Fifty Years of Life.

There were feasting and merry making at the home of Frank Ross, corner of Pine and Water street on Saturday night. Mr. Ross had just rounded out fifty years on this planet and his good wife assisted by a number of our townspeople decided to celebrate the event in a fitting manner. A surprise was decided upon and carried out in a way that proved a genuine surprise to the one it was intended to honor. The supper was a most delicious repast, several tables being filled. As a token of their esteem the guests presented Mr. Ross with an elegant leather upholstered base rocker. The pre sentation speech was made by Samue Detweiler. Following were the guests: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Geringer, Mr. and Mrs. John Henning, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wertman, Mr. and Mrs. George Bedea, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Winters, Mr. and Arthur Dietrick, Mr. and Mrs. George Freeze and son Harold, Mrs. Giles Lamberson, Mrs. Sarah Winters, Mrs. Oscar Reilly, Mrs. Maze Lynn, John Ross, Sheriff Michael Breckbill, M. There is no doubt most remarkable about them on this occasion was the manner in which they were captured. They were espied assisted in its erection. His long ates. The captain of the team is in a little thicket. Mr. West darted into the bushes and a moment later re turned with the squirrels in his hands each one as held being unable to de fend itself by biting. This was some thing new even to those who had spen their entire lives in the vicinity of the woods and they were inclined to look upon the attorney as a remark able being. This little exploit brought out the fact, which is well known by our townspeople who have fished or camped with Mr. West, that without lay ing any claim to power as a snake makes, no matter how venomous; he clod of the street. knows how to handle them and nothing affords him more amusement than mokin lodges of Elks. The local Elks to get into a fight with a snake. The arm's length.

Probably not a little of the attorney's amusement is derived from the he angry snake, exposing its fangs and describing its characteristics. He ascertained. claims that snakes without exception are cowardly and will quail before a person when fearless and determined. Besides, but very few snakes are venmous. He himself was once bitten by a blowing adder and experienced no ill esults, although the generally accepted view is that this snake is very poisonous. Rattlesnakes and copperheads, although armed with the deadliest of fangs, Mr. West says, are as cowardly as any. He has held them in his hands when they made no attempt to bite him, although they struck viciously at others who approached.

In early life Mr. West as a surveyo was brought in close contact with nature. He was always fond of the mountains and penetrated many inngle where snakes were familiar obects. As a boy he confesses that h shared in the general dread of serpents. He began to study the reptile however, and soon learned that he could cope with them in any struggle

Mr. West says many persons could ot get the best of a snake with a club, but that all that is needed is a small switch to subdue the most ven mous-that is if in the hands of the right person. In his own case never more than a few strokes are required, when the snake is very apt to stretch itself at full length and offer no resistnce when picked up.

A Parson's Noble Act.

THE WHEEL RAN OVER HIS HEAD

There is a small boy somewhere in he Second ward who has been nursing very sore head during Sunday. He is one of the large number of young sters who indulge in the dangerous practice of stealing rides on the baggage trucks of the McCormick busses. A great many close calls are on record but the boy in question escaped by the arrowest margin of them all.

On Saturday about noon as one of the busses was coming down East Market street three boys were observed on the truck, two of them riding the tongue. At the Pine street corner they attempted to get off. One of those on the tongue alighted safely, but the other, a boy about seven, fell under the truck.

The spectators were horrified at what followed. The wheel struck the boy's shoulder and ran over his head. The little fellow sustained the full charmer he has overcome all fear of his cranium as though it were only a those who attend are under no restraint

FIRM FOUNDATION.

Nothing can Undermine it in Danville. People are sometimes slow to recognize true merit, and they cannot be blamed, for so many have been humbugged in the past. The experience of hundreds of Danville residents, expressed publicly through newspapers and other sources, places Doan's Kidney Pills on a firm foundation here. Mr. Josiah Williams barber, of 30 Ash street, says: 'I did not have to use a whole box of Doan's Kidney Pills before they cured my back of depressing aching, and removed the lame ness which had made every move painful. The lameness centered right ver my kidneys, and stooping or lifting sent a sharp twinge through me which when on my feet a dull gnawing pain took all the vim out of me. I gave some to Mr. C. H. Stoes, of 217 E. Mahoning street, as I had no fur ther use for them, and he was as well pleased as I with the results obtained
