

MONTOUR AMERICAN

FRANK C. ANGLE, Proprietor.
Danville, Pa., Mar. 30, 1905.
Announcement.
I hereby announce myself as a candidate for County Commissioner, subject to the decision of the Republican County Convention.
CHAS. W. COOK, of Valley Township.

MINOR MATTERS OF INTEREST

A number of our exchanges are perturbed over the fact that the Montour County jail is empty. With the record of their own counties before them these editors can not understand how such things can be and imagine that somebody must be derelict. The "Harrisburg Telegraph" relieves itself as follows:

"Montour county people are proud because the jail at Danville is empty and has been in this deplorable condition since the last term of court. Because of this the cynics are wondering whether 'Montour county people are unusually law-abiding or the authorities very lax.'"

Whether one or the other be true, the taxpayers of that county are being outrageously cheated. What's a jail for if not to hold prisoners? What are sheriffs and policemen for except to find somebody to put into jail? Are prison wardens and jailors and judges and court officials to be maintained in idleness?

We submit to the people of Montour county that it is the business of their sheriff to get occupants for that jail. Isn't there a tramp, or even a "suspicious" person in Montour? Isn't it the duty of policemen and constables to bring in somebody to be tried for something? How is the district attorney to make a living?

Montour seems to be lost to all sense of shame. Fill the jail at once." In reply the News would inform all inquirers that the taxpayers of Montour County are perfectly serene; an empty jail has no terrors for them. Our policemen and constables understand their duty and the District Attorney, who bears no evidence of a slim diet, up to the present has not been heard to express any misgivings as to the source of his living.

An attempt was made to operate the ferry yesterday for the accommodation of the public, but it had to be abandoned as impracticable, owing to the high stage of the river which makes it impossible to load and unload the flat boat. Several trips were made with Richard Hultihen, the new ferryman, in command. The strong current enabled the flat boat to make record breaking time in its trips backward and forward. The best time made was four minutes in returning to the Danville side from the South shore. The ferry boat is restored to its former condition with fall boards and iron railing replaced.

The several shade trees on Mill street removed last fall when street paving was inaugurated to the eye are not only conspicuous by their absence but their refreshing shade is much missed. It was not until the sun began to get his work in yesterday that people, accustomed to the trees, fully realized what they had lost. However, the street is much improved by the removal of the trees, and even those formerly benefitted are not disposed to complain.

Messrs. Pettijohn and Amerman are still hammering away at the rural telephone proposition. The farmers seem to fully realize that it all depends upon their attitude toward the enterprise whether or not any of the proposed lines shall be established very soon. One of the promoters yesterday asserted that with proper encouragement one of the lines might be got in working order inside of sixty days.

Our townsman A. M. Peters has received an invitation from San Antonio to assist in tendering a dinner in the name of the gentlemen of the Business Men's Club of that city to President Roosevelt on Friday evening, April 7th at 7:30 o'clock at the Menger Hotel, San Antonio. Honors come high in Texas, however, as the price of seats is $12.50. It will be a full dress affair.

The gates at the D. & W. railroad crossing on Mill street, broken by a runaway horse last week, were replaced yesterday and are now in good working order, all of which is a matter of self congratulation to John Eckert, the efficient watchman, who since the accident has been obliged to revert to the primitive method of waving a flag on the approach of a train.

How's This? We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward of any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. We the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by him.

WATER & TRUXAL, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo O. WALKING, KINMAN & MARY, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75c per bottle. Sold by all drug lists. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

A number of public schools in the rural districts will close their terms shortly. Some of the schools will be compelled to remain open for several weeks to make up for lost time. Reports are that the Southern strawberry crop will be a record breaker this Spring, and that shipments will begin in some quantity in about four weeks.

Sad Death of a Child.
Circumstances extremely sad surrounded the death of Charles W., the young son of Engineer George W. Keefe, at the family residence, Sunbury, at half-past three o'clock Tuesday morning.

