THANKSGIVING

This is the day appointed by the the mercies of the past year.

Upon reflection our citizens will find that they have a few things to be thankful for which have not fallen to the lot of humanity in general. Storm and pestilence have passed by us. We need not go far just now to find comcurred. But nothing of the kind has

The Union Thanksgiving service Goodwill, 61. held at Pine Street Lutheran Church at 10:30 o'clock this forenoon will be an event worthy of the day. The services, including a Thanksgiving offering, will be of an elaborate nature and afford all who participate an opportunity to pour out their soul's gratitude to the Giver of All Good.

Next in order comes the Thanksgiving dinner, that time honored institution, which will be the center of many a happy family reunion. During yesterday and previously many men of tant places, might have been seen returning home to spend the annual Thanksgiving under the parental roof. which it was put. United Charities at World's Fair. Edwin K. Hart, representing the Pennsyvlania State Commission of the World's Fair to be held at St. Louis next year is going through this state collecting photos of charitable homes and poor houses, getting views of the pretentious as well as the shabby structures where the poor and indigent of Pennsylvania are provided for.

The object of the State World's Fair Commission in securing these pictures is to show the extent of the operations of the charitable organizations of the commonwealth, which, the commission confidently believes, will compare favorably with the work of any other state in the union.

At the close of the exposition the photographs will be preserved at Harrisburg, where they can be inspected at any time by members of the legislature and anyone interested in charitable enterprises. The picutres will be of considerable assistance at the next session of the legislature when the appropriations for the various institutions represented will be under consideration.
