Reciprocal Trade With Other Nations. The deliberations of the national reciprocity convention in Washington and the prospective congressional action on the subject of reciprocal trade awaken special interest in the reciprocity history of the United States. The reciprocity treaties and agreements which this country has entered into or projected since 1850, when the idea of reciprocal trade was first entertained, are: First.—An agreement made with Canada which operated from 1855 to 1866, under which the United States admitted free of duty from Canada ed States admitted free of duty from Canada breadstuffs, provisions, live animals, fruits, poultry, hides, skins and furs, ores and metals, timber and lumber, cotton, flax and hemp and unmanusctured tobacco, Canada also admitting the same stricles from the United States free of duty.

Second.—An agreement with the Hawaiian Islands existed from 1876 to 1900 by which the United States admitted free of duty sugar and molasses and other tropical products of those islands, and they admitted free of duty breadstuffs, provisions and general merchandise from the United States.

Third—The treatise made in 1891-92 under the Third.—The treaties made in 1891-92 under the act of 1890 with Brazil—Spain for Cuba and Porto Rico, United Kingdom for the British West Indies and British Guiana; Dominican Republic, Salvador, Nicaragua and Guatemala in Central America. Under these the United States agreed to admit free of duty sugar, molasses, coffee and hides from the countries mentioned, and in exchange for that privilege those countries agreed to certain concessions on goods from the United States, admitting free of duty a considerable number of articles and reducing the duty on a larger number, these articles being mainly manufactured goods—machinery, farm implements, naval stores and railway supplies and in some instances cereals and provisions. Under the same act reciprocal trade relations were entered into with Germany, France and Austro-Hungary, which covered the free admission of a limited number of articles and the reduction of the farify on a Third .- The treaties made in 1891-92 under th covered the free admission of a limited number of articles and the reduction of the tariff on considerable number of others.

Fourth.—Agreement made in 1898 under the act of 1897 with France by which the United State reduces the rate of duty on tartar, brandies, stil reduces the rate of duty on tartar, brandies, still wines and paintings, and France extends its minimum tariff rates to canned and prepared meats; also fruits, hops, timber and lumber in the United States. Similiar agreements were also made in 1900 with Germany, Portugal and Italy. All of the recent agreements with France, Germany, Portugal and Italy are now in existence.

Fifth—There are negding and unratified treaties.

Fifth.—There are pending and unratified treaties which provide for (1) the reduction of 12½ per which provide for (1) the reduction of 12½ per cent duty on sugar, molasses, fruits and asphalt from the British West Indies and Guiana and the removal or reduction of the duty on a large list of agricultural products and manufactures enter-ing those colonies from the United States; (2) a reduction of 20 per cent in the duty on sugar, hides and certain grades of wool from Argentina entering the United States and a reduction in the Argentina duty on a large list of foodstuffs and manufactures from the United States; (3) a re-duction of from 5 to 20 per cent on certain manuduction of from 5 to 20 per cent on certain man duction of from 5 to 20 per cent on certain manufactures entering the United States from France and the application of the minimum tariff of France to most of the articles entering that country from the United States. In addition to these there are pending treaties with Nicaragua, Ecuator, the Danish Wast Indies and the Domplacan dor, the Danish West Indies and the Dominican Republic, from which the injunction of secrecy has not as yet been removed.

The reciprocity convention embodied its views in a resolution recommending to congress "the maintenance of the principle of protection for the home market and to open up by reciprocity opportunities for increased foreign trade by special modification of the tariff in special cases." It also recommended the creation of a new depart ment to be called "the department of commerce and industries," the head of which shall be a member of the president's cabinet and one of its divisions or bureaus a permanent reciprocity commission charged with the duty of "investigating the conditions of any industry and reporting the same to the president and congress for guidance in negotiating reciprocal trade agreements."

The fact that most of the immigrants coming to this country last year settled in the populous states of the east instead of going to the newer sections of the west, which most need immigrants, after eating, when you have a bad taste is a feature of the immigration problem likely to receive attention. In this petite or when troubled with constipaconnection the commissioner of immigration suggests that congress make with the prompt relief which they aflaws "for the purpose of distributing the alien population with some refer ence to the industrial law of supply and demand." It is difficult to see, however, how congress can prevent the newcomers from going wherever they choose after they have once been admitted.

The British embassador to Constantinople is now energetically pressing the outstanding British claims against Turkey. The moral effect of France's naval loop off Mitylene is likely to be more farreaching than the sultan supposed when he agreed under duress to settle the French claim.

Some of the first families of New York are likely to get offended if Bishop Potter does not stop twitting on certain notorious facts in his vehement denunciation of modern divorce. They may consider his remarks as personal

The British peeresses and the American multimillionaires are now in a jewel contest which promises to outshine anything of its kind that ever occurred before. The glass factories are all running on full time.

WRECK NEAR MOORESBURG

A Freight Train Breaks in Two and Comes Together with a Crash.

A freight wreck occurred between Mooresburg and Pottsgrove shortly af ter noon yesterday, which resulted in the derailment of five cars loaded with soft coal. The freight, which was South bound, broke in two at the middle just as it was approaching a steep grade, the two sections coming together with a crash just as the first half was slowing up. The wreck train was sent for, which soon had the track cleared. No ne was injured.

