Danville, Pa., July 12, 1906.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

For Governor, EDWIN'S. STUART, of Philadelphia

For Lieutenant Governor, ROBERT S. MURPHY, of Cambria.

For Auditor General. ROBERT K. YOUNG, of Tioga. For Secretary of Internal Affairs. HENRY HOUCK, of Lebanon.

Announcement.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Associate Judge. subject to the decision of the Republican Primary election.

CHARLES A. WAGNER,

PENGUINS FEEDING.

They Enter the Water. The appearance of the keeper of the penguins at the zoo, with his pail of ive gudgeon, is the signal for sudden and intense excitement in the cages. and waddle to the door, wance they peer eagerly down the wooden steps | leading to the pool. The cormorant croaks and sways from side to side, and the darters poise their snaky heads and spread their batlike wings. At the water's edge the penguins do not launch themselves upon the surface like other water fowl, but instantly plunge beneath.

Once below water an astounding change takes place. The slow, ungain ly bird is transferred into a swift and brilliant creature, beaded with globules of quicksilver, where the air clings to the close feathers, and flying through the clear and waveless depths with arrowy speed and powers of turning far aerial flight. The rapid and steady flar to those of the air birds, while its feet float straight out level with the body, unused for propulsion or even as rudders and as little needed in its progress as those of a wild duck when on

The twists and turns necessary to follow the active little fish are made wholly by the strokes of one wing and the cessation of movement in the other, and the fish are chased, caught and swallowed without the slightest relaxation of speed in a submarine flight which is quite as rapid as that of most birds which take their prey in midair. In less than two minutes some thirty gudgeon are caught and swallowed be low water, the only appearance of the birds on the surface being many by one or two bounds from the depths, when the head and shoulders leap above the spreace for a second and then disap-

Any attempt to remain on the surface leads to ludicrous splashing and confusion, for the submarine bird cannot float. It can only fly below the surface. Immediately the meal is finshed both penguins scramble out of the water and shuffle with round backs and drooping wings back to their cage to dry and digest.-London Spectator.

YOUTHFUL WARRIORS.

Pizarro completed the conquest of Peru at thirty-five and died at forty. Cortez effected the conquest of Mexico and completed his military career before the age of thirty-six.

The great Coude defeated the Span fards at Rocrol at twenty-two and won all his military fame before the age of twenty-five.

Peter the Great of Russia was proclaimed czar at ten years of age, organized a large army at twenty, won the victory at Embach at thirty, founded St. Petersburg at thirty-one and died at the age of fifty-five.

Napoleon was a major at twentyfour, general of brigade at twenty-five and commander in chief of the army of Italy at twenty-six. He achieved all his victories and was finally overthrown before the age of forty-one. Frederick the Great ascended the first Silesian war at thirty and the second at thirty-three. Ten years later, with a population of but 5,000,000, he triumphed over a league of more than 100,000,000 people.

With a Home.

The great millionaire looked up impatiently.

"Well," he said, "what is it?" "I desire, sir," the young man faltered, "to marry your daughter, provid-

The other frowned. "Provided what?"

"Just provided," murmured the Mamma's the Baby's Best Friend.

Baby thinks a good deal of his dad, but it takes mamma's kiss to cure a hurt finger. - Indianapolis Star.

ENTERPRISING BOTANISTS.

Effects of the Great Revival of the Sixteenth Century. In the great literary and scientific revival that took place in the sixteenth century botany made a fresh departure. The discovery of America had brought a vast number of new plants to Europe, and their study doubtless stimulated the more complete study of those of the old world. The great commercial activity of the century must also have had its influence. Ships were bringing new products from all parts and among these plants were not forgotten. But from whatever cause it arose, the great impulse and renewed activity in the discovery and study of plants was quite remarkable. They produced a large body of students, whose labors were unwearied, and a wonderful amount of botanical litera-

Among those students were such men as Loincer, L'Obel, Caesalpinus, L'Ecluse, Mattioll, Caspar and John Bauhin, Conrad Gesner, Pona, Leonard, Fuchs, Prosper Alpinus, Dodoens and many others. And these men were not stay at home botanical students. They were great travelers, whose delight was to collect and examine plants their native countries. Caspar Bauhin collected them in Germany, France and Italy with great labor and danger ("quod praecipuum erat, plantas locis natalibus inspiciendo nullis laboribus, nullis molestiis, nullis sumptibus peper cimus"); L'Ecluse collected them in Spain, Hungary and Bohemia; Du Choul searched Mount Pilatus and John Pona Mount Baldus; Leonard Rauwolf made a long journey to the east in search of them and Prosper Alpinus examined those of Egypt .-London Standard

