THE WIND BELL.

Original Home.

The wind bell, as its name implies, is made to ring by the action of the wind-in fact, the wind bell is not a bell at all, strictly speaking, but a contrivance composed of a number of pendants suspended in a circle from a ring and hung close together so that they will come into contact and pro duce sounds when swayed by the winds.

Some wind bells produce sounds that are pleasing and musical. Some are made with glass pendants, some with pendants of metal; some are very small and simple in construction, others are large and massive and elabo-

The original home of the wind bell is Japan. In its simplest form it is comosed of a number of narrow strips of glass, perhaps six inches in length, suspended lengthwise from a wire ring about two inches in diameter. Within the circle formed by the strips thus suspended is hung by one corner a little square piece of glass halfway down the length of the long strips, the strips and the square piece ornamented with various Japanese characters hung up wherever a breeze will strike it and blow the strips into contact with one another and with the square suspended among them.-Detroit News-

Artificial Birds.

In very early times men began to $e\boldsymbol{x}$ periment with a view to making artificial birds and animals that would imitate the motions of living creatures, and if we are to believe the records, some of the artists in that line were remarkably successful.

Archytas of Tarentum, who lived in the year 400 B. C., constructed an artificial pigeon that could fly, but which was not able to resume its flight after once alighting. John Muller, a German of great mechanical skill, constructed an artificial eagle, which on the entry of Emperor to meet him, and, returning, alighted on the city gate to await his approach.

THOUGHTLESS TRAPPERS.

Torture to Animals and Ruthless

Destruction of Game. People who have not seen can form no idea of the suffering trappers cause nor of their ruthless destruction of game. Nothing escapes them. Even the squirrels are sacrificed to bait traps for marten and fisher, and not only the squirrels, but all kinds of birds, whether game or song birds.

In trapping mink, otter, beaver and trap is nearly always set near the water where the animal when caught

But with bear marten and fisher it is different. The bear must drag a heavy clog about until it catches in some root or bush. There he must wait until the trapper comes to kill him, and this in credible size. One trapper in one day to try a new rifle. The birds were nesting. He had no use for them, and not one did he even bring to camp.

Years ago in British Columbia an old trapper camped near our bear hunting party. He shot everything he could find, even little ducks and marmots. A goat he killed fell over a cliff, and as it was harder to recover it than to shoot another he shot another. He was trapping beaver out of season and I have seen the spot where a bear
