SUSQUEHANNA IRON COMPANY

The blast furnace in this city owned by the Danville Bessemer Company, which has been idle for three years past, according to authoritative information, will start up in the near future. It will be operated by a new company organized as late as August 5th, and known as the Susquehanna Iron Company.

The first that was learned of the enterprise in this city was through an article in the current number of the "Iron Age," which was read yesterday for the first. The article reads as follows:

The Susquehanna Iron Company, Catawissa, Pa., incorporated, August 5th with a nominal capital stock of $500,000 will operate the Danville Blast furnace at Danville, Pa., in the manufacture of foundry irons and by-products. The company holds leases on a number of tracts of ore lands, and limestone which they will develop as sources of supply, and the furnace will be started on a mixture of Lake and New Jersey ores. Plants will also be erected for the manufacture of slag cement and mineral wool. Having four operations to equip the company informs us that they are in the market for a quantity of machinery, furnace repairs, etc. The stock has an annual capacity of 27,000 tons. H. R. Von Dorster is interested.

Circulars From Mother's Congress.

The Pennsylvania Congress of Mothers is sending out circulars containing the following paragraph: "More children under the age of sixteen years are at work in Pennsylvania than in any other state, 36,000 according to the statement made by James Campbell, then chief inspector of factories and workshops, in October, 1902, in the city of Pittsburgh, at a public meeting of the Pennsylvania Congress of Mothers. This amazing number includes neither the boys at the breakers, in the mines, nor those in the service of the messenger companies. In the ability to read and write of the children between the ages of ten and fourteen years, Pennsylvania ranks with Southern States, below West Virginia and Maryland, and next above Florida."

The Genuine vs. Counterfeits.

The genuine is always better than a counterfeit, but the truth of this statement is never more forcibly realized or more thoroughly appreciated than when you compare the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve with the many counterfeits and worthless substitutes that are on the market. W. S. Ledbetter, of Shreveport, La., says: "After using numerous other remedies without benefit, one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me." For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles no remedy is equal to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by Pauls & Co., J. D. Gosh & Co.

Birthday Party.

Cyrus Dietz was pleasantly surprised by a number of friends at his home on Chambers street, Friday evening. The occasion was in honor of his 58th birthday. Dietz, Mr. and Mrs. E. Dietz, Mr. and Mrs. S. Dietz, Mr. and Mrs. William Reese, Mr. and Mrs. Egan, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. E. Bookmiller, Mrs. Davis, Misses Hattie Davis, Fannie Dietz, Mary Churm, Annie Dietz, Dorothy Thomas, Lydia Reese, Henry Dietz, Peter Fry, Robert Dietz, John Kriner, Ben Bookmiller, Walter Dietz, Earl Dietz, John Reese and Lewis Egan.

Awarded the Contract.

John Keim, brick manufacturer of this city, has been awarded the contract for furnishing the brick required for the new buildings at the Hospital for the Insane. The contract is a heavy one requiring upwards of a million brick.

The contract for the excavation has been awarded to William A. Shepperson of this city. This likewise is a pretty heavy contract and will require the removal of an immense mass of earth before the excavations for the several buildings are completed.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

Election Postponed.

The election for Second Lieutenant of Company F, 12th regiment, N. G. P., which was to have taken place Saturday night, has been postponed by Major Garhart, until the 22nd inst. There was not a sufficient number of men present Saturday night to make an election legal.

THE CLOSING SERVICES

The mission by the Vincentian Fathers at St. Joseph's Catholic church closed Sunday night with a sermon by Father Kennedy on "Perseverance in Good." The apocalypse of St. John, 2nd chapter, 10th verse, formed his text: "Be thou faithful until death and I will give unto thee the crown of everlasting life." In eloquent language he pictured to the audience what an auspicious event, what a heavenly time was the present. For the past seven days, he said, "You have been absorbed in the contemplation of the great truths of eternity and as a result conviction has forced itself upon you that one thing alone is necessary and important in this world, viz, the sanctification and salvation of your souls. Life is fleeting, the uncertainty of death is fast approaching, consequently how foolish to put off our sincere conversion to God. Our resolution at this time must be formed in the conviction that it is the means and the only means which will bring us safely to life eternal." He strongly insisted on the means of sanctification, namely, prayer, holy mass, sacraments, avoiding bad company and the occasion of sin. He exhorted for parents their duties toward their children and insisted on their Christian education, moral training and good example at home. Young men and women were told in plain concise language what constitutes a model Christian young man or woman and such they must be if they wish to have the respect of the community in which they live and save their immortal souls.