Examination of the second of t SARAH. HUSTLING DONALD HEROINE

Copyright, 1906, by Beatrix Reade

Hamman managara "Look here, Jim" began Colville one evening, when her brother James came nome to supper, "in walking past the tavern this afternoon I saw a strange roung man." "Yes, there is one there," was the re-

"Who is he?"

"I can't tell you much about him. me down from the city for a four weeks' vacation. He was asking me about boating and fishing."

James Halliday was a carpenter of the village of Branchville. His sister Sarah kept house for him.

three years and no man had hinted of matrimony to her. She never pretended to good looks, but she always insisted that she was tender hearted and salve as the gas until midnight and enjoy be swept over the falls and drowned be swept over the falls are swept over the falls are swept had emotion sufficient to make a great actress. Her failure to bring men to was to fall over his rocking chair and called Miss Eierce, the stenographer, finally made up her mind to do a little eyes the boat went over the dam, and hustling for a husband. She had seen right under his eyes a sawmill man, they called the bank clerk, arrived. the young man sitting on the hotel who had never longed to be a hero, His name, as given to the others at veranda with his feet cocked up on the ralling, and he had at once been mark-was a heroine, but insensible. They Tillman. ed down. He had looked after her in an eager way, and she flattered herself that she had made an impression.

"If Mr. Ripley is all alone down here he must be lonesome," she said to her brother Jim after supper.

"Yes, he may be. "Then you'd better saunter up to the tavern and show him that you want to be friendly. You can bring in, if you want to, that I noticed him this afternoon. We've got the mill pond here, and we've got a boat and fishing tackle, and it seems our duty to make the stranger's stay as pleasant as possible. You know how you'd feel if you were away

The brother dutifully obeyed orders. greater than in any known form of He found Mr. Ripley smoking a cigar on the veranda. He mentioned Sarah, the mill pond, the boat and the black bass waiting to be caught, and Mr. Ripley replied that he should surely take advantage of the situation. He didn't set any date, however, and when he came home to supper on the following evening the brother observed to skated!"

"What do you think, Sarah? That she had lost, Susan Jones has somehow managed to

SHE CRIED TO HIM AGAIN AND AGAIN. get acquainted with the stranger, and president, of the incorporation of sur- Delamar was a hustler. She had hushe's over at her house playing croquet," geons was for more than 320 years a tled around and provided herself with fact!" she gasped.

"Of course I do!"
"Humph! The freshness of Miss parliament. Susan Jones must be seen to at once.' And it was. Miss Sarah speedily donned another dress, fixed up a bit. and, leaving her brother to eat alone, made himself very agreeable, and when he had departed Jim observed:

could marry a feller like him!" "I mean to!" was Sarah's laconic re- | ticed it.

The next day Jim was left out of it Sarah and Mr. Ripley took the boat and went fishing, and before they returned she thought she knew her man pretty well. He was romantic. He was inclined to be a hero. He quoted poetry. He sighed to find and love a heroine When Jim came home that evening there was a twinkle in his eye, and

"Mr: Ripley seems to be a feller who gets acquainted with folks pretty fast.

after hearing about the fishing trip he

"You don't mean it!" exclaimed Sarah as she paused in the act of pour "That's what I saw. She was at th avern to see the landlord's wife, and 'spose she was introduced." "Well, I'll put a stop to that pretty Again Jim was left to eat his even ing meal alone while the sister started out with aggressive steps. She saw Tillie and Mr. Ripley at the gate while she was yet a long way off. She walked straight up to them and observed that it was a beautiful evening for seeing the mill dam and bore the strange away. When the pouring waters of he dam had been sufficiently admired the young man was walked to the Halliday homestead and kept busy quot ing poetry and drinking cider until 11 at least half a dozen girls were intro duced to Mr. Ripley by the landlord's wife, and each and every one of them and every one of them came to grief however. Sarah was in evidence, and when she butted in the others had to butt out. At the end of a fortnight she felt herself as good as engaged. Mr Ripley had praised her strength and skill in rowing, her luck in fishing and her emotional temperament, and she had several times caught him glancing at her as a man only glances when his admiration is aroused. He had been asked to tea three or four times, and the two had boated and fished every afternoon, and all was going well. "How's it coming out, Sarah?" asked

