ANDREWS RUNS UP THE FLAG

Opposition's Forces Are Divided Over Bitter Rows Among Democrats and Prohibitionists.

(Special Correspondence.) Philadelphia, Aug. 29.

The headquarters of the Republican state committee were formally opened this week, and the campaign for the election of the Republican state ticket has been inaugurated under the most favorable conditions.

A large force of clerks have been put to work, and a staff of stenographers are kept busy until late every night turning out the heavy mail, to which Chairman Wesley R. Andrews gives personal attention.

Owing to the fact that the preliminary work of the canvass was started unusually early this year, matters are in shape to begin active and strenuous campaigning without interruption of any kind.

"We have run up our flag, we have our forces thoroughly organized, we are prepared for a sharp and aggressive campaign and we have not the slightest doubt about the outcome," declared Colonel Andrews, as he sat at his desk at the state headquarters.

"We are confident by the same old enemy," he continued, "although a desperate attempt is being made to make it appear otherwise, and we intend to administer one of those same old kickings which we have been giving them as they confront us at the polls year after year. The Republican ticket will be triumphant this fall as usual, and the majorities will be quite up to the average for an off-year campaign."

Fusion Game Falls. The Democrats and their insurgent Republican allies have been making a play for a fusion campaign in Pennsylvania this fall, but they have not been successful in their efforts.

While they did get the Democrats to put Justice on their ticket for the supreme court nomination, this act was not only pleasing to the stalwart Republicans because it demonstrated the wisdom of their action in nominating Justice Stewart, but also because it has disrupted the Democracy.

There are thousands of Democrats who will not vote for a Republican under any circumstances. They always resent the placing of a Republican on the Democratic ticket.

When this is done they generally remain away from the polls. If they do not do that, they vote for the Democrats on their ticket and cut the Republicans who may be put on their ticket to encourage fusion schemes.

This year the Democracy, what is left of it, in Pennsylvania is in a very bad way. They not only have a Republican, Justice Stewart, at the head of their ticket, but they also have a Prohibitionist, W. H. Berry, running for state treasurer.

There are already being organized anti-Berry Democratic clubs by old-line Democrats who cannot stand for a Prohibitionist. Democrats of the Jacksonville school in counties like Schuylkill, Berks, Luzerne, Lackawanna, Westmoreland, Northampton, Pike, Carbon and elsewhere resent the nomination of Prohibitionist Berry and propose to assert themselves at the coming election by voting for J. Lee Plummer, the Republican candidate for state treasurer.

They intend that James M. Guffey, the "boss" of the state Democracy, shall be taught a lesson at the coming election, and that it shall be impressed upon him that he cannot command the Democrats of Pennsylvania to vote for either Republicans or Prohibitionists to serve his own selfish purposes.

They say that if they are to vote for any candidates other than Democrats they reserve to themselves the right to select such candidates themselves. Democratic leaders, they argue, are chosen to elect Democrats to office, not Prohibitionists or members of any other party.

A Pretty Fight, This. This is a pretty fight that has sprung up among the Democrats. It not only disgusts the Democratic leaders, but it is a supreme disappointment to the sorehead Republicans or so-called insurgents who had hoped that the Democrats would be united in support of Berry, whose campaign they have been counting upon to help them in their local factional games in several counties in which they are fighting the regular Republican nominees.

With the Democracy hopelessly divided over their state ticket, and with a number of Democratic county leaders up in arms against Guffey's bossism, there can be no effective fusion campaigning in any county in the state this fall.

The Prohibition state convention, with its sensational scenes over the brutal tactics resorted to in the scheming resulting in the nomination of Berry for state treasurer, furnishes additional cause for alarm and chagrin among the fusion conservatives. When they announced in landing Guffey for the nomination of Berry by the Democratic state convention, the next move was to hunt for delegates among the Prohibitionists. Through insurgent Republican influences in this city, the Philadelphia delegation to the Prohibition state convention was thus up for Berry, and this, with other delegations under like control, gave the nucleus for a Berry movement in the Williamsport Prohibition convention.

The bitter and personal attacks upon Berry which were made upon the floor of the Prohibition state convention were not anticipated, and the large vote polled against his nomination was a complete surprise to the fusion crowd.