The speaker concluded his sermon by exhorting those present to remember the reward in store for them if they proved true to their Christian vocation.

The spacious auditorium of St. Joseph's church was the scene of a remarkable service in the afternoon when the large number of children in the parish were blessed. The church was well filled, the little ones mingling their voices in "discordant harmony." It was 3:30 o'clock when Father Kennedy vested in surplice, stole and cope came into the sanctuary. While the choir chanted the psalm, "Laudate pueri," Father Kennedy went through the church blessing the children with holy water and at the conclusion gave his solemn blessing from the altar. The little ones were then invested in the scapular. It was a scene which could not fail to make an impression on all who beheld it and which by many will never be forgotten.

The mission sermon at High Mass was preached by Father Tracy. "Devotion to the Mother of God" was his theme. The sermon was a blending of dogmatic, moral and devotional thoughts. The speaker exhorted all young women to place themselves under the guidance and protection of the Mother of Christ and for this reason to become affiliated to the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary. The married women were exhorted to join the Rosary Society of the parish.

Sunday morning at 5:30 a High Mass of Requiem was chanted by Father Kennedy for the deceased priests and members of the parish, also for the friends and relatives of the parishioners who have gone to their God.

The final sermon was preached at 7:30. At its close the Papal benediction was given and the services concluded with the benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

The work of Fathers Tracy and Kennedy has no doubt made a deep impression. The two priests are zealous and indefatigable workers. Most kindly and courteous during their stay at St. Joseph's they endeavored themselves to everyone.

A HELPING HAND

Is Gladly Extended by a Danville Citizen.

There are many enthusiastic citizens in Danville prepared to tell their experience for the public good. Testimony from such a source is the best of evidence, and will prove a "helping hand" to scores of readers. Here follows the following statement:

David R. Jones of 401 Church Street, printer, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills did me much good. They cured me of an excruciating backache and lameness across the kidneys. I might say that I had achings all through me just before I began using them. It commenced with sharp stitches just over my hips, and later on I had a great deal of pain through my forehead and in the top of my head. Doan's Kidney Pills invigorated the kidneys, and though I did not use them a great while, they cured me, and I have had no return of the trouble since."

Railroad Employees Injured.

Three Sanbury men received slight injuries in a head end collision on the Eastern division near the signal tower at Montgomery at 11:50 o'clock Saturday. The men injured are Engineer C. C. Bowen, who was slightly scalded; Conductor William Snauffer and Conductor John Treadwell, both of whom sustained sprained ankles. The trains that collided were fast freight going north and the Sanbury work train. The work train, which was in charge of Conductor William Snauffer and Engineer John Burns was drawn by engine 1954, and had backed from the siding onto the main track, when the freight train, drawn by engine 555, came along running behind time. Engineer Burns did not notice the approach of the freight until it was too late to get out of the way. He bravely stuck to his post and did all in his power to avert a wreck, but seeing it was inevitable jumped for his life and escaped injury. Snauffer, who also jumped was less fortunate. Conductor Treadwell and Engineer Bowen stuck to their posts and both were slightly injured.

DOWN THE SUSQUEHANNA

C. C. Davis and R. M. Tratt, two young Philadelphians, who spent Sunday at the Montour House, are enjoying a novel outing in the form of a four hundred and fifty mile canoe trip down the Susquehanna.

