

FRANK C. ANGLE, Proprietor. Danville, Pa., Dec. 3, 1903.

STUDENTS JUMP TO SAVE THEIR LIVES

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 2.—The Ottawa University in this city was totally destroyed by fire early today. All that remains of the magnificent stone building which was one of the sights of the eastern part of the city are portions of the walls. The loss is estimated at $250,000, partly covered by insurance.

It will be two years before it can be rebuilt and meantime it will be impossible to get a place suitable to carry on the work of the institution. There were 450 students at the University, which was a Roman Catholic institution and was carried on under the charge of the clergy. Of the students about 350 were boarders and the remainder day scholars.

While the students were at breakfast in the refectory about 7 o'clock some of them saw smoke escaping from the round pipes. In half an hour fire made its appearance and soon afterwards the whole building was in a blaze. Students and others who had risen early escaped easily. A number who were still abed had to take to the fire escapes in their night robe or jump from the building into blankets held out by the firemen below.

The fire escapes were all on one side of the structure and those who slept on the other side could not reach them. They had to jump, some of them from the fourth and fifth stories. It was in jumping that the accidents occurred. All of the students, however, escaped with very slight injuries. Two of the priests were seriously injured and one, Father Boyon, is not expected to live. He was in the fifth story. He could not reach the escapes and had to jump. He fell on a veranda and rolled to the ground, striking on his head.

Father Fulham was on the fourth floor. He leaped into a blanket held out for him and sustained slight injuries on his side. Father McGorty was burned on the head and arms but not seriously. An old woman, a servant, jumped from the fifth story and was badly hurt. A student named Cullen jumped from the fourth story and was slightly injured. A domestic, Miss Dupuis, was badly injured.

The students lost all their effects. It is expected that all will recover except Father Boyon. The loss is from $250,000 to $300,000. Insurance $300,000.

DR. LEE REPORTS ON BUTLER OUTBREAK

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 2.—Dr. Benjamin Lee, secretary of the State Board of Health, who was detailed by Governor Pennacker to investigate the typhoid fever epidemic at Butler, submitted a report today to the governor, who immediately directed Auditor General Harding to draw a warrant for $5,000 from the State emergency fund for the relief of the sufferers.

This money will be used to employ a tried quarantine officer of the board to whom the local board will report daily every new case and every death and the conditions prevailing in the house in which the disease exists. A quarantine officer will also be sent from a neighboring county to investigate the water system and detect, if possible, any additional sources of pollution and to place the information at the disposal of the local authorities.

Dr. Lee says the epidemic bears all the marks of a water borne and not a milk borne, outbreak, and that it is possible to ascertain the number of cases. A rough estimate, however, obtained by communicating with physicians over the telephone, developed the fact that a little more than half of them were treating 85 cases.

THE COUNTY INSTITUTE

Continued from First Page.

class he named "Paradise Lost," and Shelly's "Prometheus Unbound." It requires the pathetic to reveal the sublime, but care should be taken to avoid all books, in which the author may have made a vain attempt to put paths into a subject which is in its nature without paths.

The speaker showed how human conduct when characterized by devotion and self-sacrifice becomes sublime and illustrated it by many beautiful examples taken from home life. Man is made with a finite mind to do God like deeds. A sublime discontent is implanted within him and hence it is that he aspires to rise beyond the limitations by which he is held.

In the afternoon Professor Kemp presented the first of a series of lessons on tree life as one well adapted for awakening the interest of boys and girls. He exhibited to the institute specimens of leaves representing white oak, black oak, chestnut, rock oak and others and found that there were but few in the room who could tell which tree was represented by any particular leaf.

The "Republic" is in the form of a farm, over which Mr. George presides. The boys by their own experience have been taught to see the necessity for law and industry. They have organized a congress and have a court with judge and attorneys. The farm is in all respects an imitation of a real republic. Time money is used which has a purchasing value. All work is paid for and food and lodging can be obtained only by giving its equivalent in money.

