COMMITTEE AT LARGE APPOINTED

7.55 A. M.

The Committee at Large to push the work of soliciting for the Soldiers' Monument has been appointed and will begin work immediately. The entire county will be handed over to the new committee, which will make a house to house canvass and will not give up until the necessary amount has been raised.

Hon. James Foster, Chairman of the Soldiers' Monument Committee, anticipates gratifying results with the Committee at Large in the field. On the Committee are H. A. Kneibler, a veteran of the Civil War and Frank G. Schoch, a patriotic young townsman, both of whom have a wide acquaintance throughout Danville and Montour County.

The Soldiers' Monument Committee has labored very diligently, but it has met with many disappointments. Nevertheless a considerable sum of money has been subscribed quite sufficient to put the enterprise on its feet. Under the circumstances the Committee has no thought of abandoning the proposition, without additional effort. It is earnestly hoped that the two men just appointed may be able to pull the work through to a successful

It would be too bad if little Montour with its inspiring war record should be one of the very few counties in the State that is to have no soldiers' monument. Obviously a great deal, if not all, rests with the citizens. If the people show a willingness to subscribe and extend the proper encouragement the committee will be sure to succeed, while on the other hand it will require at this crisis a very little of the opposite treatment to discourage the solicitors and to chill the whole enterprise.

20 Years in Lumber Regions.

W. A. Pickard, of Potter county, is visiting his sisters, the Misses Pickard, Vine street. Mr. Pickard spent his boyhood in this city but during the last twenty-eight years he has cast his Loss of Sleep Means Loss lot with the lumbermen in the northern part of the State. While he has followed the forest, the frontier has been carried further and further back. During his time he has seen whole counties cleared up and he yesterday stated that judging from what remains DR. A. W. CHASE'S and the rapidity with which the forests are being eaten up under the improved methods of lumbering he did not think after six or seven years much if any timber will be left in this State.

He likes the free and unconvention and pure water combine to make all men healthful; the water especially, which cold as ice and clear and uncon taminated bubbles from the ground in the denth of the forest has no equal is only when the seeds of disease are brought from the centers of civilization that there is any sickness in the lumber camps.

Pennies Imbedded in Concrete. T. L. Evans' Sons vesterday put th finishing touches on the fine concrete steps and pavement in front of Carl Litz's restaurant, Mill street. No finer piece of work can be seen anywhere.

The concrete steps are a real novelthe steps as well as on the platform above and on the walk below are a large number of pennies, old fashioned copper coins as well as modernlooking pennies recently coined. While these are securely embedded in the cement one side, flush with the surface is of course exposed and it is herein that the novelty lies. The pennies, of course, will be worn bright under many feet. The visitor's first impression will be that here is money by the wholesale to be had for the picking up and his mind may not be disabased until he stoops down and lays his fing ers upon the coppers.

The pennies were furnished for the novel purpose by Mr. Litz's numerous friends, who were lingering at the spot while the work was in progress spot while the work was in progress to see that a good job was done by the workmen. will have an opportunity of seeing them and of watching them as they develop.

The walls of course, constitute the biggest half of the work, and as soon as they are completed or even before, put to great inconvenience, with the roadway in its present shape, and if there is a good sound excuse for postponing the approach any longer then the public would like to hear it. The news that the walls are likely to begin in such a short time will be joyously received.

J. H. Kase has elevated his warehouses on the east side of the approach so as to be on a level with the road way. The lower warehouse has been placed alongside the other two buildings near the barber shop. The buildfrom the building line, are supported Coaching the Farmers.

Five days of farmers' institutes will be held in Northumberland county. under the auspices of the State Department of Agriculture during the season of 1905-1906.

These institutes will be directed by Deputy Secretary Martin, who has arranged to hold 400 days of institutes during the season.

Mr. Martin has divided the State into six sections, and he will send a corps of three lecturers into each section. Thomas J. Phillips and Prof. W. W. Cooke will attend all the meetings in this section. Dr. H. B. Pashore, of West Fairview, and William F. Hill, worthy master of the State Grange, will be among the additional lecturers in this section.

Mr. Martin is also arranging to hold a series of practical schools, each to continue from three to five days, for the purpose of giving actual object lessons in the leading lines of farm operations as carried on in the State. In a dairy section an expert instructor will be engaged to take up the actual process of buttermaking, going through the entire affairs of handling the milk and finishing the butter for market.

A class of dairymen will be organized in each section and a portion of the same will be devoted to visiting dairy farms, examining practices as to the management of the herd and ventilation and sanitary conditions of the barns.

Mr. Martin believes this work promises great results for the improvement of the great dairy interests of this State. Similar schools will be held along the lines of horticulture and the poultry interests.

Following is a schedule of the institutes to be held in this locality during the coming season: Elysburg, January 10-11; McEwensville, January 12-13; Paradise, Jan-

Reckless Autoing.