The young men are expert canoeists and previously enjoyed their outing in Maine exploring the beauties of the lakes in the interior of the state. At the same time a summer's outing the canoeists aver that although they have only partially completed their trip down the North Branch, they have found along its course a beauty, a peculiar charm, that surpasses anything they have yet seen elsewhere. The most beautiful scenery, they say, is to be found between Binghamton and Pittston. At the former place the river is scarcely one-third as wide as here and drifting with the stream as it becomes wider and wider, winding through the fertile valleys and among the emerald mountains, which at many places rise abrupt from the water's edge, is a most restful and dreamy experience wooing one away from harassing cares, and even memory of the strife and turmoil which makes up the rest of the year.

The young men are making the journey in a seventeen foot spruce canoe, covered with canvas. They went from Philadelphia to Binghamton by rail and last Monday morning at the latter place launched their swift sailing craft on the Susquehanna. They are making the cruise in easy stages, traveling by day only, generally stopping by night at some town or village where there are hotel accommodations. The distance covered by the one week in which they have been on their journey, they state, is 215 miles.

When they left Binghamton the crest of the recent flood had passed but they still had high water. Floating with the current their average speed was about 2½ miles an hour. They were not content with this, however, and the greater part of the time they plied the paddles leisurely, raising the speed up to 5 or 6 miles an hour.

The only dam they encountered was at Nanticoke, but every few miles they found rapids more or less formidable, which in every instance they shot without misadventure of any sort.

No Life, no Energy, No Ambition.

These are common expressions now days and the finger points that point with unflinching accuracy to a nervous system robbed of its vitality by over-exertion, over-stress or excess of some kind. That anyone should allow this condition to get on to completion, mental, physical or sexual ruin is as surely made if neglected, is a positive crime when the cure is at hand in Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills—a medicine designed expressly for this condition—a medicine that cures to stay cured by restoring the very essential of life—Nerve Force.

Grant Aten of 413 Church St., Danville, Pa., says: "I have suffered a great deal from rheumatic neuralgia affecting my whole nervous system and seeing Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills recommended I got a box of them from a local drug store and used them. They provided a splendid remedy giving me prompt relief in every way. I rest well again and no longer suffer from these continuous headaches. I feel strong and bright and have more life and ambition than before. I cannot speak too highly of them." See a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase's Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase M. D. are on every package.

The Latest Horror Pleasure.

The loop-the-loop is beaten. That is to say, it is not actually but is prospectively beaten. The Scientific American describes an invention designed to give the payers of the price all the excitement and none of the wounds of head-on collisions between railway trains. It predicts that we shall soon have the pleasure of seeing it at seaside resorts with the "loop-the-loop," the "shoot-the-sluts," and all the rest of the ingenious mechanical devices that abound in such places but without killing or maiming the passengers. A single track is used, on which railway cars are caused to travel, either in the same or opposite directions. When one car meets another, it simply rides over the roof of the opposing car on specially provided rails, gently rolls down on the other side upon the track, and proceeds upon its way as if it had never left the road bed.

In this way all the horrors of an impending collision will be supplied but without actual damage. Each passenger will be able to experience the emotions of an engineer who faces an inevitable smash-up, and live to tell the tale. Incidentally, it may be remarked that the invention solves the supposedly impossible problem of the passage of trains on the same track.

For those who like it the sensation will doubtless be worth the dimming of it amazing that enough will probably be found among a sensible people to make this horrible play upon the nerves a profitable investment.

What is Life.

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict pain. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in Constipation, Headache or Liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this 's gentle, yet forcible. Only 25c at Pauls & Co., Drug Store.

Colonel Corbett Resigns.

Col. James B. Corbett, commander of the Sixth regiment, Philadelphia, has requested the resignations of Captain L. E. Dight and Lieutenant D. B. Lebar, of Company M, giving as the reason "inefficiency in the performance of duty." The members of Company M have stated that they will quit the organization if Lieutenant Lebar is forced to leave. The charges against Lieutenant Lebar have been lodged by Major Miller, and the father of the lieutenant has brought the matter to the attention of Adjutant General Stewart, who will hold a conference with Col. Corbett to ascertain the facts in the case.

Victory in Verse.

