

FRANK C. ANGLE, Proprietor. Danville, Pa., May 30 1901

COMMUNICATIONS

All communications sent to the AMERICAN for publication must be signed by the writer, and communications not so signed will be rejected.

ANNOUNCEMENT

I hereby announce my name as a candidate for re-nomination for the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of the Courts of Montour County, subject to the action of the Republican Convention.

J. C. MILLER.

THE REVIEWER

The Bartholdi statue of Liberty is in good condition, but its surroundings are in bad shape. It is nobody's business to make the place worthy of its name and its fame—Philadelphia Ledger.

California officers carried off an entire gold mine the other night, jarring it loose from Mother Earth with dynamite. The man who stole a hot stove would be ranked as an awkward amateur in California—Minneapolis Tribune.

Already the Germans are becoming tired of the conflict in China, and it is not to be wondered at that the British public would welcome the most eagerly than news of a settlement of the South African trouble—Denver Republican.

Apparently there is more truth than wit in the quip that have been made about Turkey's financial condition. Izet PaSha, Turkish minister at Madrid, has again tendered his resignation on account of mismanagement of his salary—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A young woman in New Jersey broke off her engagement on her wedding day because she found the prospective groom and bested her. She had been deceived. Cupid is finding the bandage over his eyes out of date in these business times and is getting as sharp as cash accompaniment—his own arrows—Baltimore American.

The Pennsylvania State college has just graduated 40 dairy experts. Cauliflower, as we know from Mark Twain, is only a vegetable with a college education, and Pennsylvania cream cheese properly manipulated by these experienced hands may develop into a Brie or Camembert defying distinction from the imported article—New York World.

TOWN TOPICS

New York owes $300,000,000 and is within $10,000,000 of the debt limit. By the time the limit must be raised soon—Baltimore Herald.

St. Louis is certain to have a world's fair, now that the United States has come to time with the rest of the world. It is no doubt that she will have a hot time, as has been the case in St. Louis every summer for 100 years—Louisville Post.

Wisconsin has finally enacted a law taxing bachelors. Here in Boston we have got a school of housekeeping instead. And we opine that when it comes to encouraging with a college education, it is the more fetching and far-reaching—Boston Herald.

It is now charged that the stone out of which the postoffice is being constructed had had that the malleable blocks with holes in them have been built into the structure. The stone contractors, however, should not be hastily judged. The holes in the stone may be due to decay since the structure was begun—Chicago News.

The new steel double decked ferryboat Chicago was launched at New York the other day. The new boat, which Chicago is of its kind in New York harbor and will ply at Cortlandt street ferry. New Yorkers are doing well to have a daily reminder as they cross the river that Chicago is always getting there—Chicago News.

THE DOMINIE

For the first time in its history the British Church Missionary society has passed the $400,000 point in its annual receipts.

A feature of some 50 Congregational churches are men's clubs which aim to keep up good fellowship and secure concerted action on matters of municipal reform.

"It is never in debt," said the late bishop of London, "until I came to the head of this sea." He then had to keep up two houses, and he had to pay for the building of either of those.

A large staff of women is employed at the Vatican for the sole purpose of keeping the pope's wardrobe in perfect condition. No spot or stain may disfigure the garments worn by his holiness, and he is always appears in white on wearing, even of a few hours, deprives the robes of their freshness.

LEGISLATIVE

The sweetest song has still been sung, the biggest fish is never caught, and the least tax law has yet to convince a legislative body—New York World.

Kidnaping children in order to extort money from their parents ought to be made a capital offense, and hanging should promptly follow conviction—Philadelphia Bulletin.

To the legislature: Don't deny every bill that creates a new institution, establishes a new commission or board, calls into being a new officer or increases salaries—Indianapolis News.

THE PRESS

If you do not like vice and crime, change the light. If you look into a mirror and see a dirty face, do you wash the face of the mirror?

I do not want a press which shows up the virtues of humanity and not the faults, but let us have more truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth—Dr. Lyman Abbott.

Despite the defects of the American press it holds up a mirror of the whole world's affairs. The mirror may not be the right kind, but its tendency is to lead the people to self-consciousness.

