ASSOCIATIONS ON THE STREET

Certain facts have come to light relating to improper conduct upon the streets at night, involving our young population, which have thoroughly aroused the chief burgess and the town council.

In dwelling upon the unseemly conduct upon the streets, at night, heretofore the boys have been in for their share of reproach. It now seems that the girls are no better than they should be and that their conduct in some parts of town has become so reprehensible as to cause a public scandal.

Burgess Rogers appeared before council at its last meeting to call the attention of that body to reports that had come to him in connection with some of the public dances. Not only did the bad reports involve girls that were considerably under eighteen years of age, but they quite conclusively established the fact that the gentle creatures were drunk.

A gentleman was present at council meeting, who had attended a number of the dances and without denying the humiliating allegation stated—and his explanation was accepted by council—that the dance was in no way responsible for the condition of the girls or any consequent disorder. He admitted that girls of almost any age are likely to appear at the dance, but he stated that attendance of girls under eighteen years is discouraged and unless they misrepresent their age to the management they are generally obliged to leave the building.

Former Townsman a Prospector. A letter has been received from Emerson Keim, son of John Keim, the brick manufacturer. Emerson left Danville a year or so ago and is now prospecting for gold in the neighborhood of Manhattan, Nevada.

According to his letter our young townsman is having the usual experience of the frontiersman or prospector. He writes that he is about forty miles from Manhattan, at a new place called from three weeks ago, his tent being the third that was struck in the place, which is now growing rapidly. In making the journey from Manhattan, he states that he "walked forty miles with his bedding on his back and a stick in his hand."

CONCERNING OUR MILK SUPPLY

A communication has been received at this office signed "Dairyman," which approves the action taken by the authorities to promote good sanitation by securing an analysis of river water, perfecting sewerage, etc.

Reference is made to the milk supply of the town, which, as is well understood, is not scrupulously clean and pure, is apt to prove a potent cause of typhoid fever and other diseases. Inasmuch as the writer is a dairyman the views advanced, as they relate to milk, especially, ought to have much weight.

"As everyone knows the only diet given to a person suffering with fever is milk. Let us consider what might happen if the milk given the patient is not of the best and the purest quality. Assuming that the cows are healthy, is it not most frequently the case that the cows are confined in dark, filthy, unventilated stables? Amid such surroundings it is not to be supposed that deadly bacteria, which lurk in such places, will be introduced into the milk?

"In what better way can disease be carried from house to house than by bottled milk? Does anyone suppose that the dairyman disinfects every bottle each time it is returned? Is it not put in the case with the other bottles and washed by the dairyman in the usual way? The next day the bottles are all filled and distributed, as they happen to come, to the patrons on the route.

"We have considered the possible sources first, but there is another reason why the health authorities should inquire into the dairy supply. Every month the dairy and food department sends out a book containing the names of persons who have violated the law by adulteration of milk and other food supplies. As we know Danville has not been quite innocent in the past and who is sure as to the present supply? Last year the agent did not test the milk sold in Danville and it is not likely that he will come this summer unless somebody requests the department to make a test.

MAKING IMPROVEMENTS. Horace C. Blue is erecting a new porch at his residence on Mill street. Yesterday morning he tore down the old portico, which had done service since the dwelling was built.

Fell in Blizzard's Run. A middle-aged woman and her little daughter, about eight years old, were coming down the D. L. & W. track shortly after dark Monday night accidentally walked into Blizzard's Run.

WORKS WONDERS. A Wonderful Compound—Cures Piles, Eczema, Skin Itching, Skin Eruptions, etc.

Gang to Steal Cattle. There appears to have been organized a gang for the stealing of cattle at Byrnesville, between Centralia and Ashland, as within the past week six cows have completely disappeared from the stables in that vicinity.

Marriage License. A marriage license was issued by Prothonotary Vincent Saturday to W. C. Unger of Union Corner and Miss Gertrude M. Vought of Elysburg.

FISH COMMISSIONER MEEHAN DISAGREES

In a letter to Senator Godcharles of Milton, Commissioner Meehan says: "I do not agree at all with Donehow's theory that spring planting of trout is not right. I have so stated in the Williamsport Sun."

First. Trout fishing three or four months old when planted in the streams in the spring soon find plenty of food coming to them and by the autumn are fully capable of hunting food for themselves.