"There's only one thing needed," she eplied. "Haven't you noticed that he s always talking about heroes and

"If I were a heroine he'd pop the uestion inside of twenty-four hours." "But how can you be?" "I can't say just now, but I'm going o think it over during the day." That afternoon she received a note from Mr. Ripley excusing himself from calling on the ground of a slight illthe note she learned that he was sitting on the piazza with the Widow and wanted a third.

Sarah planned fast from that time on. Sarah had learned that Mr. Ripley plain view.

Sarah Halliday had lived for thirty- and there was Sarah Halliday in an and a piano. Any boarder who dared oarless boat floating down upon the do so could also take a seat in the parrolled her on a barrel. They dragged The stenographer and the bank clerk hour in the morning?"

"Rowing," she answered. "How came you to lose the oars?"

"I wanted to be rescued." "Oh, I see. You wanted to be a hero-

"Has he sent me any flowers?" she

"But he surely called?" "How could be call when he took a skate that very forenoon?" bluntly replied the brother.

"Did he see me all wet and wopsy?"

"Of course, and that's why he Poor Sarah! She had hustled, but

BARBER SURGEONS.

When he Razor and the Scalpel

More than 400 years old is the Royal College of Surgeons, Edinburgh. At the time it was founded the surgeons and barbers of the city were united as one of the fourteen incorporated trades of Edinburgh. On July 1, 1505, they received their charter from the town council. The charter of the barber surgeons was confirmed by James IV., an early Stuart king of great enlightenment and accomplishment, who took much interest in the progress of the surgeons on account of the needs of his army in time of war.

In the charter leave was given to the neorporation to control the medical education of the city, such as it was in those days; of bloodletting, to have the sole right of practice and to put down quacks. They were to get every year the body of a criminal who had een executed to practice anatomy on, and they promised in return to do "suffrage for his soul." Of the first 158 FOR A MOMENT THEY GAZED STRAIGHT members of the incorporation six were surgeons to the kings of Scotland.

As society improved and medical science developed the gulf between the surgeons and barbers widened, and in vo 1772, as the result of a process in the autos to the house. court of session, the connection was burgh, ex officio, and several of the deacons were members of the Scottish

How He Knew.

There is a very forgetful girl in Denver, living up on Washington street. she started for the Jones house. Mr. Fearing a young man who called on Ripley and Susan were just finishing her last week would stay too long she their last game. Sarah walked up to set the clock in the parlor half an hour Susan and whisperingly asked for an ahead. She was tired, having been out introduction and forced the issue, horseback riding that day, and wanted When she returned home Mr. Ripley to get to bed early. The scheme accompanied her and he didn't leave worked. But then she forgot to turn the house until 10 o'clock. He had the clock back and, having numerous young men friends, she also very carelessly forgot which one it was. Last "By thunder, Sarah, but 'sposin' you night the young man called again. The clock was still fast and he no-

> "That clock is wrong, isn't it?" he sked. "Yes," she replied. "I set it ahead so fellow who called Wednesday night rould go home in time to let me get ome sleep. "The clock fooled him all right," said ne caller quietly.

"How do you know?" she asked. The young man smiled a sickly smile. called Wednesday night." The girl coughed.

"We're having so much trouble in getting a hired girl," she said. "Does I just saw him walking home with your mother ever have difficulty securng good help?"-Denver Post.

The following cure for indigestion is ecommended by the eminent Dr. Bond the London Lancet, a medical journal of world wide repute. "The indigestion must be a very sudden. I told Mrs. Graves only last hopeless one," says Dr. Bond, "which will not yield to a diet of a small cup warm milk to which a teaspoonful rum has been added, followed by a olain biscuit or two and some very ild cheese, paradoxical as this com According to Dr. Bond, there is a subtle harmony between these ingredients that does the business.

Earthquake Gowns.

In 1750 there was a great earthquake in England, and Horace Walpole records that "several women have mad 'earthquake gowns'-that is, gowns to sit out of doors all night Walpole also tells that "Turner, great china man at the corner of th next street had a jar cracked by the shock. He originally asked 10 guines for the jar. He now asks 20, because is the only jar in Europe that had een cracked by an earthquake."