At the scheduled to be held in Shenandoah on Mitchell Day, October 29, a prize will be awarded to the poet who shall best commemorate in epic verse "The Victory of the Anthracite Miners in 1903." The quoted words will form the title of the poems to be submitted, and the Rev. D. S. Thomas, of Shenandoah, will be the judge of their merits. All compositions must be filed with him on or before October 17.

DANVILLE VS. WILMINGTON A. A.

The game of base ball between the club of this city and Wilmington A. A., which took place at Bloomsburg Tuesday afternoon, was one of the snappiest games ever played by the Danville team. From start to finish each club endeavored to excel in line-fielding. The stops and catches of both teams were almost miraculous. The Danville team fails to show any extraordinary hitting for the reason that both pitchers were almost invincible. McCloud was pitted against Everson, an old-time professional, yet he held his own remarkably.

Danville scored in the first inning. Gosh went out and Lewis bunted safe and stole second, reaching third on an overthrown ball and scored on Hoffman's hit. Danville did not succeed in scoring again until the fourth inning, failing to score after the fourth.

Wilmington scored in the third inning and again in the seventh when it scored three. After the seventh it failed to score.

The features of the game were the pitching of Everson for Wilmington and of McCloud for Danville. Wilmington played without an error, Danville having one error.

The game was witnessed by an audience of nearly a thousand persons, among whom were one hundred from Danville. The crowd seemed equally divided between the two teams. The line up:

A Remarkable Record.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for over thirty years, during which time many millions of bottles have been sold and used. It has long been the standard and main reliance in the treatment of cough in thousands of homes, yet during all this time no case has ever been reported to the manufacturers in which it failed to effect a cure. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even as soon as the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is pleasant to take, many children like it. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by Pauls & Co., Druggists.

Formaldehyde in Milk.

Dairymen who make a practice of putting formaldehyde in their milk for the purpose of keeping it sweet and free from the lactic acid, and other such, and several farmers have had to pay dearly for experimenting with the drug. The papers in different parts of the state have told of a number of instances where those adulterating milk with formaldehyde have been detected and mulcted for a nice bill of costs. One paid $62.50; and so on. The food commission, it is plain to be seen, is determined to break up the practice of adulterating milk, which, it is known, is carried on to a considerable extent throughout the state, and dairymen guilty of the offense are liable to be arrested at any time, as the commission's agents go about stealthily and sometimes put in an appearance when least expected. Never in the history of the state were the pure food laws so strictly enforced as at the present time, and we trust there will be no slackening in the energy of those whose duty it is to see that the adulteration evil is abated. The people are entitled to pure food and drink, and those who force adulterated and poisonous articles upon the market, and who do so knowingly, are deserving of severe punishment.

A Purgative Pleasure.

If you ever took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness or constipation you know what a purgative pleasure is. These famous little pills cleanse the liver and rid the system of all bile without producing unpleasant effects. They do no griping, sicken or weaken, but give tone and strength to the tissues and organs involved. W. H. Howell, of Houston, Tex., says: "No better pill can be used than Little Early Risers for constipation, sick headache, etc." Sold by Pauls & Co., J. D. Gosh & Co.

An Instructive Exhibit.

One of the most interesting exhibits at the St. Louis exposition was held in a group of old houses where the national capital has been located, a reproduction of buildings in ten different towns, where the congress of the United States has held its sessions. The first congress met in Carpenter's hall, Philadelphia. It then met in Congress hall, in the same city. Afterward a session of congress was held in Congress hall, Baltimore, Md. During the troublesome period in the Revolutionary war the United States congress met for one day in the old court house in Lancaster, which was torn down in 1853. Afterward congress met in York, Pa.; then in Nassau hall, Princeton, N. J.; then in the old State House at Annapolis, Md. From here it adjourned to meet in the court house, Trenton, N. J. Then it assembled at Federal hall, New York. After a time it again was domiciled in Philadelphia, and then a little over a hundred years ago Washington became the stationary capital of the United States.

From the start at Carpenter's hall in Philadelphia, through country towns in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, until the capital found its permanent abiding place in the splendid building which now surmounts the crest of the Capitol hill, will be history in picture, and as interesting as any that we have.

