SAD SCENE AT FATHER'S GRAVE

Herbert Hobbs, Who Ran Away, Arrives Home Just in Time.

A special dispatch from Wilkesbarre relates a very touching episode in connection with the funeral of Herbert Hobbs, the former resident of this county who was buried at Plymouth on Tuesday afternoon. It appears that one of the sons of the deceased, Herbert Hobbs, Jr., some time previously, after a quarrel with his father ran away from home joining Lowery's circus.

When his father died every effort was made to locate young Herbert by telegraph but without avail. It was not until Tuesday morning that he received news of his father's death. He was then at Shenandoah, without a moment's delay he hurried to Plymouth, arriving there after the funeral had started to the cemetery. He hired a carriage and rushed after the funeral overtaking it as it reached the graveside and there the coffin was opened for him that he might see the face of the father from whom he parted in anger. He fell heartbroken on the coffin.

Their Busy Season.

The Danville Stove & Manufacturing Company has put upon the market this season a heater new both in construction and outward design, which has proved one of the best sellers ever turned out at the plant. The stove has a large oval front, heavily nickeled and in addition to its handsome appearance has demonstrated its success purely as a heater. It is known as Beaver Heater

The demand for the new stove far surpasses expectations, the capacity of the itting its manufacture is anything like the quantities needed.

Another line of heating apparatus manufactured here for which there is a steady and growing demand is the large cellar heater, which has been on the market for the last ten years and which in its general merits has reflected no little credit upon the enterprise of our town and the skill of local workmen.

Never during the history of the plant has it been flooded with orders as at present. Every department is busy and will be obliged to put in full time between this and the holidays. The Stove Works is one of our mos valuable industries and the employes seem a happy and contented lot. Incidentally it might be mentioned that nearly the best wages earned in Danville are paid at the Stove Works, where in the foundry it is no unusual

Charles B. Hanford's Success.

It is gratifying to note that Charles B. Hanford has achieved the greatest success of his career as Petruchio in Shakespeare's immortal comedy, "The Taming of the Shrew" which be will present in this city at the Opera House, on Saturday, Oct. 12. No other living actor in America has scored so many triumphs in the legitimate field as Mr. Hanford, either individually, or in coninnction with other well known stars. He may well be said to be the link connecting the Shakespearian eras of the past and present in this country; for in the past his name was deemed worthy to be coupled with such illustrious actors as Edwin Booth. Lawrence Barrett and Thomas W. Keene, while several of the leading artists of the present day have shared stellar laurels with Mr. Hanford. Inasmuch as "The Taming of the Shrew" is the most popular of Shakespeare's comedies a large audience will undoubtedly greet him this season. His supporting company is headed by Helen Grantly the beautiful actress con cerning whom so much has been written lately in the leading metropolitan newspapers and magazines.

A Misconception Corrected.

While speaking about the coming of Phinney's wonderful band to our city Nov. 15, 1901, a gentleman asked the question,-whether this engagement, at so great a price, would not necessitate inferior and cheap talent for the remain ing four numbers of the Y.M.C. A. Star Course for 1901-1902. Logical as this conclusion may seem, we are authoratively assured, that the course, as a whole, will be strictly first class. Each Dr. Hedley-the Mozart Symphony Club. -Dewitt Miller and the Central Grand Concert Co., are all attractions of merit and deserved reputation for high standnot a weak or cheap attraction among Course.

When the stomach is diseased, with the allied organs of digestion and nutrition, the food which is put into it is largely lost. The nutriment is not extracted from it. That sterling nedicine for the stomach and blood, Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Dis covery, acts with peculiar promptness and power on the organs of digestion and nutrition. Buckwheat flour has made its appear ance on the market, retailing at the rate of 65 cents per 25 pounds. As might have been inferred from the thriving appearance presented by the fields herebouts before the harvest was cut, the ouck wheat crop this year is exceptionally large, surpassing any yield, it is said, during the last thirteen years.

The farmers just now are busy threshs not busy every day of the week. Mr. Alex. Moore of Rush township has a ans' Home, Oscar Craig. erop of 265 bushels, which he has no rouble in disposing of at 50 cents per ousbel. Not only is the straw, this year, unusually heavy, but, he says, the grain overruns in weight, a fact which would indicate thorough development of the grain, which in turn ought to insure the best possible quality of flour. So that the lover of buckwheat cakes, this year, may look forward to a feast

Mr. Moore has had a great deal of experience both in growing buckwheat and in marketing the flour. He says the demand is not so great as might be imagined. The best market lies in Danville, Lewisburg, Milton, Sunbury, Bloomsburg and like towns where the population is largely American. Foreigners, such as make up the bulk of population in Shamokin and other towns of the coal regions, care little for buckwheat flour and would not buy it even ered by Americans.

