

The circulation of this paper is increasing rapidly. It will pay you to advertise in the AMERICAN.

SUBSCRIPTION $1 PER YEAR

DR. IRVING H. JENNINGS,
— DENTIST —

Office Hours
9 A. M. to 12 M. 104 Mill St.,
1 P. M. to 4 P. M. Danville, Pa.

C. SHULTZ, M.
425 Mill St., DANVILLE, PA.
Diseases of the Stomach and Intestines
a Specialty

DR. W. P. ANGLE,
— DENTIST —
OFFICE: 218 MILL STREET.
Extractions without Pain
Crown and Bridge Work a Specialty.
Equipped with the latest and most improved
Justly and properly prepared to execute the most

DR. C. H. REYNOLDS,
— DENTIST —

288 Mill St., Danville, Pa.

Dentistry in all its branches. Charge
Moderate and all work Guaranteed
Established 1892

CONDENSED NEWS.

Take the moth balls out of that overcoat.

Every man owes it to himself and his family to master a trade or profession. Read the display advertisement of the six Morse Schools of Telegraphy, in this issue and learn how easily a young man or lady may learn telegraphy and be assured a position.

The fish commissioner has decided that it is unlawful to fish with more than one pole and one line, and the law gives game warden and constables authority to arrest without warrant any person caught fishing illegally.

A number of automobile touring parties are visiting Danville during these Fall days.

Great crops of everything, remarkable activity in the industrial world and tranquility at home and abroad ought to conspire to make the next year or two the most prosperous in the history of the nation.

Some of the Mill street merchants are much annoyed by persons pilfering goods from outside displays.

The big culvert near the Reading station is being built entirely by local labor.

The Shamokin High School hazards push the West Pointers pretty hard for first place.

The hold ups and other outrages that are being committed in this vicinity are becoming almost too numerous for comfort.

There is some hope of an amicable conference between the coal operators and miners in the anthracite region before the termination of the 1902 agreement. Consideration for the consuming public would dictate such a course at this time.

Miss Alice Roosevelt's portrait on a Japanese postcard is the latest tribute of the Mikado's people to the President's daughter. The picture shows Miss Roosevelt wearing a long white coat and a white hat trimmed with owl's head and wings. Underneath is a Japanese inscription explaining that she is the American princess.

The more improved roads that are constructed the greater the demand there will be for more. It is encouraging to know that the people are beginning to see the necessity for better highways.

The festive burglar is still pursuing his vocation industriously in the towns of this section. According to the report they get little or nothing. We might suggest to these tradesmen in a hazardous occupation that the same amount of energy and industry devoted to an honest calling would be more fruitful in financial returns.

Interest in politics indicates good citizenship. It is the concern of every man.

The picnic and the snake story are both getting ready for a long rest.

The greatest weakness of American railroads are the human agencies employed.

Make Your Grocer Give You Guaranteed Cream of Tartar Baking Powder

Alum Baking Powders interfere with digestion and are unhealthful. Avoid the alum.

Montour

"THIS COUNTRY WILL NEVER BE ENTIRELY FREE UNTIL IT SUPPLIES ALL OF ITS OWN DEMANDS WITH ITS OWN PRODUCTIONS."

VOL. 50—NO 37.

DANVILLE, PA., THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 14, 1905.

ESTABLISHED IN 1855

FIVE EMPLOYEES BADLY BURNED

There was an alarm of fire yesterday afternoon, which originated in an accident at the Stove Works. The firemen were not needed, but five men were badly burned and wholesale damage was narrowly averted.

The accident was caused by the bottom dropping out of the cupola, the upright furnace used for melting the iron to be used in the manufacture of stove plates. The accident was utterly unlooked for, being of a kind seldom heard of in foundries, owing to the precautions taken to prevent such an occurrence.

It was about 2:35 o'clock. The cupola had been charged with its usual quantity of iron, some 36,000 pounds. The blast had just been turned on, and the melting process had begun. John Sherwood, a "day man," according to custom stood at the spent ready to take first iron. The other moulders with their ladles in hand stood in a semi-circle about the cupola awaiting their turn. Suddenly, without a moment's warning, the bottom plates, which open downward and are supported by a heavy iron bar, gave way and the entire charge of eighteen tons dropped to the ground. The bottom of the cupola is some three feet from the ground and as the heavy charge fell a dense flame of fire shot out on all sides ten or twelve feet from the cupola and enveloped the workmen. There was scarcely one that escaped burns, while five were very painfully injured.

