PETER THE GREAT.

History Shows that the Old Ruler of Russia Was a Monster.

Years ago, when a low standard of morals prevailed, the epithet "Great" was bestowed upon any monarch who won battles and enlarged the territory and resources of his kingdom. It mattered little then to the historian what might be a king's private character, provided he made his name formidable by his brute strength and full treasury. Even if he was a bad man they glorified him as a good ruler. Peter I. of Russia is called Peter the Great because he transformed a barbarous into a semibarbarous nation. But no one can now read the following summary of his character without a feeling of disgust. Voltaire, in his "Philosophical Dictionary," says that "Peter was half hero and half tiger." Macaulay declares that "to the end of his life he lived in his palace like a hog in a sty, and when he was entertained by other sovereigns never failed to leave unentertained proof that a savage had been there."

Peter, when the fit was on him, literally caned everybody—from his cook to his counselor, from the meek peasant to the highest noble—sparring neither age nor sex. He would get upon the table and floor the host who was entertaining him. He would stand at the door of the senate house and fog each senator that went in. Leftover was an intimate and trusted friend, yet on slight provocation he was knocked down and brutally kicked by his imperial master. But all this fogging was in the way of recreation. When Peter "traced his business," it was a more serious matter. Incredible as it may seem, it is nevertheless well authenticated that one of his own sisters—it is said more than one—received 100 strokes of the whip on her back in the presence of the whole court.

In 1718 Alexis, his only son who outlived infancy, was for some offense of no great seriousness several times tortured in the presence of the diabolical father and in the end died either from the effect of the torture or by assassination. For sympathizing with Alexis the Princess Golitsyn, the boom companion of the Empress Catherine, was publicly whipped by soldiers. For the same reason the brother of his first wife, Eudoxia—who he had thrown into prison—was tortured and then torn in pieces on the wheel. Nothing ever told of Nero so more horribly grotesque than this, yet this man, or monster rather, is regarded before the world as Peter the Great.

DEFECTIVE SIGHT.

Some Callings That Are Bad For Persons With Weak Eyes.

Systematic examination of the eyes of school children seldom fails to show that a considerable proportion of them have defective sight and will therefore be placed at a disadvantage if in after life they engage in employments for which normal vision is desirable. Some useful suggestions on the practical side of this question will be found in Dr. Wilhelm Feilchenfeld's "Gesundheitliche Ratschläge des Augenarztes." For instance, that sufferers from sensitive eyes, with easily irritated conjunctiva or with chronic or frequently recurring inflammation of the lids, ought not to engage in work which is either associated with the production of much dust, such as baking or milling, or which involves exposure to a dazzling light, such as the occupation of a furnace man. Individuals in which symptoms of ocular fatigue easily come on ought not to choose an occupation which requires straining of the eyes by long continued near work, such as sewing, knitting, copying or shorthand writing. Individuals with progressive shortsightness must avoid all occupations which entail great exertion upon the eyes. They should not engage in study or dressmaking or mechanics, tailors, dressmakers, fancy needleworkers or quilters.—London Lancet.

THE WEREWOLF.

A Human Monster In Which the Ancient Fable Believed.

The word "werewolf" simply means a man transformed into a wolf, and the belief in such transformations seems to have been at one time widely diffused over all the countries of Europe, Asia and some parts of Africa. According to the ancients, a man thus transformed into a wolf or other ravenous beast was believed to become possessed in addition to his human abilities to reason. His appetite also became enormous and could only be appeased by being glutted upon human flesh. During the latter centuries of the dark ages the belief in werewolves was as common and as widespread as was the belief in witches, which it in some respects resembled. The belief, senseless as it was, gave rise to much brutal persecution of the accused, and the various systems of torture were usually successful in getting a confession of guilt and the subsequent burning or hanging of the wretched confessor.

In Great Britain, where wolves were scarcely known, the werewolf tales of the continent were hardly credited, but later on, even in "enlightened England," they believed that witches could transform themselves into cats and hares, a belief at least analogous to the "houp-garou" superstition of the continent.

