While returning hom about four o'clock in the afternoon two men sprang from the dense shrubbery along the road near the Chillis quaque bridge. One of the men grabbed Mr. Leader by the feet and dragged him from the wagon, the latter falling on his back in the road, with the other on top of him. The man had a sharp instrument in his hand and made an attempt to cut his victim with it. Mr. Leader struggled desperately with him and was successful in preventing him from inflicting an in

W. Railroad has agreed to contribute, to make the necessary subscription of $10,000 which Attorney General Carson says must be subscribed before he will recommend the construction of the Berwick-Nescopeck bridge upon the site as proposed by the viewers with the bridge built over the tracks of the D. L. & W. company.

Several of the railroad's counsel have expressed the opinion that the railroad should do something, but whether they will or not remains to be seen. There is no doubt but that the amount of the subscriptions asked would soon be made up in passenger traffic alone, as the passenger traffic receipts at the Nescopeck station are very large and would be even larger with proper facilities, and then, too, the delay in the construction of the bridge and the consequent falling off Danville at 12:10 P. egg masses by clipping them off with a pruning fork and burning them or throwing them away at some distance from any trees.

One of the commonest methods of destroying tent caterpillars and Fall webworms is to burn out the nests. but State Zoologist Surface frowns up on this method. In discussing how to rid trees of such pests in the April bulletin from his department, he said that almost any method is better than burning. If this plan is followed. however, the torch should be passed under the nest and held there only so long that the worms will be scorched and fall to the ground. Generally the flame is held to a nest several times a long as is necessary and the tree is damaged.