Death was caused by concussion of the brain, from injuries accidentally sustained while playing with his elder brother, several hours previous.

About seven o'clock Monday evening, the children were engaged in play at their home. During their pursuit of pleasure, the elder boy ran out of the door, quickly followed by his younger brother.

Upon reaching the stone pavement, the elder boy stopped, and his brother ran into him, the force of the collision being sufficient to throw the younger boy violently to the pavement, striking the left side of his head, near the temple, a heavy blow.

The little victim was carried into the house, and Dr. Mary McKay Wenck was sent for. The doctor answered the summons quickly and made an examination, discovering that the fall had produced concussion of the brain.

Everything possible was done for the relief and recovery of the victim, but to no avail, death thwarting all efforts at the time stated.

The child was aged 6 years, 5 months and 13 days. Being exceedingly bright, he was quite interesting and the neighborhood as well as the home of the family is shrouded in sorrow and sadness.

Woman Burned to Death.
Horrible and sickening in detail, was the tragic death of Mrs. Maurer, a widow aged forty-eight years, at her home along the Danville road on the outskirts of Northumberland at seven o'clock yesterday morning.

About six weeks ago, Mrs. Maurer's daughter, to whom she was devotedly attached, committed suicide by drowning herself in the river. The loss of her daughter worried the woman greatly and she broke down in health.

Tuesday night a few minutes before nine o'clock, she was seized with a chill. Going to the kitchen she fixed the fire in the cook stove, and, drawing up a chair, placed her feet in the oven. Falling asleep in this position her clothing caught fire, the flame, spreading rapidly before she became aroused.

Frantically making unsuccessful efforts to extinguish the flames, she ran into the yard, from where her piteous cries were heard by nearby neighbors.

Although assistance arrived in less than a minute's time, the flames, fanned to increased fury by the woman's rapid flight, completely enveloped her entire body, consuming all her clothing. An effort was made to save her by rolling her in pieces of carpet, but before this task was accomplished, nearly her entire body was burned to a crisp, the wasted flesh, in many places, falling from the bones in long strips.

Carrying the victim into the house, everything possible was done to relieve her great suffering until the arrival of Dr. C. E. Rutter, who remained all night in hopes of thwarting death, but his work was for naught, the grim angel ending her terrible suffering at seven o'clock yesterday morning.

Aunt Mary, Banker

By James Cleary
Copyright, 1904, by K. M. Whitehead

When the First National bank of Olivet was organized, capital $50,000, Aunt Mary Hilliard became a stockholder to the amount of $10,000. She was a wealthy widow, past middle age, and could have furnished the full amount had she so desired.

The balance of the stock was taken by the business men of Olivet and farmers thereabouts, and in due time the bank opened for business. When the stockholders met to elect a board of directors they figured on leaving Aunt Mary out, though she was one of the largest stockholders. She was a woman, they said, and she knew little about business, and she should be well content to draw her dividends and leave the active management to men.

"Don't make any mistake about me," cautioned Aunt Mary as she settled her bonnet on the back of her head and stood up. "I've been doing business ever since my husband died, fifteen years ago, and I think I've learned a thing or two, even about banking. I don't want to be a director, but I shall drop in here quite often to see how things are going."

Aunt Mary was made a director. It was that or trouble. Then the five directors elected a president, secretary and cashier, and four of them strolled paternally as the woman claimed the honor of making the first deposit. The president was a newcomer in the town, but he had money and had been cashier of a bank in Buffalo. The secretary and cashier were old residents.

The First National secured a large business at once, and as time passed on Aunt Mary dropped in occasionally to keep posted. People who thought she was old fashioned in her business notions or that her limit was selling butter and eggs had to acknowledge their mistake. She was quite up to date on finance, and she knew a good investment from a doubtful one as well as the president did.

