Injured by Blow on Head.

Thomas Lee, employed as blacksmith at Howe & Samuel's puddle mill, was painfully injured by a blow on the head Monday morning. In walking across the mill be passed one of the puddlers who was taking cinder from his furnace. The puddler did not see Lee, and the latter was struck alongside the head near the temple by the heavy iron handle as the buggy was being dumped.

He was felled to the ground under the force of the blow. Although very nuch stunned he did not lose con ciousness. The skin was not broken but the bruise inflicted was severe and as a result after a few minutes the ited freely. He was taken to his home down for appearance at the Opera on Nicholas Avenue, where Dr. Thomp on is attending him.

Sweeping Order for Uniforms,

A sweeping order requiring nearly all Pennsy employes to wear uniforms has been sent out by General Manager W. W. Atterbury and received by the offices hereabouts, not with the best of feeling, either. There is considerable complaint, some of the men thinking that from the dirty nature of their work they cannot keep their uniforms, which are rather expensive, clean. The following employes will hereafter be obliged to wear uniforms: Agents, station masters, passenger conductors, train agents, baggage masters, passenger brakemen, ticket examiners, baggage agents and assistants, checkmen, gatemen, ushers, nen, cab agents, baggage porters, cleaners, station porters, cabmen, dining and parlor car conductors, porters, waiters and attendants, mail wagon
