THE SHELLS WERE ALL BLANKS

It would seem that the First Ward in the vicinity of the jail is overrun with cats. Almost every resident in the vicinity, has had a grievance of some sort against the felines. It remained for our High Sheriff, however, with his record as an old soldier to actually declare war on the cats. We will allow one of the residents, who participated in the hostilities to tell the story in his own way:

"Our High Sheriff," said he, "finding business in his line slow owing to the general prosperity has taken to raising chickens. A week or so ago he had several broods to boast of, but the trouble soon began. First came the chicks, then the cats. Every morning Michael the elder counted the chicks; then Michael the younger, counted them; same old story—more cats, less chickens. A council of war is held and neighbors are called in. The undertaker suggests embalming fluid; the library man says: "Get a gun." The groceryman suggests an axe.

"The High Sheriff decides upon the gun, and he lies him off to Heddens' restaurant with his tale of woe. 'Certainly,' said the obliging Dan, 'here is the gun and here are the shells—a nice haul of them.' Some of the bystanders detected a merry twinkle in the landlord's eye, but the Sheriff was unsuspecting.

"Like a commanding general confident of victory the High Sheriff marched back to the jail armed and loaded for cats. He found the enemy entrenched, six big cats—the pride of that many households—crouching about contemplating the innocent chicks, with cruel and avicious eye.

"There were two loud reports. The gun went off and away went the cats. "There," exclaimed the Sheriff, "goes my four years' record as a sharpshooter."

"Give me the gun," says Michael the younger, and the young deputy prepared to take good aim, for the woods were still full of cats. "Which one shall I shoot?"

"Take the black one," said the library man, "for he is the one that stole my shad." Again the gun went off. It was the same old story. There was a wild scampering of cats, not one remaining behind to prove the aim. You see," said the narrator, as he leaned back in the chair and laughed, "the shells were all blanks."

Five Girls Arrested.
The office of Justice Bare Friday was the scene of a rather unusual hearing, in which the defendants were five young girls, arrested on the charge of assault and battery. They were Mary, Lizzie, Ella, Bridget and Alice McDermott, daughters of John McDermott, who lives just north of the borough on the road leading to the Fair Ground. Mary the eldest is 21 years of age, Lizzie and Ella, who are twins, are 14; the two other girls are younger.

The complainant in the case was Mrs. Rebecca Nevias, whose daughter Carrie, aged 13 years, is alleged, was attacked by the McDermott girls while gathering dandelion in the meadow of the Reading Iron Works.

Mrs. William Geringer, who from her home witnessed the affair, testified that the defendants "pounded" Carrie with stones, threw her down and pulled her hair. She heard the girl's screams, she ran to her assistance and found her to be so badly injured as to be unable to walk without help. Mrs. Joseph Geringer also heard Carrie's cries and ran to her assistance.

There has been bad feeling, it seems, between the two families for some time past. The defendants were held in $200 bail—$200 for their appearance at court and $100 to keep the peace.

The mother who would be horrified at the thought of letting her daughter wander away to a strange country with out guide or counsel, yet permits her to enter the unknown land of womanhood without counsel or caution. Then, in utter ignorance, the maiden must meet physical problems whose solution will affect her whole future life. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been found named a "God-send to women." It corrects irregularities and imparts such vigorous vitality to the delicate womanly organs, as fits them for their important functions. Many a nervous hysterical, peevish girl has been changed to a happy young woman after the use of "Favorite Prescription" has established the sound health of the organs peculiarly feminine.

Preparing for Commencement.
Arrangements for the annual commencement of the Danville high school are being made, and this important event in the history of that institution promises to be very interesting this year.

THE DANVILLE CONTINGENT

About seventy-five of our citizens, the majority of whom were Odd Fellows, mounted the special train at this place, Saturday last for the Odd Fellows' anniversary and reunion at Jersey Shore. The train was only one of a number of other special trains, which together with the regular trains all of which were heavily loaded, brought an immense concourse of visitors into the thriving town of Jersey Shore, which thronged its thoroughfares and made the day one which will be long remembered by its citizens. The Danville contingent was accompanied by Mechanicsville band, which forth its best efforts to entertain the occasion both on the way to and from Jersey Shore as well as while in the parade.

