AN INSPIRING SPECTACLE

CARBONDALE, Aug. 19.—This is the red letter day of the big Knights of Pythias convention. The grand parade of the encampment was held this morning and thousands of people thronged the streets to view the marchers.

Parade day of the convention is one of the most fondly looked forward to of the gathering. Delegates and visiting commanders participate. This morning broke threatening enough, a light drizzling rain began to fall just as the starting bell pealed out its command.

Asides from the election of a grand officer guard and grand trustee, which officers the post grand chancellors could not agree upon, and the endorsing of the Pythian home, the first day's work of the convention was quite featureless.

Berton Reareck, of Philadelphia, was elected grand inner guard after a sharp contest. He was opposed by a number of others, including Attorney James Watkins, of Taylor, who received the second highest number of votes.

Nasal Catarrh quickly yields to treatment by Ely's Cream Balm, which is Ankerbalm aromatic. It is received through the nostrils, cleanses and heals the whole surface over which it diffuses itself.

Moving Pictures of Firemen on Parade. Allentown is not only preparing to entertain the thousands of firemen who will attend the state convention in October, but to make them famous as well through the medium of Howe's moving pictures that are to be exhibited in Danville and all other parts of the country next winter.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It. Fill a bottle of common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a thin sediment or precipitate indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys.

MANY ENJOYED THE POPULAR OPERA

An audience that filled every available inch of space in the auditorium of the Park Theatre, and which overflowed into the lobby and up the balcony stairs, assembled last evening to welcome in its new production, "Miss Bob White." The great audience was so entirely delighted with the opera that the minute the overture began the familiar tunes were immediately whistled in all parts of the house, and this made one feel, more than anything else has, that the long summer had at last come to an end and that the theatrical season had once more begun.

A dainty little doll-like creature, Alice Dovey, with a pretty light voice was very effective as Goldouard, and Edith Blair, who is extremely fair to look upon, made an ideal One Only-Ai Dame, Miss Autumn. The two comedians, Neil McNeill and Frank DeSton, made an instantaneous impression upon the large audience from that moment that Artie The Billionaire announced the world's rather lax moral standard than a square one, as the former has no end.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by using local remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube.

Welded After Facing Death. Intervened with the nuptials of C. E. Baker and Miss Lizzie Morgans in Mt. Carmel, Monday evening, by the Rev. Ganssler, is a pretty romance of several months' standing.

Intervened with the nuptials of C. E. Baker and Miss Lizzie Morgans in Mt. Carmel, Monday evening, by the Rev. Ganssler, is a pretty romance of several months' standing. In the early Spring John Robinson's circus visited Mt. Carmel, and with this aggregation Baker was connected, being a bare back rider.

The Cipher Telegram

It was a young Russian girl, the daughter of a general. At the time the Czarism was broke out she was engaged to Dimitri Orlow, a lieutenant in the Russian army. There are cases where lovers become so wrapped in each other that separation is agony. So it was with these two young people when Dimitri Orlow departed for the war.

It had been arranged between them that Orlow should not only send word by everyday mail, but telegraph her in case of his being wounded or taken sick. This might involve sending news of a battle. The Russian government gives out all the news, not permitting even the newspaper correspondents to send any except what has passed a censor. Therefore Orlow would not only be obliged to send his message surreptitiously, but in cipher. The lover arranged a code, giving the key. He did not tell her that there was little hope of his being able to use it. Still, since the cipher was simply a few ordinary sentences, each with a special meaning, the sending of a message was not impossible.

It is generally believed, Bartolins to the contrary, that it was originally an Imperial privilege, reserved for the emperor and his family during their summer excursions on Lake Nemi. Another fashion of antiquarians is of the opinion that it was not built during the lifetime of Trajan. Southwick says that it was built in the year 195 A. D., seventy-eight years after the death of Trajan, which is the date named. March, who explored it in a diving suit on July 15, 1855, declared it to be in a good state of preservation; also that it was 500 feet long, 270 feet in breadth and 60 feet deep.

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach. For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflame the mucous membranes lining the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucus instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure relieves all inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the stomach, protects the nerves, and cures bad breath, sour flatulency, a sense of fullness after eating, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. Kodol Digests What You Eat. Make the Stomach Healthy. Regularly. 24 bottles for $1.00, holding 24 times the trial size, which sells for 50 cents. Prepared by E. O. Dewitt & Co., Chicago, Ill. Sold by Gosh & Co., Danville, Pa.

IN FIFTEEN FATHOMS

We had gone to Bird Island, in the Arabian sea, in the trading brig Hope to fish for pearl systems. One day as we were dragging the bottom in fifteen fathoms we came across what we believed to be a sunken link. The spot was about three miles off the island. Our divers could not descend to such a depth to make an inspection, and after two days spent in preparing tackle we sailed the brig out and anchored her near the spot.