John Sherwood, who stood directly in front of the cupola waiting for the first iron, which was just beginning to run, received the brunt of the explosion and was the most seriously injured. His worst burns are about the arms and head. The skin on his neck and arms seemed literally roasted.

John Jenkins was injured only a little less seriously than Sherwood. In addition to very painful injuries on his arms, neck and face he was burned about the body.

Nicholas Hill was burned about the hands and face.

Fred Wendell, the cupola tender, was also painfully burned about the face and hands.

Charles Sandley, the engineer, was standing immediately behind the cupola and was struck by the flame of fire and sustained bad burns about the face and hands.

When the bottom first dropped and the flames shot out on all sides there seemed to be nothing to prevent the woodwork of the foundry from igniting and one of the workmen ran over to the Washington Hose House and gave an alarm. In a few minutes there was a general ringing of fire bells throughout the Borough, in response to which each of the fire companies started out to head the scene of the fire. The first flash as the bottom fell was all that occurred and the red hot mass lay in a heap under the cupola out of reach of any combustible material. The Washington Hose Company was the only one that reached the Stove Works, before it learned that the services of the firemen were not needed.

Meanwhile everything possible was being done for the injured workmen with such means as were at hand at the plant to temporarily relieve their sufferings and prepare them for their journey home where they would receive help from their family physician. No kinder or more sympathetic men are to be found anywhere than the wage-earners of our big industrial plants, who are very anxious to do all they can for each other when misfortune overtakes them in the hard struggle for a livelihood. As was revealed at the Stove Works yesterday there are in the ranks there not a few who are first class nurses and the injured men after some delay were wrapped and bandaged in a way that would not have reflected badly on professionals. When all was ready the large wagon of the Stove Works was placed at the disposal of the injured men and they were loaded up and driven to their respective homes.

W. A. Secher, General Manager of the Stove Works, in an interview last evening stated that he was utterly unable to assign a cause for the accident. Another day he said might throw some light on the mystery. Frederick Wendell, he said, had been in the employ of the Company as cupola tender for twelve years and was a thoroughly careful and trustworthy man.

Funeral of Michael Rosenstein.

The funeral of Michael Rosenstein took place yesterday at Sunbury, the remains being brought to this city for burial.

The funeral services were held at the home of Julius Mueschlein at 12:30 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. O'Boyle, pastor of the German Reformed church. The remains were brought to South Danville on the 2:21 train accompanied by the following members of Lieutenant William A. Bruner Post, G. A. R. of Sunbury: General George B. Catwaller, Theodore Chester, George Simpson, William Bastian and John W. Eubler.

The funeral party was met at South Danville by representatives of Goodrich Post No. 22, G. A. R., and the local encampment of Odd Fellows. The following acted as pallbearers: Harry Kearns, George Reilly, John H. Hunt, Benton B. Brown, Samuel Morrill and Peter Bayler. The cortege proceeded to the Odd Fellows' cemetery where interment was made.

TRUANT OFFICER'S HARD LINES

The life of the truant officer is not "one sweet song" under the most favorable circumstances. The bad boy who plays truant may not love his books, nor his teacher, but "hate" is the only word that will describe the feeling that rankles in his bosom as the truant officer like a lurking shadow looms up in his rear and the boy who is taking a day off invents profane and offensive epithets, which he hurls at the weary officer as he leads him a merry chase through the back alleys and over the ravines of the Fourth Ward. Neither is the officer always received with smiles when he visits the parental home to inform the one in authority there that Johnny or Willie is delinquent and there are cases on record when he did not prolong the discussion but left very unceremoniously. All those things it must be confessed, are very discouraging when a man is simply doing his duty by carrying out a law enacted for the good of both the individual and the Commonwealth.