"Uncle Josh Spruceby."

A plain story, told in simple yet dramatic language which interprets the ives and actions of really honest people has always claimed the undivided admiration of the play-going public. If such a tale is well staged and dramatically rendered it becomes an epoch creation of the dramatic cycle. While 'Uncle Josh Spruceby'' does not lay any claim to being the most original play of its kind that has been offered to the public, yet its makers do say that it is one of the kind of stage stories that will please the masses, from the top to the lower floors of any theatre in which it will be produced. The Pan-American is full of gardens which tempt the visitor to rest awhile and drink in the beauties of nature. It may seem surprising that in the month of October there are flowers worth looking at, but such is the fact. The rains of the past few weeks have kept the landscape as fresh and beautiful as in May and June, and as one flower goes out of the scene another takes its place. On opening day the hyacinths filled the air with their dainty fragrance, in June tulips lifted their proud heads, later in the month of brides and sweet girl graduates came roses, with their rich perfume, and as the summer passed the other flowers in their season sprang up as if by magic to take the place of those which had done their blossoming and served their turn in the entertainment of the visitors to the City of Light. And now one sees the tall canna, the gay geranium and such old fashioned flowers as grandmother's garden had-the phlox, the pink, the begonia, the petunia and other posies which are no less beautiful because they do not happen to be novel.

In entering the grounds by the Elm wood gate visitors pass two tall and curious looking trees, which perhaps few in their anxiety to reach the heart of the Exposition stop to notice. If they realized that they were century plants just budding, a thing which, as all know, century plants only do once in a long, long time, they would doubtless stop and look with open mouths and wondering gaze. It is a sight which one cannot see very often anywhere else. One of these century plants is nearly forty feet in height.

The Rose Gardens around the Woman's building, having for their background the outlines of the Spanish renaissance buildings about the main ourt and the Electric Tower looming up at its north end, with the Mirror one sees here is named Governor Roosevelt. It would seem appropriate now to change its name to President

On the opposite side of the Triumphal Bridge is the Wooded Island, flowers, growing as though they had sprung up there all by themselves without any assistance from the landscape gardener and his corps of assistants. But of course that is not the case. The studied carelessness of the gardening of this island is only one of the pretty deceits employed to produce the impression that it is all the work of Mother Nature herself. Have you seen the fairylike effects in the garden about the Fountain of Abundance at night? It is one of the new things. This small garden is very beautiful by day, and at night electric lights of different colors have been hidden among the flowers and planks, so bringing out the beauty of the flowers, describe, but very charming indeed to witness. even to old Pan-American visitors. Did you ever notice in crossing the Court of Lilies, south of the Machinery building, a heavy vapor arising from the basin in the center of that court? Sometimes it has so much the appearance of smoke that people think some thing must be afire in the garden, but respected citizen adds one more emphat- it is only the steam or vapor created by the heating of the water in that ba sin for the benefit of the tropical lilies which grow therein. These lilies, which are known as the Victoria Regia, have enormous leaves, some of them three feet in diameter. Other gardens where there are flowers in bloom during this month of October are those in front of the United States Government building and the Horticulture group, where the gay geraniums and sweet petunias contrast their colors with the green flags growing in the basin and with the white statuary disposed along their slopes. There was a floral fete at the Exposition during the first week of October, and this in its way, of course, was an affair of much beauty and magnificence; but, as a matter of fact, there

Limewater For Streets. An English physician writing to a medical journal suggests that the use of limewater, prepared fresh, for watering streets in hot weather would prove to be a practice productive of sanitary comfort. The advantages claimed for the practice are said to be those, first, of aggregating together loose particles of refuse and thus preventing their being diffused by the wind; second, of exercising a certain antiseptic action; third, of preserving wood paving, and, fourth, of rendering wood less slippery. An unusual mosquito plague is re ported in many sections of eastern Carolina, according to a dispatch from Raleigh to the Richmond Times. It is reliably stated that an unknown minister while traveling with a small child through Hyde county was obliged to tie up the child in a large paper sack to prevent the mosquitoes from literally devouring the child alive, and the minister was himself nearly overcome when he reached Fairfield and in $ large measure escaped the onslaughts of the ravenous insects.