It was three days before we got the breeze from the right quarter, but when it came we threw over our drag and sailed over the wreck. The grapnels caught her, and the ropes and chains stood the strain. We piled sail on the brig, but for ten minutes she heaved and tugged and was held fast. Something had to give as the breeze freshened, and to our great joy, the link was pulled out of her sandy bed and towed along the bottom behind us. We got her into thirty feet of water and within two cables length of our examination. They reported her to be the bulk of an Arabian dhow which must have been in collision with another craft, as she was stowed in the hold bulk in at high water. She was one of the most curious sights a sailor ever clapped eyes on. From stem to stern she was a solid mass of shells. She was about ninety feet long, and when we came to it almost as hard as iron. She had been rigged with two masts, the stumps of which stood up eight feet high. A few feet of bulwarks remained on either bow, but the rest of the deck had been swept clean. Our grapnels had caught in the hole which sunk her, else they would not have come at all owing to the solid layer of shells.

Comparative Notes. "So Mr. Spenser said, his heart was broken when you refused him," said Maud. "Yes," answered Maud. "The impudence of him to offer me another, and discover through damaged goods the next day!"—Washington Star.

Dangerous. "To tell you the truth,"— "Shshsh! Don't try it, old man! George Washington did that once, and look at him now—he's dead!"—Baltimore News.

SECRETS OF THE BODY.

The Progress Science Has Made In Two Hundred Years. A century ago the work of the modern surgeon would have been denounced by the theologians, who then ruled mankind, as audacious intrusions into the exclusive jurisdiction of God. Two centuries ago, or at the furthest three, the man of science who would take out the viscera of a man, cut out their disease and put them back would have been fortunate to escape the stake or the block. But the audacious invader of the secrets of the body, the beneficent healer who, with his vital or his knife, lessens the miseries of humanity, diminishes or destroys pain, prolongs life and smooths its pathway to the grave—this is now the man who appeals most strongly to his fellow beings. For him and his training the captains of industry are pouring out their millions, building him colleges and laboratories, endowing professorships, while the world at large holds him as a man of power and influence at a time when wealth is accumulating and when men are not decaying. More and more, very likely, we shall see the science of the body, although the time has not yet come for denunciation of the lawyer, who is now engaged in settling the direction and the form in which the captains of industry shall carry on their development of the science of the body. The time seems to be coming, however, when the indefinite prolongation of human life and the destruction of the enemies of human health, a work which almost suggests the creative power, will be the task that will call for and will receive the services of the best training of our colleges and universities—that is, when the appeal of medicine and surgery will be addressed inevitably to the best in every college class, just as once the call came from the ministry and then from the bench and bar and senate house.—Harper's Weekly.

Cooking Fish. Bell haddock and codfish six minutes for every pound; bass, salmon and halibut ten to fifteen minutes. A lobster, as a rule, requires half an hour to forty minutes. Large fishes should bake about one hour and small ones twenty to thirty minutes. Broiling requires a quarter of an hour, according to the size of the fish, very small specimens being finished in five to ten minutes.

A Careful Old Lady. An old lady applied at a registry of lice for a maid. "I want a little girl between eighteen and twenty-two years of age, who is fond of mushrooms," "Fond of mushrooms?" inquired the agent. "That is something I never inquire about from my applicants. I don't understand." "Well, I am very fond of mushrooms myself, and there are so many mistakes made. The lice came to me several years ago, and it was a dispensation of Providence that it did or I should have been killed. I made my maid out of a portion of all mushrooms brought to my house before any are replaid to me. I always require it," replied the old lady. "I have lost two excellent maids from toothaches during the last five years, and, of course, I could not think of taking the risk of eating mushrooms unless I had a maid to test them."—London Globe.

A Very Convenient Article to Have in the House is a smooth, strong steel about forty inches long, with a deep notch in one end. With this instrument books, cleaned and replaced without the trouble of climbing up and down a step ladder.

A GOOD THING GIVE IT A PUSH. LIVONIA CAMP, PA. APRIL 21, 1902. MOYER BROS. DEAR SIR:— I think that every man that has a team of horses or any stock, ought to have a bottle of Moyer's White Liniment in the stable or his house. I had a horse that stepped in a hole with his front foot, coming down the mountain with a trail of props, and fell forward and strained his shoulder blade. That it swelled so fast that we could hardly get the collar off, and in two hours his neck was swollen to all the skin would hold. We used your White Liniment freely and in a few days he was to work again, and does not show any signs of lameness. It worked like magic.
