SHOVEL & MANUFACTURING CO.

The Danville Shovel and Manufacturing Company is the name of the new corporation in Danville, that has assumed ownership of the Danville Bessemer plant, which was sold out by the Sheriff about a month ago.

The name was decided upon at a preliminary meeting held at the Bessemer offices Saturday afternoon. The company will apply for a charter with an authorized capital of $500,000.

It is no secret, that for Cuts, Burns, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Sore Eyes, Boils, etc., nothing is so effective as Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

Burned to Death at Shamokin. Shamokin was visited by another disastrous fire early on Monday morning. One man and two horses were burned to death, and several buildings were destroyed.

About half past two o'clock John Betts, aged forty-five years, who has been sleeping in the hay loft of a large stable owned by the brewery firm of Farman & Schmidt in the rear of the St. Elmo Hotel on Shamokin street, went to bed, a few seconds later flames were discovered issuing from the upper part of the structure and before a general alarm could be sounded the building was like a roaring furnace.

Betts was burned to death and the building and contents was destroyed before the fire department could reach the scene. Several citizens experienced narrow escapes in an effort to rescue Betts and two valuable horses, which were roasted to death.

The flames spread to an adjoining tenement house occupied by John Hopka and family. Mrs. Hopka became panic stricken and was in the act of jumping from the second story window when she was restrained by her husband. Mr. and Mrs. Hopka groped their way through the smoke into the street but were almost overcome several times. The house was badly damaged.

After a hard battle lasting several hours the firemen gained control and prevented further destruction. One of the buildings threatened was the Saratoga Hotel which is run by William Wilson. No insurance was carried by any of the losers.

INDIGNATION MEETING MAY RESULT

The Standard Electric Light Company yesterday took down the forty foot pole at the northeastern corner of Mill and Front streets and replaced it with a tall sixty foot pole, which will be used to elevate the wires on a level with the top of the river bridge, which will be used to carry them over to South Danville.

What is needed now is for the Borough to remove the electric light poles at the southeast corner of the same intersection of streets. The wingwall changed by the county, especially since the railing has been replaced, it must be confessed, helps the appearance of things considerably. It is thought that the Borough Council will yield to public opinion and remove or very much modify the curbing at the foot of the approach. Whatever is done, however, must be accomplished quickly; otherwise a delay will occur in putting down the pavement.

The trolley track is fully connected. Contractor Rogers yesterday began the work of concreting the roadway and unless held up by some delayed action of Council the approach will be completed before the last of the week.

AN ENDLESS CHAIN.

Gratitude Stretches it Further and Further in Danville. Like an endless chain, time adds a new link every day. Danville people cured. Indorse Doan's Kidney Pills.

A pleased patron is the best ad. Doan's Kidney Pills. Read how this cure resulted. A Danville testimonial.

Mrs. Nelson Hollister, of 611 Mill St., says: "When we lived in Lewisburg some years ago my son was troubled with backache about which he was continually complaining. He was unable to sleep nights, always had headaches and felt depressed and tired all the time. The kidney secretions were annoying and embarrassing. Doan's Kidney Pills worked a quick cure, and after taking them only a short time he was cured. My husband also used some for lameness in the back and they gave him immediate relief. From my own experience with pain in the back and kidney trouble I can say that they are of great benefit. It was in 1895, over eight years ago since my son was cured, and the cure then made has been permanent. We recommend Doan's Kidney Pills highly."

GRAMMAR SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT

Commencement exercises were held in the four grammar schools of the Borough Friday afternoon. The exercises with presentation of diplomas, which have been inaugurated by Borough Superintendent Geary, are a new feature of our schools and one which invests the grammar school course with new dignity and importance.

As arranged, the approach appears very odd, indeed, and the public can not become reconciled to it. The Borough's portion chiefly is condemned by the people, who claim that there is no sense whatever in the present arrangement—that the bit of pavement at the lower end of the approach serves no purpose whatever, but will prove only an obstacle and an annoyance, obliging people to step up and then after a couple of paces to step down again upon the level of the paved approach.

It is ten times easier to cure coughs, croup, whooping cough and all lung and bronchial affections when the bowels are open. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar is the original Laxative Cough Syrup. Gently moves the bowels, and expels all cold from the system, cuts the phlegm, cures all coughs and strengthens weak lungs. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar contains no opiates, is pleasant to the taste and is the best and safest for child or adult. Sold by Paules & Co.

Quality vs. Quantity. Hard muscles and strong body do not depend on the quantity of food you eat, but on its perfect digestion and proper assimilation. When you take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure your system gets all the nourishment out of all the food you eat. It digests what you eat regardless of the condition of the stomach and conveys the nutrient properties to the blood and tissues. This builds up and strengthens the entire system. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Belching, Sour Stomach, Weak Heart, etc. Sold by Paules & Co.