Professor Ward occupied two periods yesterday afternoon. In his first talk his subject was "The Novel and the Short Story," in his second, "Readings for Young People." Fiction of the right sort, he held, serves a useful purpose. In fiction there are essentially a class of contending forces, but care must be taken that the picture is true to nature and is not overdrawn. He has therefore no more use for books of the goodly-kind sort than he has for vile literature. Above all in selecting books for children be sure that they are true to nature and will not give the inexperienced reader false ideas of life.

Rabbi Adolph Meyer conducted devotional exercises yesterday morning. The first period was occupied by Professor E. L. Kemp with a continuation of his subject, "Things to be Learned at Home." His talk was mainly limited to birds, which he handled in pretty much the same way as the subject of leaves which he presented on Tuesday afternoon.

Professor Yetter yesterday forenoon varied his instruction on music by singing a solo, which pleased the institute so much that he was honored with an encore. A great deal of valuable work is being done along the line of music and a number of the teachers have expressed themselves as being much benefited.

Following intermission Professor Ward took up the subject of "The Training of the Future Citizen." It is of course hard to do with the boy's life at school and carried out the idea that too much time is spent upon the intellect and not enough upon the social and moral development.

Dr. Lee says the epidemic bears all the marks of a water borne and not a milk borne, outbreak, and that it is possible to ascertain the number of cases. A rough estimate, however, obtained by communicating with physicians over the telephone, developed the fact that a little more than half of them were treating 85 cases.

Dr. Lee found the town completely demoralized, and the first thing to be done to prevent a further spread of the disease was to notify all persons to boil water. He says so great was the demand for medical aid that for the past two weeks the physicians had scarcely visited their homes being occupied day and night with attendance on the sick.

Yesterday two book agents made their appearance among them being Maxrad J. Phillips of Maney Valley representing the American Book Company, who has been in the habit of dropping into the institute held in this city during the last twenty-five years or more. A. M. Ramey, Ph. D., of Scranton, was also present in the interest of E. J. Kellogg & Co., and other publishing houses.

The afternoon session was opened with a solo by Walter Russell entitled: "Out on the Deep." The first period was occupied by Professor Ward with a talk on "The Republic," concerning which people mostly have much to learn, and Professor Ward's talk proved very timely. The "Republic," which is original with Mr. George is designed to inculcate into boys from the slams of the great cities, a respect for law and order, to teach them the necessity for law and industry. They are men and women, without homes, mostly the children of the moral drosses that make such people a pest to society.

The "Republic" is in the form of a farm, over which Mr. George presides. The boys by their own experience have been taught to see the necessity for law and industry. They have organized a congress and have a court with judge and attorneys. The farm is in all respects an imitation of a real republic. Time money is used which has a purchasing value. All work is paid for and food and lodging can be obtained only by giving its equivalent in money.

Professor Ward occupied two periods yesterday afternoon. In his first talk his subject was "The Novel and the Short Story," in his second, "Readings for Young People." Fiction of the right sort, he held, serves a useful purpose. In fiction there are essentially a class of contending forces, but care must be taken that the picture is true to nature and is not overdrawn.

Rabbi Adolph Meyer conducted devotional exercises yesterday morning. The first period was occupied by Professor E. L. Kemp with a continuation of his subject, "Things to be Learned at Home." His talk was mainly limited to birds, which he handled in pretty much the same way as the subject of leaves which he presented on Tuesday afternoon.

Following intermission Professor Ward took up the subject of "The Training of the Future Citizen." It is of course hard to do with the boy's life at school and carried out the idea that too much time is spent upon the intellect and not enough upon the social and moral development.

Dr. Lee says the epidemic bears all the marks of a water borne and not a milk borne, outbreak, and that it is possible to ascertain the number of cases. A rough estimate, however, obtained by communicating with physicians over the telephone, developed the fact that a little more than half of them were treating 85 cases.

