STALWART PARTY MEN

The Republican Nominees for State Treasurer and Auditor General.

TWO ORGANIZATION FAVORITES. Each Has Won the Esteem and Support of His Neighbors, and Both Are Enthusiastically Backed By Those Who Know Them Best.

[Special Correspondence.] Harrisburg, Sept. 22.—In their candidacies for state treasurer and auditor general the Republicans of Pennsylvania have standard bearers who have earned recognition from their state and their party.

William L. Mathues, the nominee for state treasurer, is one of the most aggressive, progressive and intelligent young Republicans in the party organization.

At the opening of the session of 1899 he was elected president pro tem., and filled the position with dignity, credit and acceptability, as he did in 1901.

During the campaign of 1900 a determined effort was made by the Democrats and Independents to defeat Mr. Snyder for election to a third term, but he was won by a plurality of over 1700.

WORKED FOR THE FARMERS. No more popular man sat in the chair of president pro tem. of the state senate, a fact which was attested by his second election as presiding officer, a distinction rarely accorded to a senator.

At the session of 1901 he was chairman of the committee of appropriations. During his legislative career Mr. Snyder was conspicuous as a champion of the interests of the farmers of Pennsylvania.

He was an ardent, consistent and determined advocate of legislation to protect the pure butter interests. He stood at the front against the efforts of the oleomargarine trust, and was largely responsible for the passage of laws advocated by the butter and dairy men. Were it not for the efforts of men like Senator Snyder, the farmers of Pennsylvania would today be at the mercy of the oleomargarine trust.

birth, and farm work occupied his time, when not engaged in fortifying himself with intellectual training. Later in life he attended the Millersville state normal school and Ursinus College, both well-known Pennsylvania institutions.

During the winter of '68 and '69 he taught school. After a course of study he was graduated as physician in March, 1875, from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania. He returned to Chester county, Spring City, where he now resides, and began the practice of medicine, and continued as practitioner until 1888, when he accepted a position as medical examiner for the relief department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which position he held for nearly two years, from February, 1888, to February, 1890.

He served as postmaster of Spring City from October, 1883, until August, 1885. Senator Snyder has always taken a lively interest in politics, and has been an active worker in all of the campaigns of his party. In 1877 he was nominated for the county of his county and was elected by a large majority, and served in that office until January, 1891. The year preceding his relinquishment of the office he was made chairman of the county Republican committee. At the county primaries in the fall of 1890, while serving as prothonotary, he was nominated as member of the house and was elected. He was a delegate from Chester to the Republican state gubernatorial convention in 1878 and to the state convention that nominated General James A. Beaver for governor in 1882. In 1890 Mr. Snyder was elected to the senate. In the session of 1895 he was chairman of the committee on health sanitation, and in 1897 chairman of the committee on railroads. In 1899 he was re-elected to the senate by nearly 8000 majority, having received nearly twice as many votes as his Democratic and Prohibition opponents combined.

At the opening of the session of 1899 he was elected president pro tem., and filled the position with dignity, credit and acceptability, as he did in 1901. of the delegates to the Republican national convention, and therefore it is essential that there shall be an overwhelming Republican majority rolled up in Pennsylvania this fall.

Such a majority will be considered as Pennsylvania's voice in behalf of a continuance of the present era of prosperity and an emphatic protest against any and all attempts at tariff tinkering; in other words, such a verdict will be accepted to mean that Pennsylvania is in favor of letting well enough alone; a policy which, if pursued, will prevent business disturbances and the consequent inauguration of a period of depression which usually prevails during presidential years.

The High School Annex is now approaching completion and there is little doubt that it will be ready for occupancy by the first Monday in October. The waiting-cases is practically completed and on the interior of the building but little more remains to be done than to hang the doors and complete the balustrade at the stairway. The entire annex is finished in natural wood, yellow pine being used. The beautiful finish taken on by this wood together with the high ceilings and the extensive surface of snow white walls sets the rooms off to a splendid advantage and it is doubtful whether there are more attractive or desirable school rooms anywhere in this section.

Thrown From a Freight Car. Charles Kelly, a fifteen year old boy who stands turns at the Reading Iron Works, was knocked off a car yesterday and narrowly escaped serious injury. Learning outward he was riding on the side of a car being pushed by the switcher along between the mill and the canal at a good rate of speed when he struck a pile of pig iron and was hurled to the ground. He sustained several bad bruises but otherwise did not seem badly injured. He was able to walk to his home on Mill street.

A FIRST CLASS ATTRACTION

An event of much importance is the announcement of the coming of "Toss of the D'Urbervilles" by special arrangement with Harrison Grey Fiske, at the Opera House for Friday evening. This is the late Lorimer Stoddard's dramatization of Toss Hardy's already famous novel, which ran for so long at the Manhattan Theatre, New York City. A critic speaking of its author said, "Hardy draws real men and women and preserves his faculty of seeing the touch of humor in the most harrowing situations."