A Natural Inference. poultry book told him to feed lime be lavishty fed lime and asked himsel

The bens were variously affected. The Leghorns found difficulty is keeping their hot Italian blood from open revolt. The Cochins, with true iental apathy, said it was fate any vay. But the old Plymouth Rock had he American sense of humor. "He thinks we're going to lay bricks," brother Jim one morning at the break- she cackled.

The Man Who Blushed

By C. B. LEWIS

Copyright, 1906, by P. C. Eastment In announcing in a very impressive ness, and two hours after she had read manner to all applicants that she kept a fashionable boarding house Mrs. Barnes did not exactly mean that members of the Four Hundred and stray to be numbered among her guests. She arose and breakfasted at 8 o'clock. He | meant that it was a homelike place for His name is Ripley, I believe, and he's then spent an hour on the veranda stenographers, typewriters, bank clerks smoking and reading. The mill dam and floorwalkers of department stores half hour before dinner, when he could was not a hundred feet away and in to take advantage of, but they must at the same time realize to the fullest ex-Next morning as the young man on tent the privileges permitted them. a vacation sat smoking, he heard some one calling his name. He looked up, discovered, consisted of a latchkey the point had rankled, and she had roll down the steps. Right under his had been at this fashionable boarding morning."

her around in the sawdust. They carried her home on a slab and sent for In when the actress arrived. The ste-Jim and the doctor. She was wrung nographer, as it transpired, hid a fad. out and put to bed, and it was two It was physiognomy. It also transpired days later when Jim was permitted to that the bank clerk had a fad It was that the bank clerk had a fad. It was deduction. After about ten furtive and he blushed." "Now, then, what in the old Harry looks at Mr. Tillman the stenegrapher were you doing in that boat at that discovered that he was a young man of weak character and easily tempted. The shape of his forehead told her that he would not be honest under great temptation

Miss Dorothy Delamar, the actress, ine, ch, and you wanted to give Ripley whose real name was Catharine Briggs, a chance to play the hero?" whose real name was Catharine Briggs, had no fads. All she wanted was to by inform me how you came to suspect elimb to the top of her profession. As asked, avoiding a direct reply to his she had just got through playing leading lady in a barnstorming company my; second, from your blush when I that had failed on the road after being out three weeks, she felt that she was getting along and that it needed only a sudden jar to make her a public fa-

INTO EACH OTHER'S EYES.

She was planning how best to bring finally terminated. The deacon, or about that jar when she arrived. Miss "Jim, you don't tell me that for a member of the town council of Edin-seven rhinestone rings and a pair of earrings and a sunburst out of the same barrel. The landlady estimated the value of the jewels at $2,500. Miss Delamar corrected her by making the figure $1,000 more. At her first dinner in the house she wore the whole outfit. One morning the actress appeared in the dining room in a state of great perturbation. In fact, she was gasping for breath and on the point of fainting away. She had been robbed, she an nounced when she could get her voice Some one had entered her room an stolen her bag of diamonds. A hillegev erybody got to his feet she sat down and went into hysterics. While she was engaged in this the stenographer looked at the bank cierk. and for a moment they gazed straight into each other's eyes. Then he blushed and dropped his. This was enough for her. She alone of the dozen boarders seemed to remember that he had come in late. He had lagged behind to enter the actress' room and steal her welry. That blush betrayed his guilt to the stenographer. She almost expected him to throw the chamois bag on the table and ask to be given five years in state prison. Not until after the boarders had scattered from breakfast was it suggested that all submit to be searched, and then it was too late. There were eighteen boarders, including the actress One of the other seventeen must be guilty. There were seven rooms on her floor, and the natural inference wa that it was some one on her floor that had robbed her. All seven occupied powas rather perilous. While Miss Delamar sent for a reporter Mrs. Barnes sent for a detective. Both arrived at the same time. While the reporter went in fcr a "scoop" the detective held two or three interviews, looked wise and as he got outdoors winked at himself and went hunting for a glass of

Some fifty different times that day Miss Delamar told the story of the robbery and grew faint. The bag of dia-

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarh the stomach are all due to indigestion.

odol cures indigestion. This new discov-Kodol cures indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of diges tion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy cures all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach. S. S. Ball, of Ravenswood. W. Va., says:— troubled with sour stomach for twenty years ured see and we are now using it in milb was out about fifteen minutes. Her door was shut, but not locked. Her future career did not depend solely upon these diamonds, thank heaven, but unless they were recovered she would not be able to play certain leading parts.