Finced for Attending Drills. Summary Court was held at the Army last night by Colonel William F. Barber, at which the case of Claude M. Gargas, private, Company F, 4th Infantry, who failed to appear at drill, was finally disposed of.

Colored Barber was disposed to be lenient but the offense was one that calls for punishment. The very best that could be done for private Gargas under the circumstances was to impose a fine of five dollars. Colonel Barber gave Gargas 20 days in which to pay the money.

The Salve That Penetrates. Dr. Witt's Witch Hazel Salve penetrates the pores of the skin, and by its antiseptic, rubefacient and healing influence it subdues inflammation and cures Boils, Burns, Cuts, Eczema, Tetter, Ring Worm, and all skin diseases. A specific for blind, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles. The original and genuine Witch Hazel Salve is made by E. C. DeWitt & Co. and sold by Paules & Co.

Many Uses for Engine. The Borough traction engine proves to be a pretty useful piece of machinery. It is indeed quite surprising how many different uses it can be put to. It was originally employed in pumping water when the sewer was being dug. It was soon found that it could be used to an advantage as a steam pump in breaking up the hard macadam on streets that were to be paved. There was also work for it to do in operating the stone crusher when it came to furnishing material for concrete needed in street paving. Yesterday the old engine's sphere of usefulness was enlarged by being made to assist in digging the sewer extension on Lower Mulberry street. It could not go down into the trench, it is true, but was used to excellent advantage in cutting through the course of cinder and iron stone which forms the roadbed, dragging the plow backwards and forwards over the same spot until a deep furrow was formed, below which it was easy digging. By means of the engine yesterday the sewer took a big stride forward, the ground being broken up as far as Pine street.

Loss of Sleep Means Loss of Mind. Inability to Sleep is Nature's Plain Warning of an Exhausted Nervous System.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE PILLS. When you overwork any muscle or set of muscles they tire and must have rest. What is true of muscle is doubly true of the brain, as from it emanates all power to work, to act, to think. The brain is full of little cells that during the waking hours are never quiet in their efforts to furnish to every organ the power to do its duty. Too these little cells their rest at night—keep them at work all the time, and soon they tire, refuse to act, fail to generate nerve force, and the system goes to ruin. Tremors, sodas, faints, epines only hasten the end—they do not build up, they tear down. The true remedy, the only cure, lies in Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills, a medicine that restores, reinvigorates, and builds up by properly nourishing those overworked little cells, give them rest and quiet and enables one to sleep naturally and easily again.

Kindly Take Notice that Ely's Liquid Cream Balm is of great benefit to those sufferers from nasal catarrh who cannot inhale freely through the nose, but must treat themselves by spraying. Liquid Cream Balm differs in form, but not medicinally from the Cream Balm that has stood for years at the head of remedies for catarrh. It may be used in any nasal catarrh. The price including a spraying tube, is 75 cents. Sold by druggists and mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

Public Dance. A public dance will be held in Army Hall Saturday evening. Methers' orchestra will furnish the music. Admission 5c and 15c.

WORK ON BRIDGE APPROACH BE MADE

There is a very loud protest from the public relative to the approach to the Danville end of the river bridge. The County Commissioners and the Borough Council both have jurisdiction over the approach and unfortunately their views do not coincide.

The County Commissioners, who favor paving the roadway from wingwall to wingwall, seem to have the support of the public, while the Borough, which to carry out its idea has erected curbing for a sidewalk that goes no further than the Front street line, is very much criticized and ridiculed.

As arranged, the approach appears very odd, indeed, and the public can not become reconciled to it. The Borough's portion chiefly is condemned by the people, who claim that there is no sense whatever in the present arrangement—that the bit of pavement at the lower end of the approach serves no purpose whatever, but will prove only an obstacle and an annoyance, obliging people to step up and then after a couple of paces to step down again upon the level of the paved approach.

REPAIRS TO ENGLISH SOCIETY WOMEN.

A prominent London journal prints the following indictment of the habits of many English society women: "A generation back it was among the lower classes we found intemperance, and then it was the beer of the people which supplied the means; to-day we find intemperance rampant among the highest. The habit of society being alcoholic, impure and simple, vile concoctions labeled indifferently brandy, whiskey, gin. Our worried, jaded votaries of pleasure seek temporary recuperation from these impure sources; then, when their day is done, they resort to their sulphurous, tripartite, morphia or what not in the vain hope of a night's good rest. Another most appalling fact that we have to face is the rapid increase in the number of women among the intemperate."

