Fourth Entertainment.

The fourth entertainment of the Y. M. C. A. Star Course will be held in the Opera House on Friday evening, February 14th. Dr. DeWitt Miller will be the lecturer. He is acknowledged to be one of the greatest platform speakers of the age. From all sources and directions the uniform report is that Mr. Miller's lectures rank among the very best. . . .

The "Coontown 400" which will appear in the Opera House on Saturday night, Feby, 15th is composed exclusively of high class artists, and as it is one of the largest companies that ever visited our city, we may expect a performance of a very high order. Singing, agents for the U.S. dancing, rag-time comedy, vaudeville and opera are some of the attractions of the evening. Everything is new and up to-date and those who secure their seats in advance, will avoid the rush at the

Something That Will Do You Good. We know of no way in which we can be of more service to our readers than to tell them of something that will be of real good to them. For this reason we want to acquaint them with what we consider one of the very best remedies on the market for coughs, colds, and that alarming complaint, croup. We refer to Chamberlain's Cough Remdy. We have used it with such good results i our family so long that it has become household necessity. By its prompt u we haven't any doubt but that it has time and again prevented croup. The testimony is given upon our own experience, and we suggest that our readers especially those who have small child ren, always keep it in their homes as a safeguard against croup.—Canden (S. C.) OFFERING OF A FLOOD

John Oldershaw and his wife, Margaret, lived on the bank of the Mississippi river. They had everything they desired except children. Margaret after waiting years for the advent of a little one fell into one of those perversions of the maternal instinct, the lavishing of her affection on a dumb brute.

She adopted a puppy which she named Spot. It grew up to be an ugly little beast, and John hated it. gave it a crib to sleep in, the choicest food, a bath daily, and when John was not present even brushed its teeth. "What do you want to make a child of a dog for?" John would ask snap-"I love Spotty dearly," Margaret would reply. One morning John overheard his wife talking to the dog: "Spotty, dear, I want you to go and bring me a baby. You'll find it somewhere-in the wood perhaps. It will be in a silk handkerchief, tied at the corners. There will be a bit of paper pinned to the handkerchief, giving the baby's name and telling why its mother left it in the wood, poor woman!

"That's a likely thing to happen," muttered John. "Take the handkerchief in your teeth," Margaret went on, "where the four corners are tied together and bring the child to me." The annual spring inspection of the John went to Memphis to a foundling was somewhat particular in that respect, so he went back to Margaret disappointed and empty handed, and Margaret went on making a child of

A good road can be made by putting in a layer of large or medium sized stone, then on that a layer of crushed stone and on that a covering of gravel and rolling the surface down hard and smooth. But that is not all that is needed, says the American Cultivator A part of the skill is like the old gentleman's rule for making good coffee, "When you make it, put in some."

We have been watching the work on a bit of road this season. There are about three inches in depth of the roof of an outhouse bleated. Half round cobblestones, one inch of crushed stone and one inch of gravel and boats at midnight were pulling for dry loam mixed, which, by wetting and land. John Oldershaw saw the wreck rolling, has been so pressed down into about him and remembered that he the stones that it is now less than a half inch. one night by the sentry who passed by his tent calling out the hour and vouchsafing the information, "All's well." The youth turned over and settled down to another nap, but the next hour was awakened again by the unwelcome call. When this had been repeated the third time, he decided to endure it no longer and, going to the door of his tent, called out, "Look here; it's very kind of you to tell me the time, but have a watch here by my bed, so please spare yourself further trouble.'

One of the most prolific causes of bad roads is the narrowness of the wagon tires in common use, says General Roy Stone. They cut out great ruts, and when these ruts are filled with moisture they cut still deeper and mix with the water the new dirt cut from the bottom into mud and slush So in bad weather the ordinary wagon