The procession was quite an imposing affair. There were at least 1,500 men in line, with nine bands and one drum corps.

Two Danville Odd Fellows were honored with prominent and responsible posts—Col. Jno. Swicostor, who was chief of the staff of marshals, and David R. Williams, who was marshal of the second division of the parade.

An address of welcome in behalf of the burgess and the citizens was made by John T. Hyatt, Esq., immediately after the parade. He was followed by Rev. H. O. Patterson, pastor of the Baptist church, who on behalf of the Odd Fellows of Jersey Shore extended a welcome to the visitors, making especial mention of the Daughters of Rebekah William H. Keiss, president of the Odd Fellows Association, responded to the welcome.

From the mother lodge founded in Baltimore 83 years ago, he said, have sprung 11,000 subordinate lodges, to say nothing of encampments, cantons and Rebekah lodges. Today more than 1,000,000 men—all citizens—follow the white symbol of its world wide fraternity. In our state alone last year the subordinate lodges paid out for relief the sum of $69,48 for every hour of the year.

The reunion next year will be held in Milton.

A Car Derailed.
A derailed car at the Danville Rolling Mill Monday evening caused considerable trouble before it was got back upon the track. It jumped the rail while on the trestle belonging to the rolling mill. The switch engine was called into service, which was obliged to drag the car some thirty feet before it was possible to get it back upon the track. At one time the car was in great danger in falling off the trestle. A number of the ties were torn loose.

Death of Jacob Kaufman.
Jacob Kaufman, well known in Danville and a brother of Miss Frederica Kaufman, an attaché of the Montour House, died at his home in Mauch Chunk, Saturday last. The funeral took place Tuesday, the remains being taken to Tamagna for interment. The deceased was 45 years of age. Mrs. Caroline Bausch along with others from this city attended the funeral.

Holds up a Congressman.
"At the end of the campaign," writes Champ Clark, Missouri's brilliant congressman, "from overwork, nervous tension, loss of sleep and constant feeling I had about utterly collapsed. It seemed that all the organs in my body were out of order, but three bottles of Electric Bitters made me all right. It's the best all-round medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter." Overworked, run-down men and weak, sickly women gain splendid health and vitality from Electric Bitters. Try them. Only one guaranteed by Parles & Co.

WEDDING AT EYERSGROVE

The home of J. E. Welliver at Eversgrove, Columbia county, was the scene of a very attractive wedding on Thursday afternoon and evening, the contracting parties being Miss Irene, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Welliver, and Mr. Vernon Miller, son of W. B. Miller of Eversgrove.

Promptly at 7 o'clock to the strains of the wedding march, rendered by Miss Ollie Reed of Wilkesbarre, the bridal party proceeded to the large room furnished and made ready for the occasion, in which the invited guests had assembled.

The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of white, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses, while the groom was dressed in the conventional black. The couple, attended by Mr. Frank Eyer of Vilas and Miss Catharine Cadow of Bloomsburg, took their positions under a magnificent arch of flowers before a background formed of a bowler of potted plants. They were met by Rev. David Y. Brouse, former pastor, but now of Port Royal, who performed the wedding ceremony.

Congratulations were next in order, after which the guests were invited into the dining room where two large tables extended the entire length of the room and a bounteous repast had been spread.

The following is a list of the names of guests invited: Miss Cadow, William Kramer and wife, Daniel Beckley, Miss Dora Marr, Miss Lizzie James, Miss Mint Savidge, Miss Annie Connor, all of Bloomsburg; John Welliver, of Lino Ridge; David Elder and wife and Harry Elder, of Bryan's Mills; F. P. Johnson and wife, of Danville; George P. Cotner and wife, of Washingtonville; William Utt, wife and daughter, Marie, of Robinson; Mrs. Charles Fruit, of Jerseytown; Mrs. C. L. Sands and Harry Johnson, of Maryland; Frank Eyer, of Vilas; Rev. David Y. Brouse and wife, of Port Royal; Miss Ollie Reed, Clyde Welliver and wife, of Wilkesbarre; Mrs. W. B. Eyer, Turner Eyer and wife, Harry Welliver and wife, T. W. Shoemaker and wife, Charles Welliver and wife, Robert Eyer and wife, Mrs. William Dollman, Jeremiah Welliver, Charles Hendershot and wife, Moore Eyer, Mrs. Prudence Old, Lloyd Welliver, Jay Welliver, Zelpha Hendershot, Edith Shoemaker, George Eyer, Pauline Welliver, John Eyer and wife, all of Eversgrove.