Things were being managed in good shape all around, and the bank was looking ahead to fair dividends at the end of the year, when Paul Hazzard, nephew to Aunt Mary and a young man of twenty-two, appeared on the scene. That is, he appeared at Aunt Mary's house, two miles out of town, for a visit of a month or two. As he valued at $110, with none for sale. All men will sell, however, at a price. That very day Aunt Mary began hunting up the small stockholders, buying stock and pledging them to secrecy. She paid fifteen, twenty and twenty-five bonuses, but she got what she was after. In a month she had a controlling interest, and the stock was duly transferred on the books. There was considerable speculation as to what was up, but no one surmised the truth until the first annual meeting came around. Aunt Mary was present, and it was noticed that her jaw was set.

"We will now vote to elect a board of directors," softly announced the secretary when the meeting had been called to order.

Aunt Mary had a ticket of her own to "sit" and she speedily voted the old board out. In answer to their looks of consternation she said:

"This afternoon the directors will elect officers. I shall be president and my nephew cashier."

"But, my dear Mrs. Hilliard!" began Mr. Leslie.

"I will within my legal rights, sir," she interrupted. "I have never run a bank yet, but I think I can do so. That is, I shall do so unless—"

The pause was dramatic. All had a suspicion of what was wrong, and Mr. Leslie knew that he was in a trap. How much was there left in you after you have lost everything outside of yourself? If you lie low, throw your head and neck under the wheel, you will not be hurt. But if you stand up and face forward you refuse to give up or to lose faith in yourself, if you seem to beat a retreat, you will show that the man left in you is bigger than your loss, greater than your cross and larger than your defeat.

"I know no such unquestionable badge and ensign of a sovereign mind," said Emerson, "as that tenacity of purpose which, through all changes of companions or parties or fortunes, changes never, hates no job of heart or hand, but swears on its position and arrives at its port."

DON'T RECOGNIZE DEFEAT.

Prove Your Manhood by Battling on Bravely After Reverses.
After 12,000 of Napoleon's soldiers had been overwhelmed by the advance of 75,000 Austrian troops he addressed them thus: "I am displeased with you. You have exhibited neither discipline nor valor. You have allowed yourselves to be driven from positions where a handful of resolute men might have arrested an army. You are no longer French soldiers. Chief of staff, cause it to be written on their standards, 'They are no longer of the army of Italy.'"

In your hearts the battered veterans replied: "We have been misrepresents. The soldiers of the enemy were three to one. Try us once more. Place us in the post of danger and see if we do not belong to the army of Italy." In the next battle they were placed on the front and they made good the pledge by rolling back the great Austrian army.

He is a pretty poor sort of man who loses courage and fears to face the world just because he has made a mistake or a slip somewhere, because his business has failed, because his property has been swept away by some general disaster or because of other trouble impossible for him to avert.

This is the test of your manhood. How much is there left in you after you have lost everything outside of yourself? If you lie low, throw your head and neck under the wheel, you will not be hurt. But if you stand up and face forward you refuse to give up or to lose faith in yourself, if you seem to beat a retreat, you will show that the man left in you is bigger than your loss, greater than your cross and larger than your defeat.

"I know no such unquestionable badge and ensign of a sovereign mind," said Emerson, "as that tenacity of purpose which, through all changes of companions or parties or fortunes, changes never, hates no job of heart or hand, but swears on its position and arrives at its port."

It is well to take time in thinking before making accusations. A woman who can use her eyes with effect is a dangerous rival. Women take fright easily over a lover's compliments to another of the fair sex. There is a species of treason in carrying water on both shoulders in a love affair.

When one man sneers at another it is fair to presume jealousy is at the bottom of it. When a man regards himself as irresistible it is time to do some quiet thinking and self-abnegation.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Little is known of Correggio, which would argue that he was of a retiring disposition. He was born in the little town of Correggio, twenty-four miles from Parma. In the latter city he was educated, but in his seventeenth year an outbreak of the plague drove his family to Mantua. By 1514 he was back in Parma. For some years he worked here and painted many famous pictures. It may have been because of grief over the death of his young wife, but at the age of thirty-six, indifferent to fame and fortune, he retired to the little town where he was born. All that is known regarding his death is that it occurred March 5, 1534.—Charles H. Caffin in St. Nicholas.

