HON. J. G. HARMAN DECLINED

Goodrich post, No. 22, G. A. R., during the coming month will be actively engaged in preparations for memorial day.

At a previous meeting it was decided to invite Hon. John G. Harman, of Bloomsburg, to deliver the address.

The members of Goodrich post are very anxious to have a fine demonstration this year, embracing an old-fashioned march to the cemetery.

LOOKING FOR ARMORY SITE

The subject of securing a site for an Army is being discussed a good deal about town by those who have the welfare of Company F as well as the advancement of the municipality in view.

The part of town to which most persons turn in casting about for a site for an armory is on Ferry street and there are several sites there that might be obtained at a very low figure.

In presenting the matter to council, Captain Gearhart explained that it by no means follows that the State will not buy land on which to erect the armories, if necessary.

The second armory to be erected by the State will be built at Mt. Pleasant, Westmoreland county.

It is hardly likely that the owner of a plot of ground suitable could be induced to donate its full value to the State, even though it would be for the good of his town.

It is a national cash register of the very latest make and has so many improvements over those formerly in use that it is difficult to remember them all.

These added features make next Sunday's North American the greatest Sunday newspaper ever offered in this territory.

ILLINOIS CAR RIDERS ARRESTED

A bunch of illegal car riders from Shamokin and Mt. Carmel spent Sunday night in the Sunbury jail, and some of them are likely to remain there until the strike is over.

The Dauphin county court yesterday handed down an opinion in the Millville river bridge case that indicates that the bridge will be built by the State.

The opinion upheld the constitutionality of the Rose bill, passed at the last regular session of the legislature, which authorized the State to build the bridge over the river.

FILLING UP THE CANAL

The Reading Iron company has solved the problem of getting rid of the old canal and has demonstrated that those who held to the view that it was practically a lost cause were wrong.

It will be news to many of our townsmen to learn that the Reading Iron company in disposing of its daily accumulation of ashes and cinders in the period of about a year has obliterated the old canal for a distance of over one thousand feet.

By means of a temporary track the cinders is run down the canal in the cars and dumped just where it is wanted. It was just such a scheme as this that those persons had in view who advocated co-operating with the D. L. & W. railroad company.

Writes About Memorial Day. An interesting letter has been received by Goodrich Post from James Tanner, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. The letter deals with Memorial day and is a very interesting epistle.

At certain seasons of the year all the area at the rear of the station becomes very muddy and to provide a better surface the railroad company a year or so ago asked the borough to co-operate with it in paving the spot and the roadways leading to it.

The borough did not see its way clear to take hold of the matter as proposed and the improvement was dropped until the present. Macadam may prove less desirable than a pavement, but it will be a great improvement over what has existed up to the present.

RAIN NEEDED. Mont Derr of White Hall, drove into town yesterday. Mr. Derr is a progressive school teacher and as is natural with one raised in an agricultural community is closely in touch with farming.

AN EARLY SNAKE STORY

The experience of the gang of workmen employed in repairing Northumberland street last week counts for anything the season upon which we are just entering will be especially prolific in snakes and consequently in snake stories.

The big reptile might have bitten Harrison Paugh, one of the workmen, and it is probably owing to the fact that it had not wholly passed out of its torpid state that it did not sink its fangs into his hand.

The men were cleaning out the gutter at the foot of the ridge. Twice Mr. Paugh had reached down and with his bare hands had scraped together the leaves and other trash and was returning for the third armful when he saw the snake half hidden among the rubbish that remained on the spot, partly coiled and ready to strike.

Solomon Cherry Dead

Solomon Cherry, the well known engineer on the S. H. & W. division of the Pennsylvania railroad, died suddenly at his home at Nesquehony yesterday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock.

He had been suffering with Bright's disease for some time and for several months had been unable to report for duty.

EXPENSIVE GUARD ERECTED

It may not be generally known that the Northumberland road as far as the "dug road" lies within the borough limits and that like any of the other streets of town it has to be looked after and repaired by the borough.

Although away from the built-up portion it probably proves one of the most expensive thoroughfares to keep safe and in good repair, as for half a mile it runs along a high embankment and has to be protected by a guard rail.

Street Commissioner E. S. Miller with a force of workmen Saturday completed the annual repairs on Northumberland street and it is safe to say that the thoroughfare was never in such complete condition before.

The quois have been sharpened up for the season and under the supervision of Jesse Shannon and Ira Everhart new hubs properly mounted were planted yesterday afternoon. The first game was played last evening.