"I don't believe Windy's tips on the race are any good."
"Why not?"
"Well, he said they were a sure thing and then he wasn't willing to lend me the money to bet with."—Detroit Free Press.

FREIGHT WRECK AT BLUE HILL.

There was a freight wreck at Blue Hill yesterday morning, which possessed some very spectacular features. The trainmen saved their lives by jumping; the locomotive left the track and after the collision lay with the caboose perched upon its back, the latter on a level with the telegraph wires.

The collision occurred about six o'clock between two west bound freight trains, both of which had orders to lie by at South Danville to let an up-freight train pass. The train ahead was drawn by engine No. 4009 and was just in the act of taking the switch. The second train was drawn by engine No. 1725 and was following at what was considered a safe distance. There was a dense fog prevailing, however, which during the night had given the railroaders over the whole division an unusual amount of trouble. One engineer yesterday morning said that at times he found it impossible to see the third car from his engine. Along the base of Blue Hill the fog was exceptionally dense and it is wholly to this cause that the accident is attributed.

Locomotive No. 1725 came around Blue Hill at a good rate of speed. The engineer was unaware that the other train lay on the spot until the very moment that the caboose became visible in the fog. By that time he was almost up to the train and a collision was inevitable.

Several brakemen were in the caboose and they were taken as much by surprise as the engineer and fireman of No. 1725. There was only a moment in which to save their lives by jumping. Not one failed to act upon the first impulse and all landed clear of the mix-up. To show by how narrow a margin the men escaped it is stated that one of the brakemen slipped his feet upon the steps of the caboose when the engine struck it.

As the big locomotive crashed into the rear end of the train ahead the caboose was lifted clear of the tracks and thrown up as high as the telegraph poles where it landed on top of the engine, which itself was wrecked and derailed. The caboose on its high perch fell over against the telegraph wires which helped to support its weight.

The wreck train was immediately sent for but did not arrive until nearly an hour after the collision. The track was blocked for over three hours. The 7:11 a. m. passenger train laid at South Danville until after the 9 a. m. train came down, which itself was half an hour late owing to the accident.

The damage sustained was not heavy. The pilot was smashed and the front part of the locomotive was staved in but it was not incapacitated for running and after it had been lifted back upon the track it was able to make its way to Sunbury under steam. The caboose was a total wreck. The telegraph wires which supported its weight on the engine were cut which permitted it to fall to the ground. By the time the tracks were detached about all that remained was a mass of kindling wood.

DANVILLE BRICK AT BERWICK.

John Keim, brick manufacturer of this city, has been awarded a contract by the American Car and Foundry Company for furnishing 300,000 brick to be used in the erection of an addition to the steel plant at Berwick.

Mr. Keim has a stock of a million brick on hand. He will be able to ship two car loads—twenty thousand brick—per day and will soon have his big order filled.

BILL JOYCE'S CASE REVIVED.

Bill Joyce, who was convicted in Columbia county court of selling oleomargarine and who gave worthless checks in settling for fine and costs and in paying his attorneys, is still among the missing, although he has been heard from indirectly.

Fred T. Ikeler, attorney for Joyce, who he received a worthless check in return for his services, yesterday received another check from Joyce's attorney in Scranton covering the amount, which squares the oleo man with the attorney. What are taken as overtures have been thrown out, seeming to indicate that Joyce would like to settle with the Pure Food Department and all concerned if he could get a release.

Pure Food Agent Robert Simmers, who was in Bloomsburg yesterday, was emphatic in the assertion that no release would be considered and that Joyce would be held for the full amount he owes the department, if it took five years to catch him.

Bucknell Opens.

This morning all departments of Bucknell University will open for the fall session. The indications point to a very large attendance and in all probability it will exceed that of last year. Many improvements have been made to the University property. The new cottage for women will be ready for occupancy. All week, drays have been hauling furniture and other equipment to the buildings. The Carnegie library will also be thrown open for use the coming term. A likely crowd of candidates for the foot ball team is at work under Coach Hoskins. Bucknell has a strong schedule of foot ball games this year.