Mr. Keefe having made the survey as requested the Borough Council has instructed the Street Commissioner to proceed with repairs, beginning work during the early part of this week. The intention is not to interfere with the trolley track, which in most instances, lies below the level of the street but to cut down the roadway until it conforms with the track.

An effort is also being made to have a street fixed up to suit the property owners and the public. The owners of property abutting will be notified in the course of a day or so of a joint meeting of themselves and the Borough Council, which will be held on the ground next Saturday evening, June 2, at 7 o'clock, when an effort will be made to come to some understanding with reference to the retaining wall on each side of the street, to which in their present form there is much objection. Those responsible for the improvements are anxious that the street shall be fixed up to fully protect owners of abutting property. To show their good intentions the trolley Company has suspended work and it will no doubt make every reasonable concession.

CHATEAUBRIAND IN LONDON. A Picture of the English Capital of a Century Ago. "All the English are mad by nature or by fashion," Chateaubriand writes unobscurely in the book of his emigration in London (1821), but he had a very gay time with the same lunatics. We hear of dinners, Almack's and le beau monde. "The day was thus distributed in London: At 6 o'clock in the morning one hastened to a party of pleasure, consisting of a breakfast in the country; one returned to lunch in London; one changed one's dress to walk in Bond street or Hyde park; one dressed again to dine at 7:30; one dressed again for the opera; at midnight one dressed once more for an evening party or rout. What a life of enchantments! I should a hundred times have preferred the gaiety of one's smiles and reads on. He found London full of recollections of Bonaparte. "The people had passed from the vilification of 'Nick' to a stupid enthusiasm. His colossal bust by Canova decorated the Duke of Wellington's staircase."

Summer Athletics. After a most successful winter season of activity in the Y. M. C. A. classes are beginning, as the warmer weather comes on, to turn their attention to open air sports. Nearly every branch of these open air amusements will be represented in the curriculum.

Base ball teams are being organized in the different classes and daily practice is being indulged in. The first game of the season will be played at DeWitt's Park on Friday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock between the senior and men's classes. For this game the seniors are practicing each afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the men at 6 o'clock. Members wishing to try for positions on the teams should present themselves for practice at DeWitt's Park at the time specified.

Lawn tennis also promises to be very popular this summer. The grounds on West Mahoning street were never in better condition, and already the courts are occupied every evening and often during the day time. The game develops agility and strength throughout the entire body, and as an exercise tennis is considered one of the best.

The cross-country walks which have been so enjoyable and profitable in the past will be resumed this summer. These walks are very beneficial. The start is usually made about 6:30 a. m. and the pedestrians after a two hours walk and a bath are ready to meet the duties of the day, and appreciate the joys of living.

It is expected that a swimming class will be formed this summer. Seven young men were taught to swim last summer, and it is hoped that many more will take advantage of the class this year. This class will be started as soon as the weather will permit, providing a suitable place can be secured.

A FAMOUS STAR GROUP. The constellation Orion in Legend and Literature. The constellation Orion is mentioned in the literature of all ages. In Egypt it represented Horus, the young or rising sun, in a boat surmounted by stars, and followed by Sirius, which was shown as a cow. It has also been found sculptured on the walls of Thebes 5,000 years ago. And on the men of that early time it shone down from the same position and with the same brightness as it does on us today, a striking example of the unchangeableness of the stars.

The loss of the Roman squadron in the first Punic war was ascribed to the fleet having sailed just after the rising of Orion. The group has also been employed as a calendar sign, its morning rising indicating the beginning of summer, its midnight rising the season of grape gathering, and its early evening rising the arrival of winter, with its attendant storms. In recent times the group has always represented a great hunter or warrior. Its present title came into Greek astronomy from the Babylonians and originally signified the light of heaven.

Henry VIII. and Puddings. Bluff King Hal, otherwise Henry VIII. of England, was exceedingly fond of puddings. He was once given a certain Mistress Cornwallis a house in Aldgate for herself and her heirs forever "in reward of fine puddings." In King Henry VIII's private accounts occur again and again entries of his rewards to different housewives for bringing good puddings. A typical instance runs thus: "Item. The same day paid to the wife that made the king puddings at Hampton court, vis. viijd." This would be about $1.75, but its value was much greater when the entry was made. This love for "fine puddings" explains much in the familiar rotund figure of King Hal.

A Matter of Gender. The English language is supposed to be very simple in the matter of genders, but foreigners who triumphantly handle questions of gender of innuendoes in their own languages often have their difficulties with the English. A Frenchman recently came to grief over his English. "I fear I cockroach too much upon your time, madame," he remarked politely to his hostess. "Is your husband?" "Why, yes, he is," she replied. "He threw up his hands in despair. 'Ah, your English gender—' signed."

