"And now July 31, 1906, the court sentences, the defendant, Daniel Candy, to be committed to the care and guardianship of the managers of the Philadelphia Protectory for boys at Pawling, Pennsylvania, there to be kept, fed and clothed and treated as the law directs and to stand committed until the sentence be complied with: and further the order made May, 1906, placing the defendant in the charge of probation officer is amended and revoked. The sheriff to conduct you thence within five days from date,

By the court. CHARLES C. EVANS, P. J." Judge Evans spoke kindly to young Candy, explaining to him that he had noped when he placed him in the hands of the probation officer that he would henceforth be a better boy. He now sincerely hoped that he would reform and that when he leaves the institution at Pawling he will be altogether a different boy. William Kase West presented the petition of J. P. Buck for transfer of license at the City hotel. The petition set forth that in February, 1906, a listreet was granted to John C. Moyer who owing to ill health agreed to sell out to the petitioner provided the court would transfer the license. W. L. Gouger being called to the stand testified as to the applicant's good character and general fitness to convertised compounds. They have a duct a hotel. A list of nineteen signers in support of the petition was presented to the court. The bond was approved and the license was transferred as prayed for. Ralph Kisner presented a petition of the official board of the Thomas Beaver Free Library setting forth that owing to the death of Joseph H.