Kodol Digests What You Est. Bottles only. $1 00 Size holding 25 times the tria Prepared by E. G. DeWITT & CO., OHIOAGO. ForSale by Paules & Co.

When the evening paper came out with its account of "Bold Robbery— An Actress Loses $25,000 Worth of Diamonds In a Boarding House," Miss Delamar fainted away, and after her recovery her manning was pitiful to hear. It was so pitiful that the stenographer decided to temporize no longer. Ever since she looked the bank clerk in the eves and noticed his blush she had been convinced of his guilt. She had said nothing to any one, and she rather expected that he would seek an early thus avoid state prison. He didn't restore it at lunchtime nor during the have done so. That pitiful moaning started Miss Bierce upstairs. She knocked at the door of the bank clerk's room, and it was opened to her. Standing in the hall and speaking in a low but decided voice, she said:

stand," he replied. "I am referring to the robbery this

> "Ah! Have the detectives any "I don't know, but I have. The robber is here in the house this minute. Should he restore the diamonds I shall nothing: if he refuses I shall betray his identity." "Dear me, but you know the rascal, "I have known him ever since I look

"And did you wish to give me his name in confidence?" softly asked the bank clerk. His brazenness angered the girl, and with hot cheeks she looked him square in the eyes and replied: "He stands before me, sir."

"First, from my study of physiogno-looked at you." "Miss Bierce, if I hadn't blushed and dropped my eyes when you looked at me across the breakfast table would you have suspected me of this robbery?" asked the bank clerk after a

"I don't think so." "Then it was unfortunate for me. As a matter of fact, I have had that habit for years when guilty of anything and have tried in vain to break myself

"And you will restore the diamonds at once?" she eagerly asked. "You have depended on physiognomy In this case, Miss Bierce. I have depended on deduction. Miss Delamar is an actress out of money and an engagement. Deduction: She must stand Mrs. Barnes off and bring her name before the public. She adorns herself with what she calls $3,500 worth of jewelry. Deduction: Rhinestones. She sends for a reporter instead of a detective. Deduction: Sensation. The detective who was here today asked where she bought the jewels, and she failed to remember the name of the house. Deduction: She didn't want to." "Sir, you have become brazen again!" exclaimed the stenographer. "Last night," he continued as if he hadn't heard her, "I sat here in my room for half an hour without a light THEN A STREAK OF BLUE DASHED BY HIM. and the door slightly ajar. Hearing a noise in the hall, I quietly looked out and saw a lady standing on the sill of the hall window. Deduction: Up to snuff'. I think she pinned something to the inside of the curtains, near the top. I made sure it was Miss Delamar. Deduction: Seek, and ye shall find. Sup pose we seek."

Miss Bierce followed the bank clerk down the hall to the window. Close up to the pole she saw the chamots bag and motioned him to reach it down. "No use to have any trouble about it," he said as he placed the bag in her hand. "Call her up to your room and where she had mislaid them. You are something of a physiognomist. Study her face when you produce the bag. That's all, Miss Bierce." "But, Mr. Tillman, I am overwhelm ed with shame and mortification, and

"There, there! I blushed and caused you to think I was guilty. Good night,

Miss Bierce"

Drew His Ficture. It is told of Major General Sir Wil liam Gatacre of the British army that during the Sudan campaign he was one day going the round of the sentries Stopping before one he asked him what his orders were. "To keep a sharp lookout for the enemy and also for General Gatacre," was the prompt reply. "Do you know him by sight?" asked the general. "No, sir," answered the man, "but I was told that if I saw an officer fussing and swearing and rushing about that would be General

At the Minstrels.

Sambo-What am de diff'runce 'tween a mute walkin' 'long de street an' a conversational bore? Interlocutor -What is the difference, Sambo? Sambo-Well, one goes widout savin', an' de udder says widout goin'.-New York

An Invitation.

Bashful Beaumont-Er-I-er-dreamt I-er-kissed you last night. What's that a sign of? Modest Maiden-Well it's a sign that you're more sensible asleep than awake.

