tome Late Plantings and Their Outcome-Celery, Radishes and Beans. After the early peas were picked and they were grown was cleared of vines, plowed with a one horse plow and pulverized by means of the narrow tooth fultivator and a one horse planker. It was then planted to late crops, as folone-half rows turnips, one-half row winter radish, one-quarter row spinach and one-quarter row lettuce. This was on July 23. On the same day string beans were planted in the space pre viously occupied by the early planting of the same crop. This half row was not replowed. The old vines were simply hoed off and the ground hoed over. A few cucumbers for pickles were also planted in the vacant spaces among the early cucumbers.

For the celery a furrow was opened with the one horse plow, and the plants, which had been grown in a seed bed, were set in the bottom of the furrow. A few days after the plants were set a heavy rain washed the dirt into the furrow and nearly buried them. The earth had to be loosened around each plant by means of a knife. Not many days later another heavy rain necessitated a repetition of the operation. As the celery grew the furrow was gradually filled up by means of the cultivator and hoe. When the plants were about a foot high, they were "handled" and earthed up for blanching. The stalks of each plant were drawn close together and held with one hand while earth was packed about the base of the plant with the other hand. Then earth was drawn up to the plant with a hoe until only the tops of the leaves were left exposed. Two weeks later it was necessary to again bank up the plants, since they had grown considerably in that time. It was then past the middle of October, and no further banking was necessary to blanch the stalks. The spinach and lettuce planted July 23 failed to grow. The turnips did well until about the 1st of September, when the bot weather caused the leaves to turn yellow at the tips and finally die. The crop was almost an entire failure. A few peas planted Aug. 18 on the land previously occupied by early cabbage made a very dwarf but healthy

The reign of Victoria has often been compared to and contrasted with that of Elizabeth, and it is one of the curious coincidences of history, as well as another illustration of the continuity of life in England, that each great sovereign at an interval of 300 years had for her chief minister of state at the close of her reign Robert Cecil, Lord Salisbury. When to Sow and What Variety. Mard on the Land and Needs Manure. I am asked a number of questions regarding millet, says L. W. Lighty of Pennsylvania in The National Stock man and Farmer. When shall I sow? Millet can be sown any time after corn planting up to August in our latitude Last season we were in the rainless posts are set in a rectangle 12 by 8 district, and the ground was as dry as ginning of August, when we had a shower. I then seeded two and onehalf acres, and in about 45 or 50 days it cut over seven tons of excellent hay, and it made the growth with the aid of only two very light showers. With plenty of heat and moisture it grows

> What variety? I tried a number of varieties, but the German or Golden millet gave me the most satisfactory results. How much seed to the acre? If seeded rather thick, it makes a finer growth and better quality of hay. It also is more likely to smother the weeds. But the weeds often make us trouble in the early sown millet.

The ideal method to get ahead of the weeds is to prepare the land in the spring and then allow the weeds to germinate and harrow it thoroughly, allow another germination and then, about the middle of July, make a very fine seed bed and sow, and very few weeds will grow. But many times we want to use the land for other purposes or the weather will not allow.

I often grow a crop of Canada pea or oats before millet, and when that off disk the ground thoroughly a seed to millet, thus taking two crop one season. I sow the seed broadc

Sow only clean seed. Is it hard on the land? Should I stable manure or fertilizer? Yes, it hard on the land. Like timothy, takes all its food from near the surface. Being a quick grower, it needs plenty of readily available plant food, so I prefer to plow or work in well rotted stable manure and use a quick acting fertilizer. A good fertilizer on my soil I found to be 150 pounds of S. C. rock phosphate, 50 pounds nitrate of soda and 50 pounds muriate of potash. It makes a good soiling crop. For hay I like to cut it when the earliest heads have made seed, but the average heads are just in blossom. If properly cured, this makes a very palatable hay.