Dr. Lee found the town completely demoralized, and the first thing to be done to prevent a further spread of the disease was to notify all persons to boil water. He says so great was the demand for medical aid that for the past two weeks the physicians had scarcely visited their homes being occupied day and night with attendance on the sick.

Dr. Lee says the epidemic bears all the marks of a water borne and not a milk borne, outbreak, and that it is possible to ascertain the number of cases. A rough estimate, however, obtained by communicating with physicians over the telephone, developed the fact that a little more than half of them were treating 85 cases.

Dr. Lee found the town completely demoralized, and the first thing to be done to prevent a further spread of the disease was to notify all persons to boil water. He says so great was the demand for medical aid that for the past two weeks the physicians had scarcely visited their homes being occupied day and night with attendance on the sick.

Dr. Lee says the epidemic bears all the marks of a water borne and not a milk borne, outbreak, and that it is possible to ascertain the number of cases. A rough estimate, however, obtained by communicating with physicians over the telephone, developed the fact that a little more than half of them were treating 85 cases.

"Most animals are afraid of water and will fly from it in terror," says a member of the fire department. "To others there is a fascination about a flame, and they will walk into it even though tortured by the heat. Some of the men were talking the other day about the conduct of animals during a fire. A horse in a burning stable, they agreed, was wild with fear, but a dog was as cool in a fire as at any other time. A dog keeps his nose down to the floor, where the air is purest, and sets himself calmly to finding his way out. A pig in a fire howls and yelps. He hides his face from the light and crouches in corners. When his rescuer lifts him they are as a rule quite docile and subdued, never biting or scratching. Birds seem to be hypnotized by fire and keep perfectly still, until the locomotive parrot in a fire has nothing to say. Cows, like dogs, do not show alarm. They are easy to lead forth and often find their way out themselves. Rabbits seem never to have any difficulty in escaping from fires."—Washington Star.

Watering plants in the home, and yet get them it is usually unnecessary. The reasons why it is unnecessary are two: the soil is so shallowly prepared that the roots do not strike deep enough; we waste the moisture by not reaching the soil. The water that is poured on the leaves does not get to the roots. This is why the soil is so shallowly prepared that the roots do not strike deep enough. We waste the moisture by not reaching the soil. The water that is poured on the leaves does not get to the roots.

Very interesting. "My pen" said the young lawyer had just won his first case, "seemed to come a little more easily." "Yes," replied the judge, "I was afraid at one time that you would succeed in getting your client convicted in spite of his innocence."—Chicago Record Herald.

Careful experiments made show that pigs weighing about thirty pounds each, about twenty five to the acre, placed in an alfalfa pasture, will make a gain of 100 pounds each, each acre of alfalfa will feed 200 pigs. If given a supplemental feed of grain, the gain will, of course, be still better. This figure up to one ton for the use of an acre of alfalfa—2,500 pounds of pig, worth, at the best figure, of $4 per hundred, is $100. Another good point is that hogs so fed are almost always free from disease.

A binding twine lighter in weight and of superior tensile strength to the twine used by farmers, and made of 3/16 inch straw as good as wanted each year in this country, the importance of this discovery and invention may be in some measure realized. The government experts are working on an irrigation problem on the Salt River, in Arizona, which includes the building of a dam and reservoir in a canyon in the mountains and the impounding of a body of water twelve miles long, a hundred feet deep and three miles wide, or sufficient water to irrigate 1,000,000 acres of desert land. Coupled with the use of the water will be the utilization of the immense water power thus created, which, in the language of the expert in charge, will be such that the power created by the discharge of the water needed to irrigate one acre of land will be sufficient when transmitted by electricity to pump water from deep wells to irrigate another acre.

Women as well as men are made miserable by Kidney Trouble. Kidney trouble prey upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is almost common for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates freely, and is cheerful, it is a sign that the kidneys are doing their duty. If the child urinates scantily and is listless, it is a sign that the kidneys are diseased.

