EDWARD S. GEARHART.

vania shall not make a good showing for the Republican candidates this fall the political opponents of the national administration will be given an opportunity to argue that the voters are not favorable to a continuance of Republican direction of the government, o that the people are not in sympathy with the attitude of the Republican or ganization of this state in its unqualified indorsement of Roosevelt to suc ceed himself. While the Democrats are studiously avoiding a discussion of national is sues, the Republicans will not hesitate to touch upon such matters whenever the occasion shall be presented during the coming canvass.

The aggressive young Republicans who constitute the Republican State League of Pennsylvania have arranged to meet in Wilkesbarre on the 22d, 23d and 24th of this month, and they have already announced that they intend to place their organization emphatically record in favor of the nomination of Roosevelt.

TO SOUND KEYNOTES.

The keynotes of the campaign in this state will be sounded at this gathering and the banner of stalwart Repub licanism will be unfurled triumphantly for a vigorous and determined canvass for the state ticket.

The Republican clubmen will from that time press their work of recruiting for the coming national campaign and they will properly regard the contest this fall as the skirmish of the great battle for the presidency next year.

The Republican leaders in Pennsylvania rely upon the popularity Roosevelt among the great mass of the people, especially the voters in the great industrial and mining regions to aid the Republican cause in the com ing campaign.

Frequently the Democrats have been strong in these sections, but the fact that the present national administration has from the outset demonstrated its earnest and sincere interest in the cause of the wage earners has greatly strengthened the Republican party. The Democrats can no longer claim that they have the "labor vote" with them in any of the countles of the state in which they once held forth.

It is in these counties that greatest gains are expected at the coming eletion, and there is reason to believ that the returns will bear out the predictions of the party leaders.

While the Democrats of Ohio a few days ago, through their state convention, saw fit to reaffirm the Bryanit platforms, both of Chicago and Kansas City, the Republicans of Pennsylvania proudly proclaim that they stand loy ally by the principles of the party of Roosevelt, and they are ready to have the returns of the coming elec tion speak for themselves

The plans for the state campaign have not been fully determined upon but it is known that the canvass, while it will be a short one, will be made upon the most aggressive lines and that a determined effort will be made to poll a large Republican vote in every county in the state. Meetings will be held whenever requested by the chairmen of the county committees, and every assistance will be given by the Republican state committee to the local organizations to ouse enthusiasm among the voters and in other ways to insure the best possible results for the ticket.