Games help to form character to a wonderful extent, and I do not know any means by which you can so quickly arrive at an estimate of human character, of individuality, of personality, as you can by watching people at games or engaged in any sport that calls for endurance, patience, celerity of mind and body. The school with a good record for games is almost always in the front rank of scholarship.—Dr. Warme.

Former Experience Painful. The young woman had just said no. "Have you ever been rejected before, Mr. Huddleston?" she asked sympathizingly and almost tenderly. "Once," he said, a spasm of pain contorting his features at the recollection, "by a life insurance company. I tell you it hurt—that time."—Chicago Tribune.

Help Others. Help others and bless yourself. Drive the cloud from the brow of a friend in distress, and you open the windows for an effulgence of light upon your own heart.—Detroit Free Press.

His Experience. His Promoter—Yes, but sometimes it's mighty hard to get it to listen.—New York Press.

How Chicago Is Spelled. In sorting over the letters for Chicago a man in the general Chicago office has kept an account of the number of different ways the word Chicago is spelled. Recently the record showed 107 different ways. Some ripe scholar in Finland sent a letter to his brother and spelled the name of the Garden City, Zizzazo. Still another foreigner, possibly with a sinister motive, spelled the word Jaizjazo. Hippazo, Jajjazo, Schobozzo, Hizzago and Chachicho are also prime favorites.

He Found It. "I meant to have told you of that hole," said the kindly host to his friend, who had suddenly disappeared in the crowd of a stroll through the grounds, into a pit full of water. The friend climbed out and shook himself. "It doesn't matter," he said cheerily. "I found it."—London Globe.

Prayed Bravely. "That Hittly seemed like a plucky chap." "Guess he is all right. He has plucked everybody in this neighborhood."—Detroit Free Press.

TRAIN ON SUBWAY IN WILD RUNAWAY

NEW YORK, March 29.—A subway train, going north to the switch at 168th street in order to go down on the south bound track, became unmanageable to day and ran away from the motorman.

It crashed into a heap of construction material at 168th street, where a station is being built and caught fire. The fire department responded to alarm and fought the flames through the station.

It is said that the motorman and guards escaped through the tunnel openings at 181st and 157th streets, and that none of them was killed. The cars contained no passengers.

TOUR TO FINEBURST, N. O.
Via Pennsylvania Railroad for the Golf Championship.

For the benefit of those desiring to visit Pinehurst, N. C., during the great championship golf tournaments, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will run a personally-conducted tour to this attractive mid-South resort, leaving New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington March 31, by special train. The rates for this tour including railway transportation in both directions; Pullman berth and meals in dining car going trip only, and three days' board at the Hotel Carolina, will be: New York, $92.00; Philadelphia, $80.00; Baltimore and Washington, $24.00. Proportionate rates from other points.

For tickets, itineraries, and other information apply to ticket agents or Geo. W. Boyd, General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

The Gus Sun American Minstrels
The above company, traveling in their own private $10,000 Pullman car, with superb band and symphony orchestra, will appear at the Opera House tonight for one performance only. The company ranks among the best on the road and is certainly worthy of a packed house. The beautiful spectacular first part "A City of Splendor," the superb music and the six star feature acts go to make up the strongest and most elaborate minstrel performance that has ever been witnessed in this city. The scenery and music are alone worth more than the admission fee. Seats now on sale at Hult's Drug Store.

The New York Judge who ruled that women's tongues are "concealed weapons" had evidently been up against "the real thing."

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys. Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers; they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or steady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.
For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Frequent attacks of indigestion inflame the mucous membranes lining the stomach and exposes the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucus instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure
relieves all inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the stomach, protects the nerves and cures indigestion, a sense of fullness after eating, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.