Members of Boys' Bible Class.

Every member of the Thomas Beaver Boys' Bible Class is invited to come to the Y. M. C. A. Hall from half past seven to eight o'clock Friday evening, September 22. Mr. Laumast or will have a word for them.

Rally at East End Mission.

On Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock there will be a rally of all the friends and workers of the East End Mission. Miss Mary Derr, of Lewisburg, will sing some of her best selections. All are cordially invited.

Left for the Hospital.

Mrs. Harry Kaufman left on the 1:31 Pennsylvania train last evening for Philadelphia where she will undergo an operation for appendicitis in the Gynecian Hospital. She was accompanied by Dr. E. A. Curry.

Scaffolding Removed.

The scaffolding has been removed from the big smoke stack at the water works, the repairs being all completed. It was necessary to rebuild the entire top of the stack in addition to which the brickwork was painted from top to bottom. The stack is much improved in appearance and is now perfectly safe, which is more than could be said of it before the repairs were made.

REUNION OF 132ND REGIMENT.

ating republican and popular government on the American continent. He dwelt upon the pleasure of the soldier, annual reunions. In conclusion he inveighed against the corruption in politics and urged the old soldiers to stand up for the free institutions for which they fought in War and at the ballot box to be always found on the side of the masses and against the corrupt bosses.

The Keystone Double Quartette rendered another selection, after which Rev. Jules Foin delivered a fine address.

Rev. Foin spoke with exceptionally telling effect along the line of fraternal love and love of country, which brought forth vigorous applause.

He was followed by George W. Conklin, of Company I, who made a very felicitous address.

The last address of the evening was delivered by James Scarlett, whom Mr. Foster introduced as one of the honorary members of the Association of Company A. Mr. Scarlett was greeted with prolonged applause and his address was one of his best efforts.

The speaker dwelt in his usual stirring manner on the Civil War, its achievements, the sacrifice of its armies and the respect and reverence due the old soldiers a deep silence which showed the closest attention reigned in every part of the house.

Reception to Mr. and Mrs. Laumast.

The Board of Directors and the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. extend a cordial invitation to the friends of the work for Friday evening, September 22nd, 8 p. m. in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. An informal reception will then be given Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Laumast, in order to express in some measure our appreciation of their years of faithful service in our midst.

CHARLES HERSHEY HELD UP IN SUNBURY.

Following the daring hold-ups at the Reading tower and in the Fifth ward, the climax was reached shortly after twelve o'clock Tuesday night, when Charles Hershey, the well-known painter, was stopped and assaulted in front of Oppenheimer and Jonas clothing store.

Hershey was walking up Third street and when he arrived at the corner of Market street a strange man, over six feet in height, broad-shouldered and wearing a slouch hat, stopped in front of him and struck him a blow on the side of the head felling him to the pavement. Just about this time several parties walking out Market street neared the corner and the strange man took to his heels and ran up Third street, followed by Hershey and several others. The fellow ran up Third street until he reached the Packer House when he ran out Mulberry street to Fourth street.

Several parties coming down Third street at the time saw the man running away. The fellow had a small dog with him which was stopped by some of those in pursuit. Later the fellow had the nerve to walk down Third street to Market and was joined by his dog.

Officer Whalen was notified of what had happened and a search was instituted to try and locate the hold-up man but the last heard of him he was seen going up Fourth street.

So powerful was the blow which struck Hershey that it dazed him and broke the rim of the derby hat. He stated that the fellow never said a word to him and that he never saw the man before. He firmly believes that the man meant to rob him but was prevented owing to several people who were approaching the corner. Hershey says he would easily be able to identify him if he should see him again.

At the time of the daring attempted robbery the car lights were burning on Market Square and there were a number of people on the street and in Cameron Park.

NINETY HOUSES TO BE BUILT AT ONCE.

American Car and Foundry Company Will Increase the Size of Berwick.

Ninety dwelling houses will be erected for its employees, by the American Car and Foundry Company at Berwick, this announcement being made yesterday morning by the assistant manager, C. D. Eaton.