Women as well as men are made miserable by Kidney Trouble. Kidney trouble prey upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is almost common for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates freely, and is cheerful, it is a sign that the kidneys are doing their duty.

Women as well as men are made miserable by Kidney Trouble. Kidney trouble prey upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is almost common for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates freely, and is cheerful, it is a sign that the kidneys are doing their duty.

Women as well as men are made miserable by Kidney Trouble. Kidney trouble prey upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is almost common for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates freely, and is cheerful, it is a sign that the kidneys are doing their duty.

WOMAN'S LOVE

(Original) A cavalier in Louis XV. costume was strolling about among the guests of a Xuey dress ball. There was something attractive in his appearance. Whether it was in his graceful figure (his face was masked) or the lightness of his step or the air of one to the manner born no one could say, but the fact remained that there was something about him to excite admiration and curiosity. Among others a lady robed in the period of Venetian supremacy stood looking at him, and one could see interest in her attitude if not in her masked face.

"May I crave my lady's hand for a dance?" said the man to her. "With pleasure," replied the lady in a low voice. "Come; let us go into the winter garden," he said after the dance. "It is beautiful here, and I dislike a crowd." When they were screened behind a miniature forest of tropical trees, the man's manner suddenly changed.

"Would you know who I am?" he said. "I am what the highwayman of two centuries ago was at that time. I do not play my pranks on the road. I levy contributions in the palaces of the rich." "Where youth and beauty meet To chase the glowing hours with flying feet." "I'll trouble you for that ring?" The woman stood motionless for a time. Whether she was paralyzed from fright or was desirous what to do could not be determined. Her face was covered. Presently she said: "Listen to me a moment and the ring is yours. It is only lately that I came to live in the city. I was once a country girl. There was a boy in my village a daring reckless spirit, forerunner in his day of the modern dandy. He would have found his vocation. When he was twenty, he became an actor. I remember the day I parted with him when he went on his first theatrical tour. I had long loved that every boy in the village, but for his sake I married his father. I begged him to curb his passion for excitement, to study his chosen profession, to be content with what success he was sure to gain in the stage, for he had remarkably talent. He took me in his arms and confided to me that he feared his love for reckless deeds would kill all slowly effort, but for my sake he would try to avoid the one and cling to the other.

"He made alternate successes and failures. His earnings were fabulous by some wild freak, some desperate adventure. One engagement after another was cancelled, and at last he was forced to abandon legitimately endeavor and gave himself wholly to it." "She bent her head and buried her face in her hands." The masked face before her looked at her with a blank stare, rigid as marble. When she stopped speaking, the man said: "At our birth fate marks our courses. To some it gives the power of becoming rich, and to others it gives the power of becoming poor—all that is honorable even if unprofitable. They are the fixed stars. Others must be moving, now forward, now backward, never steady, always starting in an unexpected direction. They are the planets. Both follow their orbits, and you have to choose. Your friend, your lover, was doomed from his birth. If he could have been saved, you would have saved him."

"Oh, Alon, had I not recognized you at once under your disguise I would know you for the man you began to speak. Why must one so gifted be dragged down by an uncompanionable defect?" He stood mute, immovable. He had selected his good angel for robbery. His decisions were like lightning, and like lightning he decided that the thing he could do so without taxodilying her he would send a bullet through his brain. It was the woman who still hoped.

"Alon, try again. Go to some country where you are not known. Live a steady life for five years." "And then?" "And then? Send for me." Again there was a silence. A tremor passed over the man, then a wave of resolution. Was it only a wave? "Mary, sweetheart, for your sake I will make this trial." He moved away. There was no one to see behind the plants, and she showed him by her movement that she would encourage him with a kiss. He put her still.

"I am still above permitting such a sacrifice," he said. "Farwell, farewell, I will send you a bullet; if I succeed, a heart." It was four years and six months after that eventful meeting that Mary Drayton received a small package by express. She knew that it contained one of two books, and since the five years had not yet passed she dreaded lest she had received a bullet, an emblem of suicide. Tremblingly she took off the wrapper and revealed a paper box. She dared not lift the lid for a time and only did so when it occurred to her that the weight was slight. There, nestled in cotton, was something wrapped in tissue paper. Unfolding it, she held in her hand a gold heirloom.

