In the same year Montgolfler constructed a balloon which he claimed of the Faubourg St. Antoine. The balloon was sixty feet in height and fortyeight broad. Its exterior was richly represented upon it the twelve signs of the zodiac, the arms of the king of France and numberless fleurs-de-lis and lower down, amid a crowd of grotesque heads and garlands of flowers, a flock of eagles, with extended wings, that seemed to be flying and supporting the huge balloon upon their shoulders.

Below the balloon proper was constructed a circular platform of wickerwork, covered with silk, which was used as a car. Pilatre des Rosiers, generally alone, but at one time accompanied by the Marquis d'Arlandes and on another occasion by M. Girond de Villette, had ascended in the balloon without cutting the rope which held it captive to a height of 1,290 feet.

Rosiers had much difficulty in obtaining permission from the king to make an ascent without being held down by the rope, but consent was at last secured, and on the 20th of November, 1783, everything was made ready. During the day the wind and rain were violeat, and it was found necessary to postpone the ascent. The next day, the 21st, the weather was more favorable, and at 1:30 in the afternoon in the presence of the dauphin and his suit Pilatre des Rosiers and the Marquis d'Arlandes set out together from the Jardins de la Muette upon the first aerial numbered seats in the cars of fast voyage ever attempted and performed. THE RUG DESIGNERS

PATTERNS DESCEND FROM PARENT TO CHILD IN THE ORIENT.

Reasons Why Animal Figures Are Rarely Seen on Persian Rugs. Prayer Rugs of the Mohammedans and Their Use-The Rugs of Sivas.

The designs of eastern rugs are often the spontaneous outcome of the fancy of the weaver. Sometimes they are handed down from one generation to another. In some cases young girls are taught the design by an adult, who marks it in the sand. At other times a drawing of the rug is made on paper, the instructor showing her pupils the arrangement of every thread and the color to be used. When all this has been done, the pupils must make the | There will be another car. But the man

The Persians em to have a natural intuition in the use and blending of different shades, and in the designs that contain these certain colors they achieve the happiest results. It is really wonderful what exquisite fabrics these people, born and reared in ignorance and poverty,

The designs in Persian rugs are generally floral, and in some districts, esecially Fars, the women weavers invent the designs, varying them every two or three years. With regard to the purity of the place of prayer Mohammedans are specially careful when making their pilgrimages, the rugs which they take with them having been preserved from pollution by being rolled up until the journey is begun or until the hour for prayer arrives. It does not matter to these followers of Mohammed how unclean a rug that is on the floor may be, because over it they place the prayer rug when their devotions begin.

The Turkish rugs made at Sivas are always woven of wool, and almost every hamlet carries on the industry of weaving in the homes. There are no factories, the young girls and women doing the work here as in other parts of Turkey. Sivas rugs are in es small, measuring about eight by four feet, but in these years larger and more attractive rugs are being made. France which has for its purpose the preservation or, rather, the cultivation of the kangaroo, which has been rapidly proceeding toward extermination Dr. Brisson, a French surgeon, says that there is likely soon to be an exceptional demand for the animal in conse quence of the success attending the use of the kangaroo tendon in the hospitals. It has been employed in scores of instances to tie up the fractured bones of a man's leg.

Disappearance of the Quagga. The stupid policy of hunters in South Africa has led to the almost total destruction of a host of wild animals, the quagga among them. The blaaubock was exterminated long since, and other allied species are almost all killed off. The gnu, the zebra, the giraffe, are on purposes. The White Rhinoceros. All have heard of white elephants, but few know that there are also in existence white rhinoceroses constituting a distinct species. These are almost extinct, and probably not more than a dozen or so are left. The Revue Scientifique says of a small herd of the way to disappearance, and the quagga has totally vanished. In past times quaggas were abundant throughout Cape Colony and the Orange Free State. They were easily domesticated, and it is surprising that no use was made of them for riding and draft