Second. Fish held in the hatcheries through the summer must necessarily be fed with artificial foods and when planted in the fall of the year do not know how to hunt for food for themselves, and food at that time is very scarce.

Third. Fish kept in hatcheries until fall learn to "school" and when planted in the fall hold to the habit and when the angler comes along in the spring it is almost certain that nearly every fish will be caught.

Fourth. Fall planted fish are the most helpless creatures that can be imagined. Spring planted fish in a week or two learn to take care of themselves.

Fifth. It is by results that we determine whether a thing is good or not. The results from the trout streams in Pennsylvania show that spring planting is good.

Devil's Island Torture. Is no worse than the terrible case of Piles that afflicted me 10 years. Then I was advised to apply Buckner's Anemia Salve, and less than a box permanently cured me.

Death of Thomas Cook. Thomas Cook, son of Benjamin Cook, East Market street, died at the hospital, Wilkes-Barre, Saturday morning and later in the day was taken to his home, West Front street, Berwick.

Is The Moon Inhabited. Science has proven that the moon has an atmosphere, which makes life in some form possible on that satellite but not for human beings, who have a hard enough time on this earth of ours.

A RUINED CITY. It is almost beyond belief that within a couple of days, one of the chief cities of the United States, the metropolis of the Pacific coast, a place of 400,000 population, should have been annihilated, laid in ruins, an utter waste.

IMPORTANT ACTION DEFERRED

Amos Vastine, a first ward man, created a stir in council Friday night, when he informed that body that the polluted condition of the river bank above the intake of the water works had been reported to the State board of health.

At present there are five circuits in the borough, but, as explained by the borough electrician, in their practical working they are interwoven in such a way as to render it difficult or impossible to make necessary repairs at any one point while the lights are on without interfering with the service all over the borough.

Acting upon the electrician's advice it is proposed to make each circuit a circuit in itself. This according to an estimate made by the electrician will necessitate the purchase of about 14,400 feet of wire and a number of cross arms.

It is worthy of note also that from other parts of town, especially, the third ward, there is much complaint on the score of bad sanitation. Although the first of May is nearly here it is no uncommon sight to see alleys nearly blocked with manure piles and ashes.

It is almost beyond belief that within a couple of days, one of the chief cities of the United States, the metropolis of the Pacific coast, a place of 400,000 population, should have been annihilated, laid in ruins, an utter waste.

Great stretches of blackened and smoking ruins mark the place where business houses and beautiful residences of a great city stood a couple of days ago. For two straight miles, wreckage and ruin are seen. Great manufactories, mercantile houses, banks and office buildings are nowhere to be seen.

Human Blood Marks. A tale of horror was told by marks of human blood in the house of J. W. Williams, a well known merchant of Baco, Ky.

Inter-Society Contest. The inter-society contest between the pupils of the high school, chosen from the Lincoln and Garfield literary societies will take place this year on the 24th of May.

SOME CHANGES CONTEMPLATED

Besides installing four additional are lamps and two incandescent lights as indicated by the report of the last council meeting, our borough fathers have decided upon some improvements in the borough light system, which will help the service and necessitate only a small outlay of money.

At present there are five circuits in the borough, but, as explained by the borough electrician, in their practical working they are interwoven in such a way as to render it difficult or impossible to make necessary repairs at any one point while the lights are on without interfering with the service all over the borough.

SHIPMENT OF COAL RECEIVED

Nearly a month has passed since any coal was mined and already the general conditions that are in any way related to fuel are pretty nearly the same as those that prevailed during the great miners' strike of 1902.

The first shipment of anthracite coal that reached here since the shut down arrived at South Danville yesterday and was consigned to the Reading Iron company. A little inquiry as to where the coal came from revealed that we have comparatively near at hand a fairly abundant source of coal not affected by the shut down—a source nearly identical with the one that stood our town in such good stead during the last great strike.

This is at McAuley mountain—the picturesque old ridge some thirty-five or forty miles to the east of us that lies on the very borders of the great coal deposit and holds in its bosom one or more veins of the black diamonds. No one can scarcely remember a time when coal was not mined at McAuley.

The four arc lamps authorized at the last meeting of council will be installed immediately. The light on Walnut street, where heretofore darkness has reigned, will necessitate the erection of four new poles.