Just now Officer Young is having an especially hard time of it owing to the change of the law, which raises the age at which a child may leave school from thirteen years to fourteen years. It would seem that a large proportion of people who desire their children to leave school and go to work are not familiar with the change of law and the limit they have in their mind is "thirteen" years. It devolves upon the officer to inform them wherein they are wrong and what must be done to comply with the law. It is this task which makes his life so strenuous just now, for a good many children affected by the change are out of school and there are instances in which the parents seemingly would rather not be convinced. In several cases opposition has reached such a pass that the officer declares he will have to invoke the aid of the law to compel the parents to send their children to school another year.

The change of law was set forth in these columns several months ago. It is now a misdemeanor to employ a minor under fourteen years of age or to employ one between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years unless he or she produces a properly executed certificate, setting forth that the minor is able to read and write simple sentences in the English language and has complied with the educational law of the Commonwealth. It is fully therefore, to keep a child under fourteen or even under sixteen if unable to read or write, out of school, hoping to find employment for him or her, as the Superintendent would not be empowered to issue a certificate in such a case and without such certificate employment in mills would be out of the question.

School Board in Session.

The School Board held a regular meeting Monday. The members present were: Adams, Trumbower, Harpel, Parsel, Barnes, Fischer, Werkheiser, Grono, VanBloom, Orth and Heiss.

Mr. Orth reported that one bid had been received for the Depot school property.

The treasurer presented his report, which showed a cash balance on hand of $8671.39. Mr. Fischer, of the Building and Repair Committee, reported that all repairs ordered had been made at the different school buildings.

Mr. Trumbower reported that the chairs ordered have been in part delivered.

On motion it was ordered that ten dollars be appropriated to purchase supplies for the Department of Zoology.

Mr. Burns reported that curtains are needed in all the rooms. On motion the Building and Supply Committee was instructed to take the matter under consideration.

A change of the short hand system in the Commercial Department as recommended by Mr. Magill was approved by the Board.

The following bills were approved for payment:

William Miller	$ 1.50
Danville Stove Co	42.82
William Asten	13.02
F. P. Startzel	2.90
Standard Gas Co	2.80
Morning News	4.00
U. S. Express Co	2.70
Emery Shultz	1.65
C. P. Hancock	1.45
W. M. Seidel	1.45
South Premier Type Writer Co	70.00
Power & Lyons	4.40
Educational Publishing Co	9.72
Charles Scribner & Sons	8.00
American Book Co	218.12
American Book Co	134.99
Maynard Merrill & Co	38.35
Henry Holt & Co	2.11
Isaac Pitman & Sons	12.69
Thompson, Brown & Co	14.00
Practical Text Book Co	20.00
Roberts & Meek	269.08
D. C. Williams	4.25

Mexican War Veteran Dead.

Peter Scott, an aged veteran of the war with Mexico, died suddenly last week at his residence at Allowood.

Mr. Scott was aged eighty-two years, and is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mary.

Mr. Scott had been drawing a pension of $30 per month, which was granted by a special act of Congress.

This leaves one Mexican soldier survivor out of four—Henry Shadle, the other three having passed away within the past two years.

REMAINED BACK TO JAIL

The hearing in the Habeas Corpus proceedings instituted to secure the release of Elmer Haldeman charged with assault and attempt to rob in connection with the hold-up at the hotel of W. H. N. Walker on the evening of July 3, 1905, took place in the Court House Monday eve before Judge Staples, of Monroe county. The hearing was conducted very expeditiously, and occupied but little more than 30 minutes. The writ, however, was dismissed and the defendant was remanded to the custody of the Sheriff.

A good deal of interest centered in the proceedings and a large crowd assembled in the Court room. The first witness called was W. H. N. Walker, the owner of the hotel that was invaded on the evening of July 3rd. He related the incidents of the hold-up as printed in these columns at the time, explaining that while he recognized Barrett, whose mask he pulled off, he was not sure as to the identity of the other man.

The next witness was Richard McCormick. It was upon his testimony that the most interest centered, as it was he who identified Haldeman. McCormick briefly related what he knew concerning the hold-up. He was in Kemmer's hotel, he said, when Mr. Walker's son came running in with the news that his father was held up and along with Harry Waite and Sam Haas, was making his way to Walker's hotel when they were met by two men each having a revolver who held them up and demanded to know what they wanted. One of the men he recognized as Barrett, and the other as Haldeman. McCormick and his companions halted for a moment while Barrett and the man with him ran down the alley by Walker's hotel.