Since the adjournment of the Williamsport convention, hundreds of the most prominent and influential Prohibitionists in the state have publicly declared that they will not vote for Berry for state treasurer, and others have gone so far as to announce that this year they are going to vote the full Republican ticket.

Berry's Coat of Many Colors. They say they have not renounced the cause of Prohibition, but they look upon Berry as an office-seeking jobber, who has successfully espoused the cause of free silver, Bryanism, free trade, Parkerism, and now is a Prohibitionist, and no one knows what next he will advocate in order to land in a fat state office. A large majority of Prohibitionists of Pennsylvania sympathize with Republicanism, and from their views on the prohibition of the liquor traffic. If they cannot get sincere and loyal Prohibitionists to vote for the chances are that they will support the Republican nominees.

There has been much indignation expressed at the manipulation by the Democrats and insurgent Republican leaders which resulted in the endorsement of Berry at Williamsport, and the returns at the coming election are bound to show a falling off of the Prohibition vote for the candidate for state treasurer.

Meanwhile, with the Democrats and the Prohibitionists at odds over the selection of Berry, the Republicans throughout the state are supporting their candidate for state treasurer, J. Lee Plummer, with enthusiasm, and his election by an overwhelming majority is confidently predicted by State Chairman Andrews.

NEW JOURNAL WAS INSTALLED

The new journal to take the place of the one accidentally burned out at the electric light plant was completed by Curry & Company yesterday afternoon and at once installed in its place.

In order to insure that it filled the bill in every respect the plant was started up and run for two hours. Nothing occurred to indicate any defect.

Accordingly the plant was started up last evening and we had electric light during the night, which was most highly appreciated indeed after the trying experience of the couple of nights preceding, when the streets were without a ray of light and it was next to impossible without the aid of a lantern to find one's way anywhere about town. It is unfortunate that the mishap should have occurred just at a time when there is no moon in the sky.

The accident illustrates the necessity of having two dynamos so that when anything happens one of them the other can be thrown on and the lights kept burning. It is not improbable that another dynamo will be installed by and by. To leave the town in total darkness might prove a serious thing under some circumstances.

FINDING OF BODY MAY DISCLOSE A MURDER

From present indications, the finding of the mangled body of an unknown man near Lewistown, on the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks, Monday morning, will result in a murder sensation.

The man had apparently been run down by a passenger train, and had been dragged a mile.

Along the tracks in the ditch, 200 yards from where the body had been first struck, was found a pool of blood and a blood soaked handkerchief, club with blood marks on it, and evidence in the cinders of a scuffle. Although the trail could not be traced, it is thought the man was murdered and thrown in front of an east bound passenger train to hide the evidence of the crime.

J. C. Harshbarger, a track walker, identified the remains as being those of a man to whom he was talking at midnight at Horningford Station. He says the stranger was in company with another man and that both were slightly under the influence of liquor, and spoke of being en route to some number on Fifth street, Reading, Pa.

The dead man was of medium build and height, smooth of face, with black hair and eyes, and was dressed in a blue serge suit, percale shirt and patent leather shoes. Everything on his person was neat and clean, and he had the appearance of being a man of good circumstances. Although the lid of a jewelry box was found in his pocket, and an Eagle button was on his coat, the box and its contents were missing and his official record, without which no Eagle travels, was also missing.

The Hazleton, Weatherly and Mauch Chunk trolley project is dead, with but meagre possibilities of its revival. The projectors of the new road have worked unceasingly to secure the full right of way, without success. When they failed, in this respect, the men who had consented to finance the project also withdrew. It is safe to say now that the road will not be constructed for some time to come, if ever.—Mt. FRENCH PRAISE THE PRESIDENT

PARIS, Aug. 30.—The French newspapers this morning devote lengthy and eulogistic editorials to President Roosevelt. The President is the hero of the hour—indeed little mention is made of Emperor Nicholas. The "Matin" says:

"Roosevelt is the great victor. He forced the belligerents who were strangling one another to meet on neutral grounds with the same tranquility that he displayed on the eve of the battle at the head of his Rough Riders. He tackled the respective delegates of the belligerent parties, facing Japan cupidity and Russian intransigence, with the same disdain for diplomatic usages as when he was charging the trenches with his slouch hat on the ground and a white handkerchief around his neck. He is the great victor of this battle of giants."

The "Petit Journal" says: "All honor is due to President Roosevelt. As the promoter of this conference, he is a benefactor to humanity."