THE COOKBOOK

Do not pat or smooth down mashed potatoes, as it makes them heavy. A delicate cake filling is made from chopped figs mixed with cranapple or apple jelly.

Scraps of plain or puff paste trimmed from patties or pies may be sprinkled with grated cheese and made into cheese straws.

Chopped orange peel added to mince meat gives the meat a pleasant flavor. Two fresh peels will season about eight quart of mince meat.

FIN, FEATHER AND FUR

A kangaroo consumes as much grass as a six sheep. There are but about 500,000 left in Australia.

Sparrows have a strange antipathy for robins, and sometimes they become actively antagonistic to them.

The rarest fish in British waters is the ribbon fish. Only 10 specimens have been recorded in the last century. It is an inhabitant of the great depths of the ocean.

READING WORKS

(Continued from First Page.) which flew aloft or by the heat of a cinder tap which lay below where the fire originated. The loss is difficult to estimate; it may reach one hundred thousand dollars. It is feared that the loss is not wholly covered.

During Friday the plant was fairly besieged by a curious crowd of sightseers. The scene presented was a desolate one, indeed.

The fire has eaten out the very heart of the big structure, leaving in its path a tangled mass of charred timbers, bent and broken steam pipe and gear. In the ruins lie no less than six steam engines, three of them large ones, used to operate the bar, skip and old puddle mills, respectively; others burned over smaller engines used respectively to run the fan, the saw and the squeezer in the puddle mill.

David Thomas, superintendent of the Reading Iron Works, was interviewed on Friday. Mr. Thomas estimates the loss at nearly $100,000. Questioned as to insurance, he replied that that matter is wholly in the hands of the Reading office and he did not feel prepared to make a statement. It was rumored, however, among insurance men Friday that the amount of insurance on the portion of the mill burned is less than $50,000.

THE REVIEWER. The Bartholdi statue of Liberty is in good condition, but its surroundings are in bad shape. It is nobody's business to make the place worthy of its name and its fame—Philadelphia Ledger.

California officers carried off an entire gold mine the other night, jarring it loose from Mother Earth with dynamite. The man who stole a hot stove would be ranked as an awkward amateur in California—Minneapolis Tribune.

Already the Germans are becoming tired of the conflict in China, and it is not to be wondered at that the British public would welcome the most eagerly than news of a settlement of the South African trouble—Denver Republican.

Apparently there is more truth than wit in the quip that have been made about Turkey's financial condition. Izet PaSha, Turkish minister at Madrid, has again tendered his resignation on account of mismanagement of his salary—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A young woman in New Jersey broke off her engagement on her wedding day because she found the prospective groom and bested her. She had been deceived. Cupid is finding the bandage over his eyes out of date in these business times and is getting as sharp as cash accompaniment—his own arrows—Baltimore American.

The Pennsylvania State college has just graduated 40 dairy experts. Cauliflower, as we know from Mark Twain, is only a vegetable with a college education, and Pennsylvania cream cheese properly manipulated by these experienced hands may develop into a Brie or Camembert defying distinction from the imported article—New York World.

New York owes $300,000,000 and is within $10,000,000 of the debt limit. By the time the limit must be raised soon—Baltimore Herald.

St. Louis is certain to have a world's fair, now that the United States has come to time with the rest of the world. It is no doubt that she will have a hot time, as has been the case in St. Louis every summer for 100 years—Louisville Post.

Wisconsin has finally enacted a law taxing bachelors. Here in Boston we have got a school of housekeeping instead. And we opine that when it comes to encouraging with a college education, it is the more fetching and far-reaching—Boston Herald.

It is now charged that the stone out of which the postoffice is being constructed had had that the malleable blocks with holes in them have been built into the structure. The stone contractors, however, should not be hastily judged. The holes in the stone may be due to decay since the structure was begun—Chicago News.

The new steel double decked ferryboat Chicago was launched at New York the other day. The new boat, which Chicago is of its kind in New York harbor and will ply at Cortlandt street ferry. New Yorkers are doing well to have a daily reminder as they cross the river that Chicago is always getting there—Chicago News.

