

LOCAL TIME TABLES.

Table with columns for time, route, and destination. Includes sections for Penn'a. R. R., Danville and Bloomsburg Street Railway Co., and Philadelphia Reading R. R.

MOONLIGHT SCHEDULE IS ABOLISHED

Hereafter the borough is to have more light, that is, light a little earlier in the evening and a little later in the morning and light at all times in the night regardless of whether the moon is shining or not.

Where probably none of the residents of Geomart township favor the view that the township should build the lower retaining wall, yet not a few of them in common with tax payers throughout the county take the view that the trolley company should bear the expense.

As is well known during moonlight nights the plant has been shut down. This was permitted by council, as it contributed to the general reduction of cost.

Mr. Stephens' work in Montour will consist solely in inspections. He will try, as nearly as it is possible to do so, to look every orchard in the county, reaching especially for San Jose scale, which it will be remembered Mr. Brinkerhoff, a former representative of the department, found to be quite prevalent in this section.

Wherever Mr. Stephens finds the San Jose scale or any other conditions that are detrimental to the trees he will advise the owner what is best to do under the circumstances, at the same time taking notes for a report to the State department.

After Sellers of Bogus Feed Stuff. The State Department of Agriculture in carrying out the provisions of the feeding stuffs law finds it necessary, in many cases, to use stringent measures to enforce the same.

Several weeks ago information was made before H. S. Perry, justice of the peace at Warren, against J. W. Armstrong, a Warren feed dealer, who had violated the law. The charge was that Mr. Armstrong had exposed and offered for sale wheat middlings without having the guarantee analysis for protein and fat printed on the sacks enclosing the material.

The testimony in the case was recently heard by a jury in the office of Justice Perry, Attorney W. W. Wilber was counsel for the State, and considerable time was taken up in hearing the testimony and delivery of the charges to the jury, but it required only a few moments for the jury to reach a decision favorable to the State.

Much interest centered in this case and the verdict will materially assist the State in enforcing a law, the good effects of which are being felt in all parts of the State.

SATURDAY HAIR CUTS. The Pottsville Chronicle hears with much satisfaction that the local barbers are about to increase the price of Saturday hair cuts. It declares that "the man who has been compelled to sit in a barber shop on a Saturday night some half dozen crops of hair have been mowed off will be more than delighted at this determination on the part of the tonsorial artists."

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES. Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles. Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50 cents.

SUPERVISORS VISIT SUNBURY

From indications it does not seem unlikely that the present session will pass away before any work is done on the approach at the south side of the river bridge. More than a year has elapsed since the completion of the bridge, during which time traffic has been obliged to accommodate itself to a mere makeshift in the form of an approach. It is unfortunate indeed that after so much trial and at this late day no relief is in sight.

In the hope of accomplishing something tangible relating to the approach P. G. Baylor and Oliver Hoover of the board of township supervisors paid a visit to Sunbury a few days ago and met the county commissioners. The meeting was barren of practical results. The commissioners merely reaffirmed their position, which they fully explained on the occasion of their visit to South Danville in company with Judge Savage last spring.

The commissioners of Northumberland county declare themselves ready at any time to proceed with the construction of the retaining wall on the upper side, but the lower wall beyond the fourteen feet that both counties are jointly responsible for, they will have nothing to do with. The building of the wall on the lower side, they aver, devolves upon Geomart township or upon the Danville and Sunbury street railroad company, whose track lies on the lower side of the approach.

Meanwhile the traveling public will have to tolerate the steep and narrow approach—with its deep mud when ever it rains or its clouds of suffocating dust that follows whenever there are a few days of clear weather.

Will Look for San Jose Scale. A. W. Stephens, orchard inspector for the State department of zoology, arrived in this city Monday, and will begin at once a tour of inspection of the orchards of Montour county that will occupy at least two months, and which will pave the way for a series of demonstrations that the department will make throughout the county in the fall.

Mr. Stephens' work in Montour will consist solely in inspections. He will try, as nearly as it is possible to do so, to look every orchard in the county, reaching especially for San Jose scale, which it will be remembered Mr. Brinkerhoff, a former representative of the department, found to be quite prevalent in this section.

