never on so solid a basis or more spiritual; its prospects are bright.

Rev. Dunn took as his subject last evening "Farewell." He took occasion to give to his congregation some valuable, plain, practical instructions for their future welfare and success, and expressed an earnest hope for their continued development. In conclusion he touched very feelingly upon the delightful relations that have existed between pastor and people during his stay in Danville, and thanked the congregation for their loyal support.

Five Civil Cases Are Settled.

Five of the seven civil cases, which more past, continued from term to term, were brought to a settlement by Judge C. B. Staples Monday. He continued two of the cases where sickness of the plaintiff stood in way of proceeding and ruled the rest for trial. Under the circumstances, a settlement was agreed upon. The cases settled