The presents were many, handsome and beautiful. This young couple have the best wishes of a host of friends in their voyage over the sea of life.

A GUEST.

PHILADELPHIA & READING'S NEW DEPARTURE.
Hourly Trains Between Philadelphia and New York.
To improve its passenger service this Spring, the Philadelphia & Reading Railway is making many additions to its schedule.

Beginning with the new time-table effective about May 18th, the company proposes to inaugurate hourly service of fast express trains between Reading Terminal, Philadelphia, and New York and will run entirely independent of the Royal Blue Line service, and the reform will obviate all change of cars, waiting for connections, etc., at Wayne Junction.

These trains will leave the Terminal stations, both in Philadelphia and New York, week-days, at 7:00, 8:00, 9:00, 10:00, 11:00 A. M., 12:00 noon, 1:00, 2:00, 3:00, 4:00, 5:00, 6:00 and 7:00 P. M.

The equipments of these trains will be thoroughly up to date, solid vestibule coaches and Pullman Parlor cars, provided with buffet service when needed, and while the running time has not been definitely determined on, they will undoubtedly keep up the Philadelphia & Reading standard of as fast speed as is compatible with safety and comfort.

It is expected that this new service will be well patronized. Persons will not need to consult time-tables, being assured of catching a fast train each hour of the business day.

Small Blaze.
It doesn't require much of a fire to cause a big excitement at this season of high winds. In fact it doesn't require any fire at all if the alarm is all right and carries in its tone sufficient hurry and frenzy. Along with it all our firemen must be given credit with being very alert as is well attested by the minimum of loss sustained in every case where the fight between the fire and the firemen is in any sense an equal one.

Last facts were well illustrated on last Saturday afternoon. About 5 o'clock the stable on the rear of the property owned by James Schlutz, East Market and Beaver streets, took fire, presumably from a spark carried from the small foundry on the next lot, now operated by Smith & Weitzel.

An alarm was carried to the Washington Hose house where the fire bell was rung. The alarm was taken up by the Friendship and other companies.

In less than ten minutes the fire on the streets were through with excited people and the hose carriages were on their way to the fire.

Ten minutes after the first alarm it was all over. Just seven shingles were burned on the roof of Mr. Schlutz's barn. This was the only damage done, thanks to prompt work of the Washington Hose company, although conditions, it must be acknowledged, were favorable for a very bad fire.

Arraigned Before Justice Bare.
The stranger who was arrested Monday night, by Chief Minceover while trying to get a night's lodging in the barn of Councilman John Pat, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Bare yesterday morning, where he gave his name as Michael Scanlon, and his home as Wilkesbarre. He was an engineer, he said, and had come to this city in search of work. He confessed that he had tarried a little too long in several drinking places and as a result had become befuddled and in his desire to take a nap had by mistake stumbled into a horse stable. The charge brought against Scanlon was drunkenness and disorderly conduct. As a matter of fact he had strenuously resisted arrest and could have been made to pay pretty dearly. He had no money, however, for fine or costs, and as the best way out of the difficulty it was decided to give him his freedom and oblige him to leave town. An officer escorted him to the borough limits.

Some Fine Circus Horses.
The Indiana Farmer, a leading agricultural journal, thinks the Wallace Circus is a horse show in itself. The Farmer said:

"Time, intelligence, patience and perseverance are necessary in collecting together 300 head of horses such as may be seen and are in daily use of the Great Wallace Show. When Mr. Wallace conceived the idea of entering the circus business, he also determined to purchase the best horses for draft purposes, as well as for use in the ring and races, and with this end in view he chose for his type of horse for draft the Percheron, the ideal draft horse, and for the races the Kentucky thoroughbred, and with this end in view he has collected together over 300 head.

The Great Wallace Show will exhibit one day only in Danville, on Tuesday, May 20.

The courage of the man behind the gun isn't a marker for the nerve of the man under the straw hat in early spring.