Wherever Mr. Stephens finds the San Jose scale or any other conditions that are detrimental to the trees he will advise the owner what is best to do under the circumstances, at the same time taking notes for a report to the State department. In the fall, when the leaves are off the trees, the demonstrations, which will be based on the information obtained from Mr. Stephens' inspections, will be held throughout the county.

As Mr. Stephens goes about through the county he will take applications for inspections to take place in the fall, the inspections, however, not to be less than four miles apart.

WILL INSTALL BOILERS THIS WEEK

Work on the improvements at the hospital for the insane is advancing steadily along all lines and Mr. Stutterheim, Saturday night, stated that if the weather conditions prove at all favorable, the work will be completed and the institution will have electric light by the last of August. In all eight-five men are employed on the new work.

Throughout all the male wards of the hospital the wiring is completed and the panel boards installed, which leaves nothing more to be done than to install the fixtures. In the female wards the panel boards are being installed, which means that the work is nearly completed.

In addition to the above an enormous amount of wiring was done in other and smaller buildings including the pumping station, the pumpman's house, the morgue, the coachman's house, the stable, the farm house, the large barn and the outbuildings including the pig sty. In fact there will be electric light everywhere—in each building where artificial light can be used to advantage as well as all about the grounds, where as explained in a previous issue an underground system of wires is employed.

The one point unique in his experience, Mr. Stutterheim says, is the wiring of the pig pen, although he has no fault to find with the idea and feels sure that while the electric light will add much to the convenience of the farmhands it will exert no bad effect upon the porkers.

Work on the building to house the heat, light and power plant is progressing very rapidly. The foundation walls are completed and on one side of the building the concrete wall is raised to the height of ten feet.

The power house is now ready for the boilers, which will arrive this week. The foundation for the boilers—three in number, of 600 horse power each—are completed, as well as the foundations for two of the engines and the foundation for the 150 foot steel stack.

Along every line of work the progress made surpasses expectation. The favorable showing is due in large degree to the apt and obedient class of men employed, who, Mr. Stutterheim declares, in all these qualities that go to make up faithful and desirable workmen surpass any with whom he has been brought in contact for a long time.

Wants to Erect Pole. A committee of council held a meeting Saturday night to consider a proposition from the United Telephone and Telegraph company looking to a change in wires on the river bridge.

The United telephone wires at present are carried across the bridge at the upper side on a level with the floor. The company desires to remove the wires to the lower side of the bridge and to carry them across on the iron work over head. In order to accomplish this it will be necessary to raise a sixty-five foot pole at this end of the bridge.

The question left for the committee to decide Saturday night was whether or not it would permit the telephone company to erect the high pole at the front street. Owing to the other high poles near the spot the borough was led to oppose the plan, but, desiring to help the telephone company along, made suggestions which will no doubt be acted upon.

A representative of the telephone company Saturday evening stated that the high pole may take the place of a smaller one now standing in front of Gillisby's hotel and be made to do double duty. The cost of changing the wires will be $500 and upwards.

Can Use Only Six Hooks. Fish Commissioner Meelan has stirred up some of the anglers along the Schuylkill by a letter he sent to some Northtown enthusiasts who were in doubt and trepidation about the number of rods or hand-lines a man may use in fishing when he is doing a lone stunt. There was some question about the matter among the fishermen of Montgomery county and as the fish wardens have been active they concluded not to run any chances and one wrote to Mr. Meelan.

The letter of the Commissioner settles the momentous question of how many lines or rods a man can run at one time and says in part: "A fisherman can lawfully use one rod and one hand line at the same time, each having not more than three hooks. The Superior Court has so decided. But two rods or two hand-lines would be unlawful."