McCormick was not at all doubtful in the matter. He emphatically stated that he recognized Haldeman in the man who stood by the side of Barrett when the latter drew the revolver and a moment later ran down the alley with Barrett. The mask which the fellow wore in the hotel had then dropped from his face and rested on his shoulders. In this belief he could not be shaken in cross examination and repeated that he was positive that the man was Haldeman.

Arthur Walker also testified. He told a story that was exciting enough in its detail but it lacked any evidence that would fasten the crime on Haldeman, for while his father succeeded in pulling the mask from the face of one of the men the other kept his countenance concealed.

The Court was briefly addressed by District Attorney Ralph Kiser, who claimed that a prima facie case had been made out. He was briefly followed by the State's Attorney, who also claimed that he was positive that the man was Haldeman.

At no point did the proceedings lay the Court recalled Richard McCormick and asked him a few questions as to the location of Walker's hotel in its relation to the alley and then laconically said:

"I think we will hold this man."

The court then proceeded to make the order formally. He asked Haldeman whether he could prepare bail, and finding that he could not be directed that he be remanded to the custody of the Sheriff to be produced at Court for trial on September 25th.

Electric Signals Being Installed.

Electric signals are being installed at Center street and Spruce street crossings by the P. & R. Railway Company. At Bloom street crossing the watchman at present on duty will be retained.

A crew of expert workmen under William J. Henry of Reading, Chief of Line-men of the P. & R. Company, appeared in this city yesterday morning and began work on the system. Very good progress was made and Mr. Henry yesterday afternoon stated that if nothing unforeseen occurs by tonight the work will be completed and the jingling bells at both of the above named crossings will announce the approach of the trains.

Without a technical knowledge it would be difficult to explain or to understand just how the system in all its details operates. Suffice it to say that the bells installed at each crossing will be kept ringing continuously while trains are passing either way between two points, marked by the location of "circuit breakers," one of which is a hundred yards east of Bloom street crossing and the other about the same distance west of Spruce street.

Greater Alarm at Springfield.

The alarm over the threatened cave-in at the upper end of Springfield is becoming greater, as the ground is slowly sinking and the water remains in place. Tuesday night the house of Peter Oberfalk sunk six inches, and is so badly tilted that the doors cannot be opened. He is fearful that the house will be engulfed and is preparing to move his goods.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

Miss Ruth Getkin, of Harrisburg, is the guest of Miss Ella Snyder, Grand street.

J. Mont. Woodside, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Woodside, Mowrey street.

Mrs. Jacob Dietz and daughter Miss Lots have returned from a visit with relatives in Atlantic City.

Miss Florence Scheidt has returned to her home in Hazleton, after a visit at the home of Joseph Snyder, Grand street.

Ralph Hecker, of Milton, spent Sunday with relatives in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkins, of Milton, spent Sunday at the Goodall home, Chambers street.

O. P. Winter, of Frostburg, Md., is a guest at the home of W. R. Miller, Superintendent of Danville & Bloomsburg trolley line.

Miss Jennie Oberdorf spent Sunday with friends in Northumberland.

John F. Consart, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday at the home of his brother, Frank Consart, East Market street.

Peter U. Farley, Chief Engineer at McHenry's distillery at Benton, spent Sunday with friends in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Elise Reinhold, of Delaware township, Northumberland county, were visitors in this city yesterday.

Jared N. Diehl, of Northumberland, transacted business in this city yesterday.

William H. Dildine, of Exchange, was a visitor in this city yesterday.

Miss Jet Prantz returned to Wilkes-Barre yesterday after a visit with Miss Mary Holloway, Bloom street.

W. B. Rhodes left yesterday for a trip to Allowood.

F. P. Appenwood, of Valley township, transacted business in this city yesterday.

J. W. Lore left yesterday for a trip to Buffalo, New York.

J. N. App, of Selingsgrove, was a business visitor in this city yesterday.

The following members of the Danville Aerie of Eagles assisted at the installation of the New Aerie at Milton Tuesday evening: Oscar Stapp, William Speiser, Lewis Dietz, Frank Riley, Elmer Newberry and John G. Waite.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Eckman, of Klinesgrove, were visitors in this city yesterday.

