous people of the nation will best serve the situation and their own aims by making their contributions in eash."