Weaver Family Reunion. The first annual reunion of the Weaver family was held Saturday at Fries' park near Montandon. There were present from South Danville, Mrs. Cutbert, George Cutbert, Miss Viola Cutbert, Miss Ethel Cutbert, Miss Nellie Cutbert, Miss Jennie Cutbert, Ammon and Stanley Cutbert; others present were, Henry Weaver, Mrs. Hannah Weaver, William Weaver, Walter Weaver, Edward Weaver, Mrs. Katie Weaver, Mrs. Mary Weaver, John Weaver, Ida Weaver, Miss Mary I. Weaver, Elmer Weaver, Miss Sarah Weaver, Joe Weaver, Robert Weaver, Ben Weaver, Miss May Weaver, Roy Weaver, William Benner, Mrs. May Benner, Joe Benner, Vernon Benner, Myrtle Benner, William Gable, Mrs. Anna M. Gable, Mrs. Martha Wene, John Wane, A. Frier, Mrs. Fries, Walter Fries, Norman Fries, Harry Fries, Miss Lizzie Fries, Miss Annie Fries, Mrs. Dersham, Miss Nettie Klime, Helen Klime and Miss Cora Fries.

Washes to Go to Hazleton. At a special meeting held Saturday evening the Washington Fire company decided to accept the invitation of Hazleton's old home week committee to be present in that city on Saturday, August 4th.

The Washies will co-operate with the Friendship Fire company to secure railroad accommodations.

TWO OPERATIONS AT EXCHANGE

Two critical operations were performed at Exchange Friday, both by Dr. Nutt of Williamsport. In each case the patient was a lad of ten years.

PIECES OF BONE REMOVED. Wilmer Yeagel, son of C. J. Yeagel, was operated on, and several pieces of bone removed from his head, that were bearing on the brain, causing partial paralysis.

Young Yeagel, two years ago was shot in the head. Dr. Nutt at that time operated, but the boy never fully recovered. He seemed entirely well except that one arm was partially paralyzed. Almost a month ago he grew worse; he would be ill several days and then better, this condition continuing until an operation was decided upon.

One of the pieces of bone removed was an inch and a half long, another was somewhat smaller, beside a number of splinters.

The lad stood the operation well and his full recovery is anticipated.

SCRAPPED BONE IN FOOT. Lloyd Ellis, son of Mrs. Anne Ellis, about a month ago, stepped on a rusty nail. Medical attention was given the wound at the time, but the lad never fully recovered. Lately the foot has been getting worse.

On Friday Dr. Nutt reopened the wound, scrapped the bone and removed some of proud flesh.

Drs. Hoffman and Muffley, of Tarnobite, assisted Dr. Nutt at both operations.

Can you believe your senses? When two of them, taste and smell being by no means infallible, are fully destroyed, by Nasal Catarrh, are fully restored by Ely's Cream Balm, can you doubt that this remedy deserves all that has been said of it by the thousands who are cured? It is applied directly to the effected air-passages and begins its healing work at once. Why not get it today? All drug lists or mailed by Ely Bros 56 Warren Street, New York on receipt of 50 cents.

Company F Leaves For Camp. Company F, 12th regiment, N. G. P., left for Gettysburg Friday on the 12:30 Pennsylvania train. Its departure occasioned the usual ripple of excitement in town and the guardsmen were viewed by a large number of people as they marched up Mill street from the armory and tramped over the river bridge in marching order. The guardsmen were disappointed in the matter of music and at the last moment found that they would have to march to the station without any music to cheer and entice them. They proved, however, that they were good soldiers even without the influence of martial strains and under Captain J. E. Gearhart and Lieutenant Holloway and Keefe, they marched across the bridge like true veterans never once losing step or falling out of line.

Company F was accompanied by Major C. P. Gearhart and Dr. Cameron Shultz, assistant surgeon of the Twelfth Regiment, who side by side occupied the sidewalk on the march across the bridge. Reaching South Danville the guardsmen marched past the station to a point down below the freight house, where a special car on the siding awaited them. Here a large number of ladies, wives, sweethearts and others, had assembled to see the soldiers off. The train was nearly half an hour late and there was plenty of time for farewells.

As soon as the soldiers entered the car they were permitted to take off their knapsacks, which afforded them much relief. With mercury near the ninety mark the hour or so's preparation in the stifling air of the armory and the guardsmen a brief foretaste of what may be in store for them during the week at camp should the same degree of heat continue.