OPENING AT DeWITT'S PARK

Dr. DeWitt is preparing for a big opening at his park on Memorial Day, May 30. He stated Friday that it is his intention if possible to secure William Jennings Bryan for an address. The program of attractions for the event include a game of base ball, a shooting match, and bicycle races, along with music and dancing.

The park is already taking on quite a pleasing appearance. The buds are bursting in the trees and shrubbery. Many flowers are being planted and the park with its paths and driveways is receiving a general cleaning up.

The base ball field is receiving special attention. The ground there owing to the springy nature of the soil above the diamond except in the very driest weather was always a little too wet for comfort. In order to drain the tract so as to have the diamond dry at all times Dr. DeWitt is sinking six hundred feet of tile in the vicinity of the springs. This water along with that from other portions of the park which it has been found necessary to drain, is conducted to a large pond fifty feet square and some four feet deep.

This pond, which a few years ago was stocked with cat fish, the coming season will be an additional attraction at the park by reason of the excellent fishing it affords. Friday it was alive with fish in full view from shore, ranging in length from eight inches to a foot. Those who visit the park from now on will be permitted to fish upon the payment of a small fee.

The pavilion this season will be lighted with acetylene gas, five lights, each of twenty-five candle power being employed. A fine piano, too, will be installed for use during the season. Dr. DeWitt is seriously contemplating an enlargement of the pavilion, by erecting an annex 50 feet square.

A number of the dates have already been taken. As previously stated the P. O. S. of A. of Riverside, have the park for Fourth of July. For Labor Day, the next important date, it has been secured by the local Council of Red Men.

Defied the School Law.
Apropos of the arrests that have been made in this city for neglecting to send children to school it might be stated that Anthony Lear of Easton appealed from the decision of an alderman but found to his sorrow that the compulsory education law is of undoubted legality. He had been fined for refusing to compel his 13 year old daughter to attend school.

When the case was called at court Judge Scott directed Lear to pay a minimum fine and the costs. He refused to pay and was sent to jail.

A FRIEND'S ADVICE.
Will often help you greatly. Read What a Danville Citizen says:

You may hesitate to listen to the advice of strangers; but the testimony of friends or residents of Danville is worth their most careful attention. It is an easy matter to investigate such proof as this. Then the evidence must be conclusive. Read the following:

Mrs. Edward H. Linger of 11 Church street, says: "I suffered so much from pain in my back that I could not sleep nights. The pain over my hips was continuous and when on my feet it was one steady gnawing ache. It hurt me to do anything requiring bending over, and the spasm twinges would catch me so suddenly that I had to brace my back against something until they stopped. The kidney secretions annoyed me and headaches accompanied the backache. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and in the statement of those who had been cured, the symptoms were so much like mine that my husband procured a box for me. They did me more good than any other medicine I ever tried. I no longer had any backache and was free from any embarrassment caused from the secretions. I can honestly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others suffering as I did."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

A GREAT SCHEME CLOSED BY U. S.

There are over 35,000 letter and postal cards at the Wilkesbarre Post Office, addressed to Van Kirk & Robins, of the fountain pen endless chain scheme. The mail is being held pending an investigation by the United States Post Office Department. It is expected that a decision will be reached by the end of the week, and the scheme will be either discontinued or allowed to go on. If the latter, the Wilkesbarre Post Office will be compelled to have an additional clerk or two.

A number of Danville citizens who have received instructions by mail in the scheme to earn an extra salary with little work and incidentally put up $2.50 for a fountain pen, will be interested in the fate of the Wilkesbarre firm. The plan of the firm is outlined as follows:

"A fountain pen is sold to a person for $2.50. The purchaser signs an agreement to write ten letters a day to his acquaintances or parties named by the firm, affixing his own signature to the letter, the text of which is supplied by the firm. For this work of letter writing the pen purchaser is to receive from $5 to $8 per week and an additional fee of $1.50 to cover postage, etc. The recipients of the letters who desire to secure a pen would in turn write sixty other people. In this manner the scheme would reach the hands of thousands in a very short time, and to all appearances it did for in a week after the scheme was started, the firm received hundreds of letters and many dollars. Forty girls were employed and four men assisted in the heavy work. The firm started on $30, so it is said. A few days before being stopped it is said one couldn't buy an interest in the business for $25,000. The mail is now accumulating and will soon require drafts to haul it from the Wilkesbarre Post Office.