Mrs. Charles Runyan, of Bloomsburg, spent yesterday with friends in this city.

W. H. Davies, of Selingsgrove, was a business visitor in this city yesterday.

W. H. Davies, of Selingsgrove, was a business visitor in this city yesterday.

Dr. Harry Klase, of Philadelphia, is visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Klase, Water street.

Arthur H. Woolley and John Danner transacted business in Scranton yesterday.

Deputy R. venne Collector H. W. Schoffstall, of Sunbury, was a business visitor in this city yesterday.

Dr. Harry Klase, of Philadelphia, is visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Klase, Water street.

Arthur H. Woolley and John Danner transacted business in Scranton yesterday.

Deputy R. venne Collector H. W. Schoffstall, of Sunbury, was a business visitor in this city yesterday.

Dr. Harry Klase, of Philadelphia, is visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Klase, Water street.

Arthur H. Woolley and John Danner transacted business in Scranton yesterday.

Deputy R. venne Collector H. W. Schoffstall, of Sunbury, was a business visitor in this city yesterday.

Dr. Harry Klase, of Philadelphia, is visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Klase, Water street.

Arthur H. Woolley and John Danner transacted business in Scranton yesterday.

AN EVANGELIST IN PHILADELPHIA

W. D. Laumaster, former General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has been launched out as an evangelist. He has just completed a month's engagement with the Presbyterian Evangelistic Association in its summer campaign and is now resting for a few days at his home in this city.

Mr. Laumaster's evangelistic labors during the month lay in Philadelphia and embraced tent and open air services. For two weeks he was stationed at Richmond, near Gramp's Ship Yard and the coal wharves. At this point, Mr. Laumaster as the evangelist, being assisted by a children's worker, a chorist, an organist, a leader of singing, a janitor in charge of the tent and a "student helper," the latter being a student from one of the larger colleges, who assisted in distributing invitations, visiting homes of people and in doing whatever he could in order to obtain experience in that kind of work. Each day reports were made out and forwarded to headquarters in Witherspoon Hall.

A portion of Mr. Laumaster's work lay in the very slums of the city and covered two weeks, about one-half of his engagement. During this time he was stationed at "Starr Garden Park," located at Sixth and Lombard streets. Here the work was conducted in the open air and the addresses were illustrated by a fine stereopticon. It proved a popular method of reaching the people and there were often audiences of four hundred and upward. All nationalities were represented, the people without exception being very poor, needy and neglected. An attempt to conduct the work here was attended with many interruptions and distractions, yet the people were thoroughly interested and kind in their attitude, large numbers expressing their gratitude to the workers for "what was being done in their behalf."

During three weeks while in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster, at noon, addressed the men at Baldwin's great locomotive works, Seventh and Hamilton streets. These meetings were held in the open air and the evangelist was assisted by a chorist, leader of singing and a student worker. Large crowds greeted the workers every day. There are employed at Baldwin's Locomotive Works seventeen thousand men and Mr. Laumaster was well impressed with the manhood of these skilled and intelligent workmen, who greeted the workers kindly.

On the whole Mr. Laumaster is very much impressed with the magnitude and importance of that kind of work, feeling sure that zealous and conscientious labor in that field is bound to be followed with its reward.

The summer campaign wound up with a grand rally of the workers at Witherspoon Hall on Friday night, 1500. There were addresses of ministers and evangelists; testimonials were given by converts of the various meetings, while the choir was made up of two hundred children, also converts.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

While in Philadelphia Mr. Laumaster had the pleasure and privilege of addressing the Brotherhood Meeting, in Bethany church (John Wanamaker's) composed of one hundred men. He also had the special honor of being a guest at the annual reunion of the class at Mr. Wanamaker's summer residence near Jenkintown.

LUTHERAN CONFERENCE

The twenty-fourth semi-annual convention of the Danville Conference of the Evangelical Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania, will be held in Trinity Lutheran church this city on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of