It is always well to have a box of sally in the house. Sunburn, cuts, bruises, piles and boils yield to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Should keep a box on hand at all times to provide for emergencies. For year's standard, but followed by many imitators. Be sure you get the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by Paules & Co.

Methodist Outing August 3. The Methodist outing for Central Pennsylvania, will be held at Reservoir Park, Harrisburg, Friday, August 3. Last year there was an attendance of more than ten thousand. It is expected that number will be exceeded this year. Eminent ministers and laymen of national reputation will deliver addresses. In the evening there will be a concert by a great chorus choir, supported by an orchestra of many instruments.

Children like Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. The pleasantest and best cough syrup to take, because it contains no opiates. Sold by Paules & Co.

CAMPAIN PHILOSOPHY. The Conestoga Courier indulges in the following bit of political philosophy, provoked by the present situation in Pennsylvania: "Party vehicles are best driven singly. It requires a skillful whip to drive such an aggregation of the Republican opposition, the Democratic ass and the prohibition dog in the manger. The running qualities of the team are not promising. The stage are apt to lose time in kicking and biting and pawing at each other on the way; and what a lovely scrap there will be at the end of the journey, whether it be at the State capital or on the Salt River dock!"

Only 82 Years Old. "I am only 82 years old and don't expect even when I get to be real old to feel that way as long as I can get Electric Bitters," says Mrs. E. H. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. Surely there's nothing else keeps the old as young and makes the weak as strong as this grand tonic medicine. Dyspepsia, torpid liver, inflamed kidneys or chronic constipation are unknown after taking Electric Bitters a reasonable time. Guaranteed by Paules & Co., druggists. Price 50c.

Twenty Year Battle. "I was a loser in a twenty year battle with chronic piles and medicinal sores, until I tried Buckle's Arnica Salve, which turned the tide, by curing both," writes A. M. Bruce, of Farmville, Va. Best for old Ulcers, Cuts, Burns and Wounds. 25c at Paules & Co., druggists.

IMPROVEMENTS ON A STREET

The extensive improvements on a street being made by the Danville and Bloomsburg street railway company have now progressed far enough to reveal both the excellent quality of the work done and what appearance the finished street will present when it is handed over to the borough.

The retaining walls are now all laid up with the exception of a small portion on the building line at the property of the Grove Presbyterian church which will be finished today. After that nothing will remain but to place the coping on the walls. There are two sets of retaining walls—one on curb line and the other on the building line. The walls, which are built of good sized stone laid in cement, throughout are the very pink of perfection and present a solid and artistic appearance. Along the east side of the street the wall on the building line is the higher of the two. At the property of Aaron Rockefeller it is nearly five feet high and also protects the rear of the lot where the latter abuts on the alley. At the Smith, Connelley and Gill properties, further down the street, a less height is required, but at these places substantial stone steps are a cost of the improvement. The only property on the west side of the street, outside the Grove Presbyterian church, that is affected by the improvement is the lot of J. N. Lechner, whose front is very nicely protected by two walls. The sidewalks, protected by the retaining wall on the curb line, are cut down to within two feet of the street level, while the street itself as cut down and graded is not at all difficult for even the heaviest hauling. By the time the coping is added to the walls the effect will be much enhanced and a street in addition to its convenience will strike the eye as pleasantly as any thoroughfare in the borough.

After the walls are completed the street will be filled up and graded. To carry off the water 12-inch iron pipe will be sunk on either side of the thoroughfare at the intersection of Green street.

A Tragic Finish. A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Sea dyke, which a child's finger could have stopped, to become a ruinous break, devastating an entire province of Holland. In like manner Kenneth McVey, of Vaneboro, Me., permitted a little cold to go unmedicated until a tragic finish was only averted by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes: "These doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation, caused by a neglected cold, but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life." Guaranteed best cough and cold cure, at Paules & Co's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial free.

Struck by Penny Passenger. Daniel Kiehle, of Lewisburg, was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train at Bluff, between South Danville and Catawissa, Friday morning and although not seriously injured, it is a mystery to the railroad men how he escaped death.