Danville Suffers Defeat. The game of basket ball between Dan ville and Susquehanna University at Selinsgrove resulted in defeat for our oys. The game was played on a floor 24x36 feet with four coal oil lamps for light. The cramped quarters made it difficult to pass the ball. As a matter of fact there was only one pass made luring the evening and that was by Danville. Although probably over con fident in the first part of the first half. Danville never played better than in the econd half. The entire game was fast and furious, with continual fouling by Susquehanna University. Four fouls were called on Danville and nine on Selinsgrove. The line-up:

"Some time ago my daughter caught severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and had a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy ccording to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family or the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prenderast, merchant, Annato Bay, Jamaica West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly warded of by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumo nia. Sold by Paules & Co.

Annoying Habit.

The habit of some of our theatre-goers are acquiring of bestirring themselves, putting on their wraps, hunting up their rubbers, and otherwise making an all around nuisance of themselves during the final moments in the closing scenes of a play is not only ill bred, but positively annoying to people who want to hear the concluding words, and see the last action before the curtain falls. These people should remember that the lights will not be turned off nor the doors locked until every one is out of the opera house. They can have all the time they want to make confusion after the curtain is down. There are not a great many people who annoy in this way, but the fewer we have the better.

A Good Recommedation.

"I have noticed that the sale Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets almost invariably to those who have once used them," says Mr. J. H. Weber, a prominent druggist of Cascade, Iowa. What better recommendation could any medicine have than for people to call for it when again in need of such a emedy? The Starting Point of Most Ills is Express

Everything changes and among others s the marked increase in the number of people who fail to get restful sleep, they wake with a start-twitch or jump and cannot get to sleep again. Usually other symptoms follow along and increased in proportion until restless sleep is allayed. Then brain, heart, stomach every vital organ assumes its normal condition, because their controlling power—Nerve Force is restored. Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, disens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kid-neys. If the child urin-

A Little Boy's Life Saved.

I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. E. Steere of Goodwin, S. The Angora broth was certainly very smooth, tasty and full of zest. The Anbeen after he'd kept the bridge in the gora kid "oysters" were something new brave days of old! Of course he put to me, as was also the Angora broth, on some. He couldn't help it. Nobody and I had some doubts whether or not could. If the truth were known, I beauty stomach would agree with me that lieve there's lots of people owe their it would be what one would call really good and appetizing. However, that question, in my mind, is settled forever. I want nothing better to eat when hungry than fried Angora kid oysters "Surely," said the interviewer, "this and tomato sauce. Angoras and Wool.

While the Angora, on account of its great practical utility in clearing the brush from off new lands and old and abandoned farms and as a producer of one of the most valuable kinds of hair known, is destined to play an important part in the animal husbandry of this country, we do not believe that it will ever injuriously or materially af fect the wool industry of this country. Angora Goats Will Pay

There are those who will ask, What i there in an Angora goat to warrant such fabulous prices being paid for sires? says Shepherd Boy in Wool Markets and Sheep. Will it pay? My answer is, Certainly it will pay. This is the quickest road to breeding to a high standard. Colonel Landrum knew this when many years ago he secured two "Papa-when he was little," was the bucks from Asia Minor at the price of a small fortune and trailed them 3,000 miles across the plains and mountains at the rate of twenty miles a day and with the risk of losing both his goats and perhaps his own life. These bucks were the nucleus of a big fortune for him. It was this gentleman who purchased the island of Guadaloupe and stocked it with 70,000 goats.

HARD ROAD TO TRAVEL

so changed that the resources available, which are very considerable, shall be applied under state direction.

At present each property owner is required to pay his share of the amount voted for roads, but is at liberty to work out the tax at the rate of one day's labor for each dollar due by him. The work, whether voluntary or hired, is done when and where the path master and the highway commissioner may direct. The change urged is that all payment of road taxes in labor shall be done away with, that all taxes shall be paid in money and that the money shall be expended under the direction of the skilled and trained officials of the state.

There can be no doubt that this arrangement would secure very much better return for the money of the vaflous towns than is got at present. No one need be a great traveler in the interior of our state to know that the general condition of the roads is bad and that the badness is tremendously costly. It is quite common to see a fairly good road passing from the area of one town become a wretched road in the next, and the proportion of the latter is many times greater than that of the former. As a rule the actual cost of the decent roads is not appreciably larger than that of the bad ones. The money is used in one case and wasted in the other. The plan suggested would not increase, as we understand it. the amount collected for roads. It would simply secure an immensely better return for it. And this return would be in the definite shape of economy and profit for the residents of the towns as well as for the community general-

It has been estimated that improve ment in roads steadily used, which should save only 10 per cent of the wear and tear of horses and wagons and of the time of men employed, would save to the average farmer from $50 to $100 a year. It is not at all unreasonable to infer that the plan proposed would effect such an improve ment. As it would not cost the country residents a cent more in expenditure, it ought to be popular if it is once understood. Crude Petroleum Spray Crude petroleum seems to be effective in controlling San Jose scale when properly and intelligently used.
