After Indian summer look out for a savage winter. Hanting accidents are in season and are being reported with the usual regularity. It's dangerous to be safe in the woods nowadays.

This is the beginning of the season when, for the safety of pedestrians, sidewalks should be dry swept instead

A large number of hunters have already been wounded while out gunning, but a whole lot of game seems to have escaped.

Judge Stewart, of Franklin county. has rendered a recent decision on the right of way which everybody should know. Pedestrians have the first right on the road; then vehicles, and lastly automobiles.

A bonfire was held on the Bloomsburg Normal School campus last evening in honor of the victory of the Normal foot ball team over the Wyomng Saminary eleven last Saturday.

are complaining very much over the scarcity of game in this section. The recent attention given to young grandmothers in the press of the state has brought out the fact that Hazleton has a woman only 21 years of age who is the mother of five children, all healthy and sound.

With the approach of Winter, the vicious element, which is more scattered throughout the country during the open season, flock to the towns and cities, and burglaries and crimes are more numerous, necessitating greater police activity, and watchfulness on the part of citizens.

The state of Pennsylvania now owns 632,828 acres of land, which have been set apart for the growth of trees. There are five hundred million acres of growing forests in the United States outside our insular possessions. And yet it is estimated that the annual consumption of wood is twice as great as its growth. This fact shows the importance of forestry as a national industry. It is second only to agricul-
