MINOR MATTERS OF INTEREST

The fact seems pretty well established that Danville will not enjoy a building boom the coming spring. The several contractors see plenty of work ahead in the form of remodeling houses and the making of the usual spring repairs. Merchant Tailor, E. D. Pentz early in the season will build a frame ed by him on East Mahoning street. adjoining the manse of the Mahoning Presbyterian church. A very fine resideuce to be built by W. H. Lattimere on Front street is among the possibilities for the coming season. Beyond these, however, no bailding operations are in sight, though it is very likely 11.21 A. M. that a little later in the season a few 6.33 P. M. new houses will be heard of. Last year several new buildings went up and it would certainly be odd if with the advantage of two trolley lines and By exonerations durother improvement there would not be increased activity in building circles this year. Architect J. H. Erugler states that the number of new buildings planned in any of the neighboring towns is not large. The new buildings decided upon will be mostly dwellings, of the modern type, but only moderately expensive. One of these will be a residence in Berwick to cost