His Life Saved by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"B. L. Byer, a well known cooper of this town, says he believes Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy saved his life last summer. He had been sick for a month with what the doctors call bilious dysentery, and could get nothing to do him any good until he tried this remedy. It gave him immediate relief," says B. L. Byer, merchant, Hancock, Md. For sale by Pauls & Co., Druggists.

GOLF GROUNDS AT CASTLE GROVE

The new golf ground at Castle Grove, now nearly completed, adds another interesting feature to the already extensive grounds of that beautiful estate. It is the first golf ground established in Montour county—the first that many of our residents have ever seen and it naturally becomes the object of considerable curiosity.

A small ball and a club crooked at the lower end enter into a game of golf and the trick is to see who can drive the ball into a series of small holes in the ground with the fewest number of strokes.

It is a strenuous game requiring vigorous exercise on the part of the players. Nothing less than a small farm suffices for the game. The golf grounds at Castle Grove comprise about twenty-five acres and extend from the drive just north of the mansion all the way to the cemetery.

No attempt will be made to describe the grounds technically. Suffice it to say in golf a level surface is not desired so that while a great deal of work has been put on the grounds in filling up, sodding, etc., the object was rather to secure the opposite effect. The tract has naturally a rolling surface; this as required by golf has been improved upon by the erection of little mounds neatly sodded over, no two of the same height and grouped here and there in the most arbitrary fashion. Adding to the adaptability of the tract a stream flows through the entire length, the channel being worn to a considerable depth. This stream will be spanned by six rustic bridges for the accommodation of those who take part in the game.

The golf ground will be supplied with water so that the grass can be sprinkled when it needs it. The entire tract will receive the same care as the lawn around the mansion of which it really forms a part. It already presents a most beautiful appearance. With the golf grounds the lawn at Castle Grove now contains some sixty-five acres.

Among other improvements at Castle Grove is a new palm house, sixty-six feet in length which is being erected as one of the appointments of the mansion. It occupies the site of the smaller palm house recently torn down.

Fearful Odds Against Him.

Bedridden, alone and destitute. Such in brief was the condition of an old soldier by name of J. J. Havens, Versailles, Ohio. For years he was troubled with kidney disease and neither doctors nor medicines gave him relief. At length he tried Electric Bitters. It put him on his feet in short order and now he testifies, "I'm on the road to complete recovery." Best on earth for Liver and Kidney troubles and all forms of Stomach and Bowel Complaints. Only 50c. Guaranteed by Pauls & Co., Druggists.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

International Y. M. C. A. in Council. Closing yesterday, the annual conference of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, with its secretaries employed in all lands, was concluded at Princeton, N. J. All of the forty-two traveling and department secretaries in this country were called in, together with secretaries from China and India, eight new secretaries who are about to sail for foreign fields, and many of the members of the committee who are men of prominence in business, were present. Lucien C. Warner, chairman of the committee, presided. The International Committee works in co-operation with the State committee and Associations, which have 42,000 men who voluntarily engage in their work and employ 1,700 secretaries.

Over five days were spent in presenting and discussing the reports of the Associations throughout the world, which were found to be advancing in numbers and efficiency of service as never before.

Representatives of the committee who attended the plenary meeting of the World's Committee at Geneva, Switzerland, and the chairman and secretaries who have been with the Australian Associations, reported conditions abroad. The Australian Associations ask aid from the committee. Last year $167,000 was made available for buildings in foreign lands. Resulting from a visit of one of the secretaries in Asia Minor, nearly one thousand persons became Christians. The committee will soon have as large a foreign staff as they have at home, as nine new secretaries were sent out last year and eight more sail soon. Joshua Levering, of Baltimore, a member of the committee, while on a foreign tour, has met and addressed large audiences of business men in Japan on the Association movement. The Madras Association now has 640 members of many nationalities and castes, and Shanghai, China, has 1,084 members, 682 of whom are Chinese young men, and conducts its work in five languages.

For a billions attack take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and a quick cure is certain. For sale by Pauls & Co., Druggists.