This will be a desirable addition to this town, and it means that this company will retain its plant there for a definite period, as the output of $25,000 means something worth having in any town, large or small. It is the intention of the company to erect forty houses costing from $900 to $1100 and fifty houses costing from $1,300 to $1,500. The company has advertised for bids and will be prepared shortly to award the contract.

According to Mr. Eaton it is the plan to erect these dwelling houses near the works, which are in close proximity to the center of the town. These buildings will be reserved exclusively for the employees, and any of the latter that might like to buy them can do so at cost price.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Fains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold in every city.

By all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO BREAK JAIL.

lock the big gate in the cage, which failed to fit the lock.

Last Saturday afternoon a relative of Halderman's visited the jail and when she returned home she sent a note with her. In response to this, Sees alleges another installment of hack saws arrived Saturday night. He is very confident that in all cases the articles surreptitiously conveyed to the jail came in through the back window, which is raised at night to admit air.

He is equally positive that they were conveyed to the jail by two fellows which were known to Barrett and Halderman as Seitz and "Toughy."

This he said he had from the two men themselves.

Sees said the men Sunday worked hard in their efforts to saw the iron bars through. During the day time the men were permitted to come out of their cells into a sort of hallway and it was only at such times that the work could be carried on. Sees admitted that the men worked in his cell, but declared that he was not in collusion with them. Halderman, he said, was the man who did the most of the work, Barrett mostly keeping watch.

Officer John G. Voris was also a witness. He testified that during yesterday forenoon he had a conversation with Ralph Hahn and asked him how long he had been known as "Toughy." Hahn replied, the officer said, that he had traveled under that name for ten years.

Both Seitz and Hahn were held for court in $400 bail. Neither of them procuring a bondsman they were committed.

New Point.

David R. Eckman is having the front of his store on Mill street painted a dark green. The improvement is already quite marked. William Chapman is doing the work.

Fine Tennis.

A series of five games of tennis were played Saturday afternoon on the West Mahoning street courts between Dr. R. E. Miller and William S. Rishton, Bloomsburg's best players, and W. E. Gosh and Charles Watson, two of the finest from this city.

The local team won three out of the five sets by the most brilliant tennis that has been seen in Danville in many a day. The score by sets was as follows: First set—Danville 8; Bloomsburg 6. Second set—Danville 5; Bloomsburg 7. Third set—Danville 5; Bloomsburg 6. Fourth set—Danville 6; Bloomsburg 2. Fifth set—Danville 6; Bloomsburg 1.

REUNION OF 187TH REGIMENT.

These are the days of regimental reunions. In addition to the reunion of the 132nd Regiment, held in this city Monday, the seventh annual reunion of the 187th regiment, in which so many of the survivors are Danville men, will be held at York on Wednesday, October 4th.

York was the home of Company B; the adjoining county of Cumberland was the home of Company D. A large number of the survivors still reside in these two counties, who will put forth every effort to give the members of the regiment a hearty welcome.

The Reunion will be held in the Hall of General John Sidgwick Post No. 37, West Market street, York. The business meeting will be held at 2 p. m. In the evening there will be a camp fire.

The reunion will be held under the auspices of the Survivors' Association of the 187th Regiment of which Hon. W. A. Stone is President and our former townsmen James M. Gibbs is Vice President. The late George G. Lovett last year met with the regiment and his name is one of the five that at present appears on the Executive Committee.

The old soldiers declare that these annual reunions are each year becoming more and more interesting, which is not at all strange. As they are made up of men that "touched elbows in more than one awful baptism of fire and amidst the wounded and the dying took courage in God and in their comrades so it is a rare pleasure and comfort to strike hands again with comrades in these reunions."

"1878 Climax Brandy."

Is the name of a superior quality of old Brandy distilled and placed on the market by the Spoor N. J. Wine Co., as a companion to their Superior Old Port Grape Wine, no better in the world.

Of the 183 cases of cholera in Germany, 65 were fatal. Yellow fever is only an ordinary every day complaint compared with that.