Kiehle had been riding on a freight that was on the Bluff siding, waiting for the 10:15 passenger train to go by. While the freight was on the siding Kiehle alighted, and laid down with his head near the main track to take a nap. He fell asleep and did not hear the passenger train approaching. Neither did the engineer see the man until the locomotive was almost upon the man.

The train struck Kiehle going at full speed and whirled him away from the track. He was picked up unconscious and taken to Catawissa where Dr. Marion Vestine dressed his injuries, consisting of a severe scalp wound that required 55 stitches, had bruises about the chest and other cuts and bruises all over his body. Later he was removed to his home at Lewisburg.

It is a relief for sore stomach, palpitation of the heart, and other ailments arising from disorder of the stomach and digestion. Take a little Kodol after meals and see what it will do for you. Sold by Paules & Co.

New Railroad Line. The Northern Central Connecting, Railroad company subsidiary to the Northern Central Railroad company, has under consideration the construction of a double track freight line from Viaduct, at the west end of the Rockville bridge, to a point near Northumberland, a distance of about fifty miles. Plans for the construction work are being drafted, although the work has not been approved by the directors.

The purpose of the line is to relieve the greatly congested condition of the railroad at the Enola yards and facilitate the handling of freight to and from the great lakes from the territory south and east of Harrisburg on the Northern Central Railway and the Pennsylvania. The line will occupy a part of the road bed of the old Pennsylvania canal. It is the purpose of the management to establish an immense freight yard south of Northumberland.

Congressional Conferees. John G. McHenry, of Benton, who has been unanimously endorsed in the Democratic conventions of all the counties forming this congressional district, Columbia, Montour, Sullivan and Northumberland, completed Thursday his selection of conferees from each county, who will meet in conference at Shamokin on Tuesday, July 31st, and formally name a candidate to represent this district.

The men selected are as follows: From Montour county: W. G. Pursell, Danville; Harry Ellenbogen, Danville. From Columbia county: George E. Ellwell, Esq., Bloomsburg; Dr. H. V. Hower, of Millville. From Northumberland county: J. I. Welsh, Shamokin; Hon. H. C. Dickerman, of Milton. From Sullivan county: John G. Scourin, Dushore; Alphonsus Walsh, Dushore.

At the conference an organization will be effected and nominations called for. As every county went for McHenry, his will be the only name placed before the meeting and he will be nominated on the first ballot.

TOO MANY CANDIDATES. The United Mine Workers of the first legislative district of Schuylkill county held a meeting the other day, the intention of which was to suggest legislative candidates for both the Democratic and Republican primaries. After some discussion, however, it was discovered that there were so many aspirants and the delegates were so divided in sentiment that the best way out of the difficulty was to do nothing. So the convention adopted a resolution to the effect that all the aspirants should register and take their chances at their respective party primaries. A very sensible conclusion.

Kenney's Laxative Honey and Tar is the original laxative cough syrup and combines the qualities necessary to relieve the cough and purge the system of cost. Contains no opiates. Sold by Paules & Co.

DUST ARRESTERS PROVE A SUCCESS

Glassford's patent dust arrester in stalled in the cleaning room of the Stove Works a couple of weeks ago is now in operation and is giving complete satisfaction. Under natural conditions the cleaning department of such a plant is one of the dirtiest and most disagreeable places imaginable, the dust being so dense as to almost conceal the workmen. It is something of a revelation therefore, to enter the cleaning room at present and to find the air pure and as free from dust as the atmosphere outside the building, even though the machines, ten in number, are all in operation.

It has not been long since dust arresters of another and simpler pattern, were installed in the polishing room of the stove works, where previously conditions were quite as bad as in the cleaning department, the dust from the emery wheels proving especially injurious to the workmen. Under present conditions polishing is by no means unpleasant work and there is nothing about it detrimental to the health.

The stove works in the matter of equipment is now thoroughly modern and in the front ranks. Among other improvements recently installed is a "trolley system" in the foundry for the purpose of conveying the molten iron from the cupola to the moulds. The heavy ladles of hot iron, which were formerly lugged about by the workmen are now attached to the overhead trolley and thus suspended, with little effort are conveyed to the remotest part of the foundry.

