Opening of Rifle Practice Season. The rifle practice season for 1905 opened yesterday. Most of the ranges are in good condition and ready for work. Company commanders who are at all inclined to learn from experienc will get their men on the range early and will qualify them as rapidly as possible. When this is once accomplished those who can make higher scores will have plenty of time and opportunity to increase those already made. Every company in the State lost in figure of merit last year through not having qualified men early in the year who were afterwards discharged without having visited the range. The wise company commander is the one who gets the work done as early and as rapidly as possible and thus not Walnut, to Fifth, to Market, to Third, only raises his figure of merit but has plenty of time to give to those who may be enlisted later. The Adjutant General's report fo 1903 is out at last. It is dated 1903 but it really covers the period from Jane 1902 to December 1903. It is a volume of 688 pages but much of its contents are without interest now because of their age. Whatever value the reports of some of the officers had is lost because time has changed conditions.

One interesting feature is the full report of the operations of the troops during the industrial disturbances of 1902 when they were on duty for three months. The orders, telegrams and most of the reports made at the time are published, as well as the accounts a high grade show throughout and the showing just what these disturbances cost the state.

A new feature in the report is the publication of portraits of deceased officers. In this volume are those of Adjutant General Guthrie, Adjutant acter. Circuses like the one given by General Greenland, Brigadier General Messrs. Sautelle and Welsh Brothers Magee, Surgeon General Read, Judge Advocate General Eshelman, Colonel Hawkins, Colonel Hoffman and Colonel

Sautelle and Welsh Bros. Circus. The Sig. Sautelle and Welsh Brothers Combined Railroad Shows arrived in Harrisburg at an early hour Sunday morning. The big show came via the George Reilly, Clarence Price and Pennsylvania railroad on a special train of twenty-six foot length rail way cars. The accoutrement of rolling stock is among the best seen in the local railroad yards in recent years. The train was unloaded in a remarkably short space of time and as fast as the wagons came down the runs they were taken to the circus grounds at Sixth and Maclay streets. Mr. Thomas the trainmaster of this show is to be commended in having a lot of train helpers and drivers that do their work in a systematic manner and also refrain from engaging in loud talk and swearing. During the entire detrain ing of the show everything passed off in a pleasant way, to the satisfaction of the onlookers. The street parade started from the grounds at 10 o'clock this morning and passed over the fel lowing route: Down Sixth street to to Hamilton, to grounds. The parade was a success in every particular the horses, wardrobes, dens, wagons and general equipment were in excellent shape; three bands of music furnished to the grounds, numerous free shows were given, which will again be pre sented at 6:30 this evening.

> A very large audience attended the performance this afternoon and the various features were received with much favor. Clever riding acts, re markable acrobatic displays, all kinds of trapeze and mid-air work, witty clowns, trained horses, ponies, and dogs, constitute the programme. It is costumes worn by the performers are neat, clean and attractive. A first class supplementary or side show is also presented and contains much that is new and of a highly interesting chardo no harm to any city. Another performance will be given at 8 o'clock this evening. The circus will also exhibit here tomorrow, giving afternoon

The street at each end of the culvert has been cut down considerably to reach grade, the ground being utilized in filling up the culvert. Still more excavating will be required to level down the street, but the ground will fall far short of what is needed. It begins to look as though should street paving on East Market street ever become a fact the Ferry street culvert will afford ample room for all the ground and still be a considerable way from completion.