He that speaks of things that do not concern him shall hear of things that will not please him.-Arabian Proverb. take the load down for you," suggested the squire, "it's all level after we pass Water In Rubber.

Experiments with a hermetically sealed rubber bottle containing water have shown that the rubber is not absolutely water tight. The filled bottle weighed seventeen ounces four drams. At the end of one year the weight was seventeen ounces two drams; nine years, ten ounces; eighteen years, fourteen ounces two drams; twenty-three years, thirteen ounces four drams twenty-five years, seven ounces eight drams; twenty-eight years, three ounces fourteen drams; thirty years, three ounces twelve drams, the water being entirely gone.

"Excuse me," said the old lady with eyeglasses in the art gallery, "but haven't you got any more figures in marble?" "These are all, madam," replied the polite attendant. "Is there any particular one you are looking for?" "Yes; I wanted to see the statue of limitations my husband was telling about."-Milwaukee Sentinel.

Laws, written if not on stone tablets, ret on the azure of infinitude, in the inner heart of God's creation, certain as life, certain as death! I say the laws are there, and thou shalt not dis obey them! Carlyle.

Thrust Upon Him

managed to scream.

Bobby-his own little Bobby!

He tried to pray, he tried again to was caught up and rushed to safety!

crushed to pieces under the thundering

He had reached the level. He could feel the slackening of the terrific speed,

"Go on, horsy! Gidd up!" cried the isatiate Betty as the squire dropped imp to the ground. "You can be my orsy now," she remarked compla-ently to the first of the young men

They quickly improvised a stretcher

from the blankets and carried the un-

"Bobby's all right," said some one uickly, "and the little girl-and-and,

"Here I am, Mr. Hart," bending over

"So am I, Mr. Hart," feelingly. "I

'We'll have to concede you to be the champion sprinter!" cried one of the other men. "That was a pretty long

"Ralph must yield the palm to you,

The squire shook his head feebly.

"He—he relieve l' it," he whispered is eyes on Rulph's fine face, "but it-

"It was 'thrust upon you,' you mean,

The squire smiled grimly in acqui-

Cromwell's Burial Place.

grounds, Fieetwood House, once the

his wife, who was Bridget, the daugh ter of Oliver Cromwell. This sight is to summer day, among older and plainer

or opposite, side, I saw men mowing of the late loane Watts, D. D." Tralition says he loved that mound because from it he could see the open country. It is now hemmed in by iouses, but the mound is still solitary.

rent soon after Cromwell's death to the effect that the Protector's body with regal pomp in the abbey, but had been secretly brought down to his daughter's house and laid to rest where now is the mound.—Christian World.

The Crab as a Fisherman

The crab sometimes catches a fish, and it catches it without hook and line.

It lies in wait, perhaps in some creek, open. Perhaps a school of killies comes along, and it may be that a killie on the outskirts of the school may swim unsuspectingly along through the clear water between the upper and lower parts of one of the motionless open claws of the crab. When it is well together and that particular little killie

"Suppose the butcher," said the

"Well," replied Suste Wise, "they wouldn't come to our house. Mon would never pay that much for chops."

H ow's This

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward f

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

We the undersigned, have known F.

Chency for the last 15 years, and believe his perfectly honorable in all business transac bligations made by their firm.

Hall's Family Pills are the best

ruggists, Toledo, Ohio.

gists.

ons and financially able to carry out any

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo

acting directly upon the blood and muccu

Administratrix Notice.

Estate of Enoch W. Snyder, deceased

late of Liberty township, in the Conr

ty Montour and State of Pennsylvania

Letters of administration on the estat of Enoch W. Snyder, late of Liberty ny case of Catarrh that can not be cured by

Not For Their Larder

goes no farther.

--Philadelphia Press.

Another tradition tells of a rumor cur

tombetones than those of the Abney

the right of the avenue, and there one Estate of Mrs. Sarah E. Hoffman, late

The thirt, seres of this great cemequire," added another jovially.

t was"- He sighed wearlly.

quire," understandingly

dash, sure enough!"

eared you were going to run over me,

"I am glad you can run," faintly.

conscious man to the house.

ooked anxiously about him.

guess, everybody."
"Ralph!" gasped the squire.

who reached the side of the exhausted

non that was forcing him onward.