The Danville Stove and Manufacturing company may be relied upon to keep thoroughly abreast with the times and each year to bring something new in the line of stoves. The company is now working on the patterns of a new Queen Beaver range, which will be the next surprise offered the public. The Queen Beaver in its old dress was immensely popular and had a big sale. As remodeled and redressed it will bear little resemblance to the old stove of that name. It will be semi-plain with lift-off nickel, the same as the "Famous" and "Imperial Beaver," placed upon the market during the last year or so.

It is due to the Danville stove and manufacturing company to state that it was the first of the stove manufacturing firms of the East to adopt the lift-off nickel. The success met with in the sale of the "Imperial" and "Famous" Beavers attests to the popularity of that method of dressing stoves and the "lift-off" nickel is now nearly everywhere in vogue.

Danville is Honored by D. L. & W. It may not be generally known that Danville has been signally honored by the D. L. & W. railroad company this year. The book of summer travel contains a full page out of the Danville Structural Tubing company's plan which is made the sole feature of the industrial department of the publication.

The illustration shows a photographic view of the Structural Tubing company's plant taken from the D. L. & W. railroad north of the works. Every thing is shown on a large scale and the plant presents an imposing appearance. Beneath the cut the book sets forth that the Danville Structural Tubing works cover about six acres (ground and give employment to more than four hundred men; also that the company manufactures a high grade of structural steel tubing and special shapes for the construction of agricultural implements, trolley brackets, arms, etc., which are shipped to every part of the United States and Canada.

Try a little KODOL FOR DYSPEPSIA after your meals. See the effects. It produces on your general feeling, digesting your food and helping you get self into shape. Many stomachs are overworked to the point where they refuse to go further. Kodol digests your food and gives your stomach the rest it needs, while its reconstructive properties get the stomach back into working order. Kodol relieves flatulency, soothes inflammation of the heart, belching, etc. Sold by Paules & Co.

Fell From Wagon. Frank Diehl, of Valley townshipp had a bad fall, and a narrow escape from serious injury Thursday afternoon. Mr. Diehl was unloading hay in the barn with a pulley fork. He was pulling on the rope to release a fork full of hay when the rope broke and loosing his balance, Mr. Diehl fell to the bar floor striking on his head. He was rendered unconscious and it was thought that he was seriously hurt. It was later ascertained, however, that the number of painful bruises were of no extent of his injuries.

The hearing was not marked by any new developments in the case. An air of sadness pervaded the proceedings, and expressions of pity for young Carr frequently found voice. He is a boy who has been surrounded all his life by the most demoralizing influences, and the commission of an act such as he is charged with would be but the expected outcome of an early training such as his has been.

A pitiable example of the immoral surroundings amid which he has been reared was furnished last night as the hearing was about to begin, when it was necessary to refuse to admit the father of the Carr boy, as he was too drunk to properly behave himself.

The information as lodged by William Fausnaught, uncle of the drowned boy, is as follows: That on the 18th day of July, 1906, at the steel plant in the Second ward of the borough of Danville, Clarence Carr did unlawfully cause the death of George Leroy Fausnaught, by shoving or throwing the said George L. Fausnaught into the soaking pit of the said steel plant, said pit being filled with

CARR COMMITTED TO JAIL WITHOUT BAIL

Startling facts developed Thursday in the drowning accident in which little George Fausnaught lost his life Wednesday afternoon.

It came to the ears of the authorities Thursday morning that, contrary to the statement made Wednesday night by Clarence Carr, there was another boy in the old steel plant when young Fausnaught was drowned. This boy's name is Gus Earp, and it became rumored about that he made the serious accusation that Carr had thrown Fausnaught into the pool, and laughing with fiendish glee, had then allowed him to drown without trying to effect a rescue.

Hearing of these new disclosures William V. Oglesby, acting as coroner, proceeded to the old steel plant and empaneled a jury to thoroughly inquire into the manner in which young Fausnaught met his death. The jury selected was John G. Voris, W. H. N. Walker, Albert Kemmer, Alonzo Mottern, Frank Kramer and Theo. R. Angle.