A Connecticut judge has rendered : decision in an automobile case which will be a relief to the automobile own rs, who contend that each case should e decided upon the evidence submitted to the court, and not on the general principle which prevails in some communities that the automobile is a danger which must be suppressed. The defendant in the case in question had een arrested in the town of Stamford for driving his machine through the outskirts of the town faster than the Connecticut statute allows-12 miles an hour. His defense was that he was not disobeying the law intentionally, but was trying to get his car down to the speed limit when the officer held him up. After the evidence was heard he was fined $1. In the decision Judge Downs, while properly upholding the statute as a salutary one, its purpose being to prevent the running of motor vehicles in such a manner as to endanger life and property, declared that its enforcement should be marked by the exercise of good sense, and that severe penalties should be imposed only where the evidence shows that the spirit of the law has been violated. This decision has been widely approved and will probably be followed by courts in other states.

This is a Strange Case.

Although the public at large is unware of the fact, it seems, according to attempts that have been made with in the past week, that a determined effort has been made to assassinate Nelson Hoover, a Shamokin young man, who is now a patient in the Mary Packer Hospital, Sunbury, where he is suffering from a bullet wound in the left hand.

While returning from Hickory Ridge colliery two weeks ago Hoover was attacked on the nill near Maysville by fellow he believed to be a Ger man. The fellow held in his hand a stiletto and would have cut him into pieces had it not been for a penknife with which the victim defended himself. As it was he was frightfully cut about the chest before the would-be murderer fled upon the approach of miners.

Hoover says it was precisely the same fellow who attacked him at the rear of Mullen's foundry last Saturday night. The villain had a companion and they threw a bag over the victim's head while he was on his way to the Grand Hotel, where he boards. Being of a strong constitution he fought his assailants in a desperate manner and while wrestling a revolver from one of the highwaymen who robbed him he was shot in the left wrist is a conspicuous object at night. It is He is slowly recovering at the hospital but it is feared he will lose the use of one of his fingers.

Experience has taught that a pavement of this kind is sufficiently durable for any thoroughfare where the traffic is no heavier than on East Market street. The cost will be $2 per lineal foot as against some $4 which was the cost on Mill street.

One of the petitions covers the space between Mill street and Church street the other between Church and Rail oad streets. A third petition rumor ed of takes in the distance between Railroad and Nassau streets.

There is scarcely any doubt but that East Market street between Mill street and Railroad street will be paved. The portion of the street on which Market Square abuts has led to some complications in getting ready for paving, but no evidence of life. He was carried the difficulty here will probably be to the house and a messenger despatchovercome by the Burgess affixing his ed for Dr. Montgomery, of Blooms signature representing the property

The time is short enough and the work will have to be pushed along if the street is to be paved before win ter. The trolley company is entitled to a notice of 60 days in order to enable it to take up the present rail and replace it with one suitable for pave ment. However, the setting of the curb can proceed during the interim, which is the only branch of the work that it will be necessary to complete before frost. As no concrete will be ased the brick can be laid up to the ery advent of winter.

It has been ascertained that with probably two or three exceptions nonof the trees growing on East Market street will be in the way of paying and these can be permitted to remain.

Mr. Reichelderfer, who was at the rear of the wagon manipulating the brake, was unable to do anything to prevent the ronaway. His first thought was for Mr. Mowry, who was lying where the wheel had passed over him. Assisting him to arise he asked him whether he was seriously hurt. Mr. Mowry replied:

"Yes, I think I am."

It was decided, however, that Mr. Reichelderfer should leave the injured man and pursue the runaway team. Capturing the latter he called William Fry, who lives on the farm adjoining, and who, accompanied by Mrs. Mowry, wife of the injured man, hurried to the spot where he lay and found him unconscious with little or burg. Long before the physician's ar rival, however, the fact was establish ed that the man was dead. The wheel of the heavily loaded wagon had passed over his body in the region of the abdomen and the supposition is tha his back was broken.

The deceased was 56 years of age and is survived by a wife and two sons Clyde, aged 14 and John, aged 8 years. Mrs. J. P. Weaver, of Toby Run Hollow is a sister of the deceased. An aged mother also survives, who lives with Mrs. Weaver.

DANVILLE WINS THIRD GAME

Danville A. A. with McCloud in fine form, and the balance of the team

playing errorless ball, succeeded in winning the third game of the championship series from Bloomsburg at DeWitt's Park Friday afternoon. Lovers of the game who failed to see yesterday.'s contest missed a fine exhioition, and that the game is not bettar natronized when the team is playing gilt edge ball cannot be accounted for. McCloud held the visitors down to two hits for eight innings, but eassevere braise on the leg from being sheaves and the man struck the horses hit by a ball. In the ninth inning Bloomsburg succeeded in getting two men across the plate. The features of the game were the second base play of Price the first base play of Shannon, and the remarkable stops made by Ross at third. Coutts led the hitting with three hits to his credit while Gosh, Ross and Hummer secured two each. The management had intended to pitch Coutts, but on account of his hard work in a game on Thursday, it was
