Women as Confidants.

There is an old fable that concerns the inability of a woman to keep a secret. But some women do keep secrets provided they are men's. It is a noticeable fact that a woman will seldom betray the confidence placed in her by a man. She feels little compunction in giving away the secrets her girl friends tell her, but she excuses herself by saying that she knows some one will tell it and she might as well have whatever eclat attaches to being the first to break the news. She is profoundly mum, generally speaking, about what a man tells in confidence, though.

Some persons who have noticed this are cruel enough to hint that she fears to have her masculine friends find she is not reliable lest she hear no more of their secrets. But this is an unworthy suspicion. She respects a man's confi-lence probably because she feels that is assurance that he has told no one else is true, while she feels morally sure that she is not the only one in whom her woman friend has confided, espite the latter's protestations. ittsburg Dispatch.

The cattle show was an agreeable surprise to every stockman who saw it and at once established a new standard of excellence that will not be equaled for years to come and possibly never surpassed as regards quality. The sheep show, now fully under way and lasting to Oct. 25, is in every way a worthy successor to the dog, the swine and the cattle shows. The best flocks in the United States and Canada are represented, together with their recent additions of imported stock, consisting of about twenty fine animals now shown in this country for the first time.

The sheep show, taken as a whole, is one of the most complete ever brought together. Every important breed has a strong representation, while every breed known has an exhibit of some kind. The Island Black Face, of which there are but three or four flocks in the United States, are well represented, and they are creating a great deal of interest among the exhibitors and vis-

Poultry and Pet Stock.

From Oct. 21 to the close of the fair the stock pavilions will be once more filled with life, though in a very different form. Poultry of high degree from all parts of the United States and many places in Canada will fraternize without regard to politics or tariffs. As near neighbors the poultry will have nice, rabbits, cats, cavies, prairie dogs, els, ferrets, rats and Belgian besides a great assortment of geens, owls, magples and a great many cage birds.

If you are physically tired, a very few minutes flat on your back is worth as a means of repair an hour's sitting in a chair, but mind that it be flat, not reclining on a lounge or with your spine bent out of shape in a deep chair in which your weight rests on any part of your body except the part intended to support it-above all, not in a rocking chair, that special trap for the nervous. Besides getting into this position you must lie still in it, not holding yourself down on to the couch or endeavoring to hold that article of furniture down-that is, you must be loose relaxed, unstrung. Look at a child in bed, limbs sprawled all abroad, for "how to do it"-the ease of the careless position is more characteristic of pered attitude of a sleeping adult, says Dr. John K. Mitchell in Harper's Bazar. Learn to keep still when you rest.

When you move, move with the part of the body needed. Do not waste your force by walking with your arms and face as well as with your legs. If circumstances force an unusual and fatiguing amount of exertion upon you, break it now and then by periods of absolute rest. No matter how brief they are, they will be useful if you make them complete and perfect in the only problem now confronting the Ex- | way described. This is true of mental as well as bodily exertion. Dr. Mitchell gives some good advice about the art of wooing sleep that is worth quoting. "Overanxiety about sleep hinders its coming and makes one wakeful. Muscular relaxation and a mind emptied of thought are the preliminary requisites he says. "It may be worth while to add that while we know very little of the physiology of sleep, it is pretty cer brain is lessened during sleep, though whether this diminution in the blood supply is preliminary to or consequent upon sleep is unsure. The ordinary household remedies for wakefulness are founded on this fact-a hot footbath, a hot water bag to the body, a warm drink, which draws blood to the stomach, all having more or less directly the effect of reducing the quantity of blood in the nead. Almost all sleep producing medicines act in the same manner, but these are undestrable for nervous people, who too easily grov dependent upon them. The habit o their use is not so dangerous as the slavery to pain suppressing drugs, the greatest reason against them being rather in their somewhat depressing nervous and physical after effects. On the other hand, thought certainly increases the amount of blood in the head."

Insanity Cured by Lymph. There is considerable discussion among Pittsburg physicians of the cure of a case of insanity recently accom plished at St. Francis hospital. The patient, a woman 53 years old, whose home is in a small Ohio city, was discharged as cured after having been committed to the hospital seven weeks ago as incurably insane. The cure was accomplished by the use of animal lymph, the design being to feed nourishment to the brain. We May Live In Glass Houses. That the world is about to see the inauguration of an age of glass is the prediction of Jules Henrivaux, till lately the director of the great glass manufactory at St. Gobain and one of the greatest French chemists. M. Hen-rivaux is an enthusiast on glass. He believes it to be the material of the future, and claims that it is the best substance known to us for every kind of structural purpose and especially for dwelling houses.

Summer Hotel Etiquette.

The etiquette of a summer hotel in the matter of making new friends is a broad one. But it has its don'ts. Don't, for example, make the speaking ac-J. B. HUTCHINSON, J. R. WOOD, qualitance of a gentleman—if you are a ladge. Gen't Pass'n'r Ag. a lady—unless there are ladges in his