Soon after a letter came from Alon Stanley from Australia, bearing the news that he was a prosperous sheep raiser. His talents had made him prominent, and he held an important office under the government. He did not ask the woman who had saved him to come to him, but left it optional with her to permit him to come to her. She smiled at the news.

ANITA WALSH M'KNIGHT, Napoleon's Magic Table. Napoleon's magic table is one of the greatest curiosities from the time of the great emperor, who had it in his study at the castle of St. Cloud. After the death of Napoleon it was bought in London by Baron Reinhart, Swedish ambassador to the court of St. James at that time. It is now owned through inheritance by one of the foremost families of the Society of London. Inside the drawer of the table is pasted an old slip, on which is printed a description which in modernized English reads as follows:

The Emperor Napoleon was highly delighted with this extraordinary work of art. It formed the surface of one of the tables in his study and was always shown to all foreigners of distinction who visited the imperial court. It is a painting whose resemblance to what it represents is the most choice ever produced by the artists of any age. On a black oak oblong pedestal of art in different lights the pieces of money, the fragments of broken glasses, the pen-knife, water and snuff retain an equal vividness of appearance as the observer moves round the table. It requires a very minute examination to discover all the truly magical wonders it possesses."

ZION CITY GOES ON MUCH AS USUAL

ZION CITY, Ill., Dec. 2.—Except at the bank here no sign of disturbance over bankruptcy proceedings against John Alexander Dowie was visible in this place today. The bank was closed and guarded both by United States deputy marshals and by "Zion guards," the local police. Otherwise the Dowie institutions were being conducted as if nothing unusual had happened.

The receivers appointed by the Federal Court began today going over the books of the Zion industries. Instead of Dowie, Federal Custodian Paul Rodheski is technically the head of Zion City and in control of its factories, religious services in the churches on the 8th of every month; special prayers at those monthly services for the repose of the soul of Pope Leo XIII, and for the preservation and guidance of the present Pope, and special devotions on the part of religious orders and individual congregations.

The definition which is the cause of the celebration, was made by Pope Pius IX, in 1854. By the definition, the dogma was made an article of faith where hitherto it had only been a pious belief. One of the last official acts of Pope Leo XIII was to appoint a committee of cardinals to arrange for the golden jubilee of the famous dogma.

Behind closed doors in Dowie's private office today, Dowie and his attorney met Custodian Rodheski and attorneys representing the creditors. The principal object was to arrange plans for the continuation of the various industries. The secret conference was said to have been stormy at times, when Dowie became angry at what he called "presumption" on the part of his opponents.

In Zion City all title to real estate is vested in Dowie. The tract of land upon which Zion is built was bought on a five year payment plan. Several payments are due the last one falling September 1, when Dowie paid up the interest and asked for more time. Mortgages on the land are held by the original owners, and foreclosure would mean forfeiture of lots and houses of the followers of Dowie.

Basket Ball Team Organized. The Continental basket ball team, just organized for the season, will be pleased to hear from teams with an average weight of 135 pounds. The make-up of the team is as follows: Michael Fallon and John Dugan, forwards; James Barrett and John McCaffrey, guards; and William Buck, (Captain) centre.

Weak Hearts. Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only treatable, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, putting it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased. Mr. D. Kodie of Newark, O. says: "Indigestion and weak stomach, putting it up against the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased. Mr. D. Kodie of Newark, O. says: "Indigestion and weak stomach, putting it up against the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased. Mr. D. Kodie of Newark, O. says: "Indigestion and weak stomach, putting it up against the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased."

Kodol Digests What You Eat and relieves the stomach of all nervous strain and the heart of all pressure. BOTTLES ONLY $1.00. Size holding 2 1/2 times the fluid. Prepared by E. C. DAWITT & CO., HIOGAO, O. Sold by Gosh & Co. Patmes & Chicago.