By OTHO B. SENGA Copyright, 1906, by E. C. Parcells

Squire Hart looked the young fellow over keenly. "M-m!" giving his pudgy hand to the clasp of the long, thin one extended in greeting, "Ralph Reed, eh? And what o you do? Football, I suppose, like he rest of these donkeys!"

'No, Mr. Hart, I wouldn't stand the ghost of a chance in a rush. I'm on the "He's the champion sprinter, papa," nterposed Elsie eagerly. "He won five points for the blue in the intercollegiate Her father frowned at her enthusiasm, and Reed's thin, brown face col-

Reed laughed good humoredly.

"You ought to run," grumbled the squire, continuing his examination of the young fellow; "you're built like a greyhound or a grasshopper!" Reed, outwardly at ease, flinched inwardly under the squire's keen scrutiny. His compact with the pretty Elsie would be null and void without her father's consent, and he felt that his athletic career was a detriment in the eyes of the older man. He was not at all encouraged by the remarks that fol-"I don't believe in it," irascibly. "Boys go to college to study, or ought o, and they make a business of so ind of foolish play. If those football fellows," pointing to the three other young men who were his daughter's guests for the spring vacation, "had to work one-half as hard sawing wood or plowing, they'd think they were terri-Some one called Elsie, and she hurried away, giving a pleading glance at her lover which he interpreted as counseling him to patience. "And as for running," continued the quire, with increasing choler, for he, too, had seen the pleading glance, "as for running, why should a man of ordinary courage care to excel as a runner? Running is an accomplishment for cow-

The blood rushed to the dark face, but Reed spoke quietly and cour-"There are things to run for as well gs to run from, Mr. Hart, and I tope I'd not be lacking if a test of

It was a merry party that roamed over the fields and through the woods searching for the earliest spring flowrs; that rode and drove and sang and Young Reed and his fair hostess car-ourage came to me."

led heavy hearts that made gayety an effort and laughter a mockery. The squire had refused to sanction their enagement, to listen to any suggestion or to make any promises for the fu-

"I'll wait," he said grimly, "until you ave shown that you can do something esides run!" Apparently oblivious to the sports of ne guests at Hart's Holm, the squire had kept a keen eye on them all. He rather admired the dogged pertinacity ith which Reed took his daily run of bree or four miles over the country oads. He smiled grimly when he saw

"Doesn't mean to give any unnecesary offense to the 'crewel parlent.' huckled the squire appreciatively, "but ntends to have his own way just the

the young fellow start out as if for a walk wearing a long raincoat over his

"It'll be rather quiet and lonely at the nouse tomorrow," sollloquized the squire as he drove along, sniffing the fresh, clear air of the bright spring morning. "The lads and lassies all go today. I wish I hadn't been quite so sharp with Elsle and that young fellow. He seems a fine, manly chap. But what on earth does he want to run for?" ending irritably. "Hello, Bartlett, what's the matter with your horse?"

He had reached the top of a long, steep hill, and overtaken a neighbor ith a heavy load of rock. "Stepped on a stone that rolled, and gone as lame as a lazy man's excuses," Bartlett answered characteristically. "Suppose I hitch in my team and Sit still, Betty Bartlett, and hold on tight," playfully addressing the little girl perched on the seat. "My horses are frisky, you know." Bartlett had locked the wagon wheels township, Montour County, Pa., decease reparatory to making the descent, but ed, have been granted to Sarah E. Sny as the squire lifted the tongue for the der, residing in said township, to whom other horses to be hitched in the lock all persons indebted to said estate are chain snapped and broke and the heav- requested to make payment, and the ily loaded wagon started down the hill. having claims or demands will mak He shouted to Bartlett, who, hambered by the four horses, lost his head and only bawled, "Whoa, Hart, whoa!"

SARAH E SNYD Admin

my house. You can lead yours down,

Hart held on to the tongue and braced back with all his strength, but despite his efforts the wagon went fly.

Liberty To May 8 1906

Ayer's Pills. Ayer's Pills. Keep saying this over and over again. The best laxative. Lowell, Mass.

Liberty Township, Montour Co., Pa.