From now until late next fall votaries of the game will be found competing for honors on the shady side of the old planing mill every afternoon.

CONSIGNED TO THEIR LAST GREAT REST

Franklin R. Sechler and William Mortimer, two of our old residents, both of whom had passed the eightieth milestone of life's journey, were consigned to the grave Friday afternoon, their obsequies occurring only an hour apart.

Franklin R. Sechler's funeral took place at 2 o'clock of his late residence, Church street, Rev. John Sherman officiating. The deceased was a member of the Knights of Pythias. He was a charter member of Beaver lodge No. 132, of this city, which gave him a membership in the order of thirty-seven years. A noteworthy fact is that not only his son, Clark Sechler, but also his grandson, Clyde Sechler, are members of Beaver lodge No. 132, which gives the organization the distinction of having three generations of the same family among its members.

The following persons from out of town attended the funeral: Mr. and Mrs. Clark Sechler, Clyde Sechler, Mrs. George Rowbotham, of Philadelphia; Jacob Sechler, of Elmira; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kenyon, John Kenyon, Sr., and John Kenyon, Jr., of Audenfeld; Lafayette Sechler and family of Kipp's run; Mr. and Mrs. George Hulsizer, Mrs. Samuel Hulsizer, of Milton; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Inns, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Newberry, Mr. and Mrs. William Gaskins, of Sunbury; Mrs. Isaiah Hixson, of Berwick; George Best, Mrs. Mary Best, Mrs. Duval Clark, of Northumberland; Mrs. William Gilmore, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson, of Bloomsburg.

The funeral of William Mortimer took place from Trinity M. E. church at 3 o'clock. The services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. L. D. Ott. A quartette rendered several selections of music with impressive effect.

Interment took place in the Reform cemetery. The remains were carried to their last resting place by the following: William Lloyd, Michael Shires, John Tovey and Thomas Lewis.

Among the persons from out of town who attended the funeral were: Rev. J. H. Mortimer and wife, of Williamsport; Mrs. William Birt, William Birt and Alfred Birt, of Berwick; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fisher and son, of near Washingtonville, and Mr. and Mrs. William Diehl, of Mahoning township.

JOSEPH WEINIGER'S FUNERAL. Joseph Weiniger, whose death in Philadelphia was noted in our last issue, was consigned to the grave in St. Hubert's cemetery yesterday forenoon. The funeral took place from St. Hubert's Catholic church at 9 o'clock, Rev. Father Foy officiating. The pall bearers were: Adam Mayan, Joseph Mayan, Joseph Hofer, Joseph Minter, John Koch and Andrew Jarosz.

SPRAY THIS SPRING. Prof. H. A. Surface, the state zoologist in his April Bulletin, says: "Trees infested with San Jose scale should be sprayed or washed again this spring with the lime-sulphur wash, boiled one hour, regardless of the treatment that was given them last fall and winter. Even if they were properly sprayed last fall, it is improbable that all the pests were killed. The best possible measure for the destruction of the scale and the safety of the trees consists of giving them a double coating again this spring. Spraying can be done as late as the time when the green leaves show in the buds, but after the green leaves are out there is danger of destroying them by applying any material that is strong enough to affect the San Jose scale. It is especially important that trees previously treated by any other material than the boiled lime-sulphur wash should be covered with this mixture this spring in order to save them. It is by far best to be on the safe side, and all trees that have been treated with nothing more than the so-called 'limoid' or 'K-L,' 'Sealecide,' and other commercial insecticides or unboiled lime-sulphur mixtures should be sprayed again this spring, if the owners really care to save them."

AN IMPROBABLE STORY. The editor looks downcast. What's the matter with him?

Not Anxious to Please. Neptune—I say, Neptune, if you keep on blowing this "you'll get yourself killed" business, I'll have to care for you. Put a heaping tablespoonful of butter down the center of the beans. Cover them with cold water, so that it rises two inches above them. Put them in a hot oven at 8 o'clock in the morning and let them cook steadily till 5 in the afternoon, renewing the water as often as it boils off them. Let them brown down in the pot the first hour, and they will be done at 6 o'clock.—New York Tribune.

THE CHAMELEON. The American chameleon, a small lizard, inhabits the parts of the southern United States. This little animal has the remarkable habit of quickly and completely changing its colors, varying from brown to yellow and pale green. Its food consists of insects. The little animal is perfectly harmless to human beings. It is often kept as a pet and has been worn attached to a chain as an ornament. The toes are provided with adhesive pads, which enable the lizard to run upon smooth, vertical surfaces.