ORPHAN'S COURT SALE! OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE! Estate of Sabina Clayton, Deceased. By virtue of an order of the Orphans Court of Montour County granted for such purpose, the undersigned administrator will expose to public sale (freed and discharged from all liens and encumbrances whatsoever) upon the premises situated in the Fourth Ward of the Borough of Danville, Montour County, Pennsylvania on Saturday, December 19th, '03 beginning at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, the following described messuage, tenement and town lot of land situate in the Fourth Ward of the Borough of Danville, County of Montour and State of Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows, viz: Fronting on Upper Mulberry street on the Eastward, lot of Evan Davis on the Southward, the Catawissa, Williamsport and Erie Railroad on the Westward and lot of William Evans on the Northward. Containing thirty-two (32) feet in front on Upper Mulberry street and extending back to the line of the Catawissa, Williamsport and Erie Railroad on which is erected a

Two-Story Frame Dwelling House and other outbuildings. TERMS OF SALE 25 per cent to be paid down at time of striking down of property and balance at time of delivery of the deed. All writing to be paid for by purchaser. M. G. YOUNGMAN, Administrator of Sabina Clayton, Deceased. WILLIAM J. BALDY, Counsel. November 19th, 1903.

WORLD-WIDE ROMAN JUBILEE

The Roman Catholic church the world over will on December 8 begin the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the definition of the dogma of the Immaculate Conception, and the celebration will last for a period of one year. As yet the local churches have received no instructions of the manner of celebration, but it is supposed that it will consist of special sacred missions during the year, with unusually solemn preparations for the particular feasts of the Blessed Virgin; first Communions in the various churches to be celebrated with more than ordinary solemnity; spiritual exercises for associations and societies; religious services in the churches on the 8th of every month; special prayers at those monthly services for the repose of the soul of Pope Leo XIII, and for the preservation and guidance of the present Pope, and special devotions on the part of religious orders and individual congregations.

The definition which is the cause of the celebration, was made by Pope Pius IX, in 1854. By the definition, the dogma was made an article of faith where hitherto it had only been a pious belief. One of the last official acts of Pope Leo XIII was to appoint a committee of cardinals to arrange for the golden jubilee of the famous dogma.

Behind closed doors in Dowie's private office today, Dowie and his attorney met Custodian Rodheski and attorneys representing the creditors. The principal object was to arrange plans for the continuation of the various industries. The secret conference was said to have been stormy at times, when Dowie became angry at what he called "presumption" on the part of his opponents.

In Zion City all title to real estate is vested in Dowie. The tract of land upon which Zion is built was bought on a five year payment plan. Several payments are due the last one falling September 1, when Dowie paid up the interest and asked for more time. Mortgages on the land are held by the original owners, and foreclosure would mean forfeiture of lots and houses of the followers of Dowie.

Basket Ball Team Organized. The Continental basket ball team, just organized for the season, will be pleased to hear from teams with an average weight of 135 pounds. The make-up of the team is as follows: Michael Fallon and John Dugan, forwards; James Barrett and John McCaffrey, guards; and William Buck, (Captain) centre.

Weak Hearts. Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only treatable, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, putting it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased. Mr. D. Kodie of Newark, O. says: "Indigestion and weak stomach, putting it up against the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased. Mr. D. Kodie of Newark, O. says: "Indigestion and weak stomach, putting it up against the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased."

Kodol Digests What You Eat and relieves the stomach of all nervous strain and the heart of all pressure. BOTTLES ONLY $1.00. Size holding 2 1/2 times the fluid. Prepared by E. C. DAWITT & CO., HIOGAO, O. Sold by Gosh & Co. Patmes & Chicago.