Dumley Bewildered. Dumley—I never saw a man like Brixton to drift away from the subject under discussion. Barrass—As for instance? Dumley—I just asked him what he was doing in the night. I saw him down the road, and he evaded an answer by remarking that he had known people to get rich by attending to their own business. I have no doubt he has, but why should he mention it at that time? It reminded him.

The best remedy against a lapse of memory is the piece of thread tied about the finger. But there is a well authenticated case of a man whose wife tied a piece of thread around his finger in the morning to remind him to get his hair cut. On his way home to dinner he noticed the piece of thread. "Yes, I remember," he said, and smiling proudly, entered the usual shop and sat down before the accustomed artist. "Why, I cut your hair this morning, sir!" said the astonished barber.

Evidence at Hand. "Ah!" shrieked the man with the scanty hair, "Shakespeare spoke truly when he said, 'The evil that men do lives after them.'"

For, he had married the scanty haired man had recently married a widow with a few good teeth who was a terror—Chicago News.

The Main Point. "I will have a great deal to say when I get started," said the young congress-man.

"My friend," answered the veteran, "it isn't the man who has things to say that counts. It's the man who gets a chance to say them."—Washington Star.

Early Training. "We think baby will make a great politician."

"Why?"

"Well, he crawls out of everything so easily."—Puck.

The start is usually made about 6:30 a. m. and the pedestrians after a two hours walk and a bath are ready to meet the duties of the day, and appreciate the joys of living.

It is expected that a swimming class will be formed this summer. Seven young men were taught to swim last summer, and it is hoped that many more will take advantage of the class this year. This class will be started as soon as the weather will permit, providing a suitable place can be secured.

A FAMOUS STAR GROUP. The constellation Orion in Legend and Literature. The constellation Orion is mentioned in the literature of all ages. In Egypt it represented Horus, the young or rising sun, in a boat surmounted by stars, and followed by Sirius, which was shown as a cow. It has also been found sculptured on the walls of Thebes 5,000 years ago. And on the men of that early time it shone down from the same position and with the same brightness as it does on us today, a striking example of the unchangeableness of the stars.

The loss of the Roman squadron in the first Punic war was ascribed to the fleet having sailed just after the rising of Orion. The group has also been employed as a calendar sign, its morning rising indicating the beginning of summer, its midnight rising the season of grape gathering, and its early evening rising the arrival of winter, with its attendant storms. In recent times the group has always represented a great hunter or warrior. Its present title came into Greek astronomy from the Babylonians and originally signified the light of heaven.

Henry VIII. and Puddings. Bluff King Hal, otherwise Henry VIII. of England, was exceedingly fond of puddings. He was once given a certain Mistress Cornwallis a house in Aldgate for herself and her heirs forever "in reward of fine puddings." In King Henry VIII's private accounts occur again and again entries of his rewards to different housewives for bringing good puddings. A typical instance runs thus: "Item. The same day paid to the wife that made the king puddings at Hampton court, vis. viijd." This would be about $1.75, but its value was much greater when the entry was made. This love for "fine puddings" explains much in the familiar rotund figure of King Hal.

A Matter of Gender. The English language is supposed to be very simple in the matter of genders, but foreigners who triumphantly handle questions of gender of innuendoes in their own languages often have their difficulties with the English. A Frenchman recently came to grief over his English. "I fear I cockroach too much upon your time, madame," he remarked politely to his hostess. "Is your husband?" "Why, yes, he is," she replied. "He threw up his hands in despair. 'Ah, your English gender—' signed."

Dumley Bewildered. Dumley—I never saw a man like Brixton to drift away from the subject under discussion. Barrass—As for instance? Dumley—I just asked him what he was doing in the night. I saw him down the road, and he evaded an answer by remarking that he had known people to get rich by attending to their own business. I have no doubt he has, but why should he mention it at that time? It reminded him.

The best remedy against a lapse of memory is the piece of thread tied about the finger. But there is a well authenticated case of a man whose wife tied a piece of thread around his finger in the morning to remind him to get his hair cut. On his way home to dinner he noticed the piece of thread. "Yes, I remember," he said, and smiling proudly, entered the usual shop and sat down before the accustomed artist. "Why, I cut your hair this morning, sir!" said the astonished barber.

Evidence at Hand. "Ah!" shrieked the man with the scanty hair, "Shakespeare spoke truly when he said, 'The evil that men do lives after them.'"

For, he had married the scanty haired man had recently married a widow with a few good teeth who was a terror—Chicago News.