For the first time in its history the British Church Missionary society has passed the $400,000 point in its annual receipts.

A feature of some 50 Congregational churches are men's clubs which aim to keep up good fellowship and secure concerted action on matters of municipal reform.

"It is never in debt," said the late bishop of London, "until I came to the head of this sea." He then had to keep up two houses, and he had to pay for the building of either of those.

A large staff of women is employed at the Vatican for the sole purpose of keeping the pope's wardrobe in perfect condition. No spot or stain may disfigure the garments worn by his holiness, and he is always appears in white on wearing, even of a few hours, deprives the robes of their freshness.

To the legislature: Don't deny every bill that creates a new institution, establishes a new commission or board, calls into being a new officer or increases salaries—Indianapolis News.

If you do not like vice and crime, change the light. If you look into a mirror and see a dirty face, do you wash the face of the mirror?

I do not want a press which shows up the virtues of humanity and not the faults, but let us have more truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth—Dr. Lyman Abbott.

Despite the defects of the American press it holds up a mirror of the whole world's affairs. The mirror may not be the right kind, but its tendency is to lead the people to self-consciousness.

Do not pat or smooth down mashed potatoes, as it makes them heavy. A delicate cake filling is made from chopped figs mixed with cranapple or apple jelly.

Scraps of plain or puff paste trimmed from patties or pies may be sprinkled with grated cheese and made into cheese straws.

Chopped orange peel added to mince meat gives the meat a pleasant flavor. Two fresh peels will season about eight quart of mince meat.

A kangaroo consumes as much grass as a six sheep. There are but about 500,000 left in Australia.

Sparrows have a strange antipathy for robins, and sometimes they become actively antagonistic to them.

The rarest fish in British waters is the ribbon fish. Only 10 specimens have been recorded in the last century. It is an inhabitant of the great depths of the ocean.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out. Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. If it stays you have it. If it passes it is a sign of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is evidence of it.

What To Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address: Dr. Kilmer & Co., Home of Swamp-Root, Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

ON A JAPANESE RAILROAD. Misch Eating and Smoking Mark the Journeys of the Natives.

The second and third class railroad carries give the foreigner an opportunity to study life of the Japanese people. The white lines are drawn across the glass windows, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

Gramophones, Records and Supplies at HALF PRICE. Look to close our line of Gramophones we cut the price in two.

Grand Gramophone and Horn $60.00, now $30.00. Cabinet " " 20.00, " 10.00. Brass Horns " " 5.00, " 2.50. Records $5.00 each " 2.50.

ON A JAPANESE RAILROAD. Misch Eating and Smoking Mark the Journeys of the Natives.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

THE FOREIGNER'S VIEW. The foreigner is apt to be surprised when he sees the Japanese travelers carry their cigarettes in their hands, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who are always pulling upon the glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance like this is to be had.

BILL OF THE PLAY.

May Irwin is planning a trip around the world, chiefly for pleasure. Joseph J. Flanagan celebrated his seventy-second birthday a short time ago.

Augustus Thomas is writing a new play, "The Merchant of Venice," which will be produced in New York in November.

Sarah Cowell Le Moyne is said to be the only American actress who ever looked broad with Queen Victoria.

John Hare, the English actor, said recently that he was about to retire from the stage for an indefinite time if not permanently.

Restless as it works upon a new play to be called "The Theater," Copelan is to have the principal part, that of a broken-down actor.

There is talk of an all star production of "The Merchant of Venice," with Richard Mansfield, John Drew, Julia Marlowe and other notables in the cast.

Marie Tempest has announced she will appear as Becky Sharp at the Prince of Wales theater in London for some long. Her play is a new version of "Vanity Fair."

This would have been Mary Anderson's year as an actress had she remained in active service in the profession. Her first appearance was made Nov. 27, 1875, in Louisville in the character of Juliet.

Byron in the theater will be decidedly a novelty to our generation. Yet Sir Henry Irving is to risk the experiment. At the final curtain call of his Lyce