ORPHAN'S COURT SALE! OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE! Estate of Sabina Clayton, Deceased. By virtue of an order of the Orphans Court of Montour County granted for such purpose, the undersigned administrator will expose to public sale (freed and discharged from all liens and encumbrances whatsoever) upon the premises situated in the Fourth Ward of the Borough of Danville, Montour County, Pennsylvania on Saturday, December 19th, '03 beginning at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, the following described messuage, tenement and town lot of land situate in the Fourth Ward of the Borough of Danville, County of Montour and State of Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows, viz: Fronting on Upper Mulberry street on the Eastward, lot of Evan Davis on the Southward, the Catawissa, Williamsport and Erie Railroad on the Westward and lot of William Evans on the Northward. Containing thirty-two (32) feet in front on Upper Mulberry street and extending back to the line of the Catawissa, Williamsport and Erie Railroad on which is erected a

Two-Story Frame Dwelling House and other outbuildings. TERMS OF SALE 25 per cent to be paid down at time of striking down of property and balance at time of delivery of the deed. All writing to be paid for by purchaser. M. G. YOUNGMAN, Administrator of Sabina Clayton, Deceased. WILLIAM J. BALDY, Counsel. November 19th, 1903.

ADJOURNED Orphan's Court Sale

OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE. Estate of Margaret Deon, Deceased. By virtue of an order of the Orphan's Court of Montour County granted for such purpose, the undersigned will again expose to public sale (freed and discharged from all liens and encumbrances whatsoever) upon the respective premises situate in the First Ward of the Borough of Danville, Montour County, Pa., on Saturday, December 19th, '03 beginning at two o'clock in the afternoon of the said day, the five following described messuages, tenements and town lots of land of the said deceased to wit:

Lot No. 1. Situate in the First Ward of the Borough of Danville, Pa., aforesaid, bounded and described as follows, viz: on the North by Front street, on the East by S. Myer's Estate, on the South by an alley, and on the West by another lot of said deceased next hereinafter described, containing in width on Front Street and said alley twenty five feet and in depth one hundred and twenty five feet, with the appurtenances.

Lot No. 2. Situate in the First Ward of the said Borough of Danville Pa., bounded and described as follows, viz: On the East by lot of the estate of Hannal Still deceased, on the South by Water street, on the West by lot next hereinafter described, and on the North by an alley. Containing in width on Water street and said alley twenty-five feet, and in depth one hundred and fifty feet, with the appurtenances.

Lot No. 3. Situate in the First Ward of the Borough of Danville, Pa., bounded and described as follows, viz: On the East by lot of the estate of Hannal Still deceased, on the South by Water street, on the West by lot next hereinafter described, and on the North by an alley. Containing in width on Water street and said alley twenty-five feet, and in depth one hundred and fifty feet, with the appurtenances.

Lot No. 4. Situate in the First Ward of the Borough of Danville, Pa., bounded and described as follows, viz: On the East by lot of the estate of Hannal Still deceased, on the South by Water street, on the West by lot next hereinafter described, and on the North by an alley. Containing in width on Water street and said alley twenty-five feet, and in depth one hundred and fifty feet, with the appurtenances.

Lot No. 5. Situate in the First Ward of the Borough of Danville, Pa., bounded and described as follows, viz: On the East by lot of the estate of Hannal Still deceased, on the South by Water street, on the West by lot next hereinafter described, and on the North by an alley. Containing in width on Water street and said alley twenty-five feet, and in depth one hundred and fifty feet, with the appurtenances.

TERMS OF SALE will be made known on day of sale by JONATHAN S. DEEN, Administrator of Margaret Deon, deceased. EDWARD SAYRE GEARHART, Counsel. November 25th, 1903.

The Home Paper of Danville. Of course you read THE MORNING NEWS. THE PEOPLE'S POPULAR PAPER. Everybody Reads It. Published Every Morning Except Sunday at No. 11 E. Market Street. Subscription 6 cents Per Week.

To Cure a Cold in One Day. Cures Grip in Two Days. Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. E. H. BROWN. Seven Million boxes sold in past 12 months. This signature, E. H. Brown.