The action takes place on English soil and the play deals with an epoch in the life of Toss, of the ancient family of D'Urbervilles, a wild and passionate child of nature, whose greatest fault is her devotion to her family. It is said to be intensely interesting, holding its audiences as if in a spell throughout its five scenes. The complete stage equipment that was used during its metropolitan run is being carried by the company and Mr. Frank Hurt, who is directing the tour, has insisted on nothing to attain the essentially realistic effects and character work demanded by the play.

Prominent on the program of Keene inventor-magician, are the Novaro children. These juvenile artists are making a decided hit everywhere by their clever singing and remarkable toe-dancing. Another strong feature is the refined specialty of Tretzewitz, the musical wonder, who keeps the audience in a royal good humor by his mastery of numerous musical instruments. Tretzewitz has the happy faculty of drawing sweet music from objects which would fail to respond to the touch of the average mortal.

These features, added to the remarkable work of Keene himself, form a combination that is hard to excel as an entertainer. Keene will appear in this city on Wednesday evening, September 30th. Next Thursday night, October 1st, the newest melodramatic success, "The Johnstown Flood" from the pen of the successful author, Mr. Charles Townsend, will be presented at the Opera House for one performance only, by Mr. Edward Houghton's excellent company. The public is familiar with many of the incidents of the fatality of May 31, 1889, at Johnstown, Pa. The play abounds in stirring sentiment, an exciting interest, breathless suspense and happy climaxes. Its beautiful language and sublime thoughts mingled with romance, comedy and history, excel the best of modern plays.

The great cast which will be seen in Willard Spenser's "Miss Bob White" at the Opera House on Saturday evening, October 3rd includes Dorothy Hunting, Alice Dovey, Edith Blair, Ethel Dovey, Anna McNabb, Mae Botton, Lillian Randolph, Nell McNeill, Frank Deahon, Nick Burnham, Bob Broderick, G. Harry Wilson, Lester Brown, Donald Archer and Jim McClure and a chorus of 60, and a superb orchestra. It will be one of the greatest musical treats ever offered to the theatre goers of this city and as such will undoubtedly attract a large crowd.

After This Gang. Master Harry Shutt, was taken into custody by Chief of Police Mince-moyer yesterday charged with loitering about the entrance to the theatre during the different performances. He was taken before Squire Oglesby who deferred sentence for two weeks, pending the lad's behavior. Harry is one of a crowd of boys who loaf about the doors and corridors of the theatre every night of an entertainment. Though the boys mean no harm—a desire to see the "show" being the excuse, the Chief has determined to break up the practice which has become a nuisance to both the patrons and the management.

A GOOD THING GIVE IT A PUSH. LIVONA CAMP, PA. APRIL 21, 1902. MOYER BROS. DEAR SIR— I think that every man that has a team of horses or any stock, ought to have a bottle of Moyer's White Liniment in the stable or his house. I had a horse that stepped in a hole with his front foot, coming down the mountain with a trail of props, and fell forward and strained his shoulder blade. That it swelled so fast that we could hardly get the collar off, and in two hours his neck was swollen to all the skin would hold. We used your White Liniment freely, and in a few days he was to work again, and does not show any signs of lameness. It worked like magic. Respectfully Yours, J. A. SUPERIOR EMPLOYEES NOW AFTER COMPANY

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ontario, Sept. 23.—At a crowded meeting of the employees of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company a resolution was passed memorializing the Ontario Government to make strong representations to the company on the mortgages, and to provide the funds required for the men's wages. In the event of the demands not being complied with, it was pointed out in the resolution that the government would have it in its power to cancel the liberal concessions that have been granted to allied conditions, on account of the specified conditions not having been complied with. The men in the camps are said to be becoming excited and difficulty is experienced in keeping them under control. To aggravate the situation the provisions are running short, and a general stampede to town is looked for at any moment.

ARRANGING FOR TRIP TO ALLENTOWN

The friends of this city are preparing to attend the State Convention which will be held at Allentown during the week of October 5th. A large representation will participate in this gathering. The Friendship, Washington and Goodwill Hose Companies will attend the convention in a body. Final arrangements as to transportation have not yet been made but it is likely that each company will have a special car. About 25 members of the Continental company will also attend the convention. The Danville contingent will not leave until Tuesday, October 6th. The convention this year will be worth attending. A number of interesting features have been arranged for the week and all visitors to Allentown will have a royal time. No better opportunity to attend a firemen's convention could be had. The distances is not great and the railroad rates will be remarkably low.