SARAH E. SNYDER

Want your moustache or beard BUCKINGHAM'S DYE a beautiful brown or rich black? Use

ing down the nill like an engine on CENTRALIA MUST "Hold on tight, Betty," the squire BE VACATED

He knew that if he dropped the ongue the wagon would be tipped over With the very heart of Centralia's instantly and that there would be small chance indeed for the life of the child; so he too "held on tight" and ran as if fleeing from death. "Go on, horsy," cried Betty, in great work of robbing the pillars beneath that part of the town will be started that part of the town will be started, The squire couldn't spare breath now the very life of that town is now even to groun. The heavy wagon, with threatened and its business death is ton of rock behind him, crashed and only a matter of a short time.

in the road, struck fire from cut stones, in the road, struck fire from cut stones, faces that town was ascertained yesmerely rags fluttering in a flerce wind. terday the facts leaking out through Almost at the foot! If only he could the search of the deed books now behold out a few seconds more! And then ing made by counsel for the parties he tried to close his eyes-for there, who have been warned out, and who rossing the road, directly in the path were innocent purchasers, in many infrom which he dared not diverge, was stances, not knowing that when the a little scarlet clad figure drawing a land was first sold by the Locust Mountain Coal and Iron company to landholders, the mineral rights were reclose his eyes, and then a streak of served. Many of these parties who unblue dashed by him, the scarlet spot knowingly purchased only the surface rights are now preparing to institute He jumped instinctively when he reached the little cart, and it was suit to recover for their loss.

The land upon which these proper ties stand was first conveyed by the Locust Mountain Coal and Iron com pany back in the sixties and seventies out he still ran on, miles it seemed to and in the changes of owners since nim now, before he could stop the de- that time there has been a failure to set forth in many instances that the deed carried only the surface rights. The citizens of Centralia are natur ally downcast over the situation that is staring them squarely in the face. It means nothing else than the extermination of the town for already valuations have depreciated and the taxes have necessarily been increased so that any growth of the town He opened his eyes after awhile and is out of the question. With practically all the land owners eventually receiving the same notices where they are above the workings of the coal company it requires no vivid imagination to realize that Centralia is in a bad way, to say the least.

> He who puts off until tomorrow what he ought to do today seldom catches up with the procession.

mediate and a cure follows. It is not dryin 1 not produce sneezing. Large Size, 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents ry (Abne, Park) include the site of nother large old house and its ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren Street, New York of General Fleetwood and Administratrix Notice.

over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is im-of the Borough of Danville, County of Montour and state of Pennsylvania, deceased. Notice is hereby given that Letters on a mound inclosed with an iron rail.

The mound isself was covered with its probability between granted to the undersigned, to whom all persons indebted to said ivy, but trimined so that one could estate are requested to make payment, and on a religious slab the words, and those having claims or demands

"This mound was a favorite retirement will make known the same without ANNIE H. WILLIAMS.

Executrix Notice. Estate of Dr. Thomas B. Wintersteen, late of the Borough of Danville

Penn'a., deceased. Notice is hereby given that Letters Testamentary on the above estate have been granted to the undersigned to whom all persons indebted to said es tate are requested to make payment. and those having claims or demands will make known the same without with its jaws extended in front and delay. MINNIE L. WINTERSTEEN. Executrix.

Executors' Notice. within them the claw suddenly snaps Estate of Jacob Brobst, late of the Township of West Hemlock, in the County of Montour and State of Pennsylvania, deceased. Notice is hereby given that letters teacher, "asks 25 cents a pound for mutton chops, what would three testamentary on the above estate have pounds come to?" been granted to the undersigned. All been granted to the undersigned. All persons indebted to the said estate are required to make payment, and those having claims or demands against the > without delay to WM. J. BROBST, MARY ELLEN KNORR, Executors of Jacob Brobst, deceased P. O. Address, Bloomsburg, Pa.

EDWARD SAYRE GEARHART,

said estate, will make known the same

Windsor Hotel

Counsel

Between 12th and 13th Sts. on Filbert St Philadelphia, Pa.

Three minutes walk from the Read ing Terminal. Five minutes walk from the Penna. R. R. Depot. EUROPEAN PLAN

$1.00 per day and upwards.

AMERICAN PLAN $2.00 per day.

FRANK M. SCHEIBLEY,

R-I-P A-N-S Tabules

Doctors find A good prescription For Mankind.

The 5-cent packet is enough for usual occasions. The family bottle (60 cents) contains a supply for a year. All drug

To Cure a Cold in One Day Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. 6. 7. Grow on every box. 25c.