The "Petit Parisien" says: "The result is due to one man, President Roosevelt. The Russians and Japanese and the whole world owe a debt of gratitude to him."

The "Figaro" says: "Japan has shown moderation in her hour of victory. She understood that a peace which humiliates cannot be a lasting peace."

Gil Blas says: "The Russians were beaten unceasingly and could not continue the war. Peace had to be signed and President Roosevelt listened to his conclusion."

Large Enrollments.

We are informed that the Literary Institute and State Normal School, at Bloomsburg, Pa., is enrolling large numbers of students in its various departments for the ensuing year.

This school is increasing in popularity every year. Not only does it attract because of its high standard of excellence, but also because the school's reputation is so excellent and far-reaching that young people educated there have the best chance for positions. We advise young people to send for catalogue.

Fines From Dogs.

In less than two months since the dog ordinance went into effect 156 unlicensed dogs have been captured by the municipal dog catchers and of these over 150 were asphyxiated at the city dog pound in Wetzel's swamp.

Eleven of the captured dogs were returned, which alone brought a revenue of $5 apiece into the city treasury. The dog law in this city will likely become a paying investment since over one thousand dog licenses ranging from $1 to $3 have been bought of the city treasurer.

So far 662 $3 licenses and 451 $1 and $2 licenses have been taken out by owners of dogs in this city.

Although the dog catchers have been unusually active in corraling the unlicensed dogs there are plenty of them yet running at large. The capture of an unlicensed dog is not an easy task. The dog catchers are supplied with net fastened to a circular iron hoop and they throw this over the dog if they get near enough to him. Usually two men accompany the dog wagon and they jointly contrive to inveigle the dog into the net—Harrisburg Star-Independent.

The Spelling of It.

Informed during his recent visit to Wilkes-Barre of the derivation of the city's name from Colonel Wilkes and Barre, famous American sympathizers and the disposers of the people that the Postal Department should have ordered the change of the spelling to "Wilkesbarre." President Roosevelt said he would look into the matter and word was received Friday announcing that the President had ordered the name changed and the Postal Department would hereafter officially recognize it as "Wilkes-Barre."

Russia has everything to gain by negotiating peace now. If she don't Japan will gain what Russia will lose.

BELIEVE CASH IS FACTOR IN TREATY

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 29.—There is a growing suspicion that Russia has agreed to pay to Japan a sum of money in lieu of a cash indemnity. Upon what it is based or how large the amount cannot of course be learned.

There was a very significant feature of yesterday's conference of the envoys that has almost been lost sight of. It was the dismissal of the secretaries during certain deliberations over some of the Japanese demands which had been left open from a previous meeting.

Why this secrecy should have been maintained if it was a clear case of the delivery of an ultimatum and its acceptance is a mystery incapable of solution at this time. It is understood that the envoys deliberated in the strictest privacy for over an hour.

Another suspicious feature is the smoothness with which the negotiations were conducted on a question which has been the stumbling block since the first meeting, namely that of indemnity. From the most accurate reports it appears that M. Witte laid down an ultimatum which was accepted promptly by the Japanese envoys.

This may have been due to the fact that the Japanese had become thoroughly convinced that further parley on this dispute demand would be futile.

The Japanese envoys yesterday entered into a traffic arrangement with the Russians whereby direct communications will be established between the Chinese Eastern railway which is now Japanese property and the Siberian Manchurian railroad, which belongs to Russia in order to provide through transportation for freight and passengers.

It hardly seems possible that any indemnity could be concealed in that arrangement but it must be remembered that equal treatment of Russia on the eastern Chinese railway would prove a valuable concession for which it is not improbable that Russia would be willing to pay handsomely. The oriental mind is a crafty one. Then again the exact details relative to the understanding reached on the rail road demand is being hedged about with more or less secrecy.

It is hardly probable that such an arrangement will be written into the treaty but it is quite possible, in the opinion of some observers, that at a future date it may be found that Japan is obtaining from Russia financial advantages which while of great value have not been disclosed at this conference.

The canning season is at its height in lower Delaware. Owing to the scarcity of tomatoes, canners have doubled their price per basket; where they agreed to give but 10 cents per basket, they are now giving 20 cents, and the probabilities are that even a higher price will be paid before the season is closed.