The jury proceeded to the steel plant where, amid the realistic surroundings, the testimony of two witnesses was heard. Gus Earp was sworn and told his story to the jury, illustrating his words with gestures and movements to show the actions of the two boys, Carr and Fausnaught, before the latter was drowned. Earp said that Ralph Heim, Carr and Fausnaught and he had been together in the mill, and that Heim left Fausnaught was sitting at the top of the bank, which is about 10 feet high, and quite steep, throwing small stones into the water. Carr slipped around behind Fausnaught and catching him by the ankles and around the body, threw him head long into the pool, the boy alighting about 5 feet from the shore. Carr then sat down on the bank, the witness continued, and indulged in a hearty laugh at his playmate's plight, as he sank and rose to the surface, then sank and rose again and finally disappeared beneath the dark surface of the pool, choking and gasping and uttering feeble cries for help.

Earp said he stayed for about 20 minutes after Carr threw the boy into the water and then went home, but told no one but his mother of the terrible things he had witnessed. He said he was afraid the Carr boy would "jump him" if he told.

Joseph Reed testified to being present when the body of George Fausnaught was taken from the water in the soaking pit. When it was seen what trend affairs were taking several men were deputized to hunt for Clarence Carr, and soon he was brought to the old steel plant, where the jury was still sitting. He was cautioned by District Attorney C. P. Gearhart that he need say nothing unless he so desired and that anything he said could be used against him in a trial.

Carr spoke a few words denying that he threw Fausnaught into the pool. His statement in every particular was exactly the reverse of what young Earp had said.

Carr said that Fausnaught was standing down near the edge of the water throwing sticks into the pool, when he slipped and fell into the water. Carr said he tried to help him out but was unable to save him.

The jury then adjourned to Albert Kemmer's hotel where after a short private session the following verdict was rendered: "An inquisition taken at the Steel Plant in the Second Ward of the Borough of Danville, county of Montour and State of Pennsylvania, on the nineteenth day of July, A. D. 1906, upon view of the body of George Leroy Fausnaught, lying dead, before William V. Oglesby, a justice of the peace in and for said county, there being no lawfully appointed coroner for said county, upon the solemn oaths respectively, of John G. Voris, W. H. N. Walker, Albert Kemmer, Alonzo Mottern, Frank Kramer and Theodore R. Angle, six good and lawful men of the county aforesaid, charged to inquire on the part of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, when, where and by what means the said George L. Fausnaught came to his death, who upon their respective oaths, do say, that it appears from the view of the body and from the evidence produced before them, that the said George L. Fausnaught, aged 11 years, 3 months and 7 days, came to his death by drowning on July 18th, 1906, at the hands of one Clarence Carr, a boy in his 15th year, either by being pushed or thrown into the soaking pit at the old steel plant, in the second ward of the borough of Danville aforesaid."

The hearing of Clarence Carr, charged with causing the death of George Leroy Fausnaught, took place Friday evening before Justice of the Peace William V. Oglesby, in the private office of Sheriff George Maters in the county jail.

The hearing was not marked by any new developments in the case. An air of sadness pervaded the proceedings, and expressions of pity for young Carr frequently found voice. He is a boy who has been surrounded all his life by the most demoralizing influences, and the commission of an act such as he is charged with would be but the expected outcome of an early training such as his has been.

water, in which the said George L. Fausnaught drowned. Ralph Kiser, counsel for the defense, pleaded not guilty.

Only two witnesses were heard. Clyde Swank testified that he assisted to take the remains from the pool, and that he recognized the body as that of George Leroy Fausnaught.

Nine-year-old Gus Earp was the drowning, and related the details of the weekday morning. A short cross examination failed to show any deviations from the original narrative. He said he told no one of what he had seen until the next morning when he confided in his mother. He stated that there had been no quarrel between Carr and Fausnaught.

Young Carr sat throughout the hearing without uttering a word. He wore a worried expression, but the only real feeling he showed was that he cried when the commitment papers were served on him and he was taken back to his cell.

After hearing the testimony the defendant was committed to jail, the offence charged being of such a nature that bail could not be allowed.

The prosecutor, William Fausnaught, was held under the usual recognizance to prosecute.
