

LOCAL TIME TABLES.

LITTLE GIRL SHOT BY BROTHER

With a bullet buried in her head beyond the reach of the doctor's probe, Rachael Poff, the eight year old daughter of C. William Poff, of Sunbury, is lying in a precarious condition at the Mary M. Packer hospital.

Workmen Honor Foreman.

Charles Lehr, of Catawissa, foreman of the work train, which has been employed since last spring extending the siding on the south side has been very highly honored by a number of Danville wage earners.

Models of Beauty and Perfection.

A good many advance calendars for 1907, handed out by business firms to favored friends, may be seen displayed about town.

Peoples Bank Directors.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Peoples bank, of this city, held Saturday afternoon the following directors were elected: John Doster, John Ellis, James E. Smith, O. F. Ferris, Howard Shultz, Thomas Benfield, David Thomas, Samuel Lowenstein and J. H. Cole.

To Prepare for Banquet.

The members of Goodrich post, No. 22, G. A. R., will meet on Monday night, December 23rd, to make arrangements to celebrate and partake of a banquet in their hall on January 7th, at which time the newly elected officers will be installed.

Veteran Forecaster Retires.

Elias Hartz, the noted goosebore weather prophet, of Reading, who has prognosticated weather conditions for seventy years, is 92 years of age and very feeble.

Mr. Hippensteel in Charge.

William Hippensteel, of Fairview, has assumed charge of the puddle department of the Reading iron works.

JUDGE EVANS OUSTS A SCHOOL BOARD

Judge Evans took a decisive step toward the cleaning up of corrupt Conyngham township, Columbia county, when he ousted the board of school directors on Saturday and appointed a new board, which is calculated to better serve the interests of the public schools.

The opinion of Judge Evans starts off by quoting from an opinion of Judge Ferris in removing school directors: "Popular government to endure must be based on intelligent citizenship. Upon this is built our school system. The lever that controls the machinery of that system has been placed in the hands of the school director and to him has been committed absolute fidelity in its execution."

Corner loafing is a nuisance anywhere and when tolerated only for a little while it is pretty certain to develop into disorder. Men who would be above any assembly conduct on the street often fall into the habit of carrying a little too long on the street corners and thus unconsciously become factors in bringing about the conditions complained of.

REST MADE EASY

There Will be Less Sleeplessness When Danville People Learn This. Can't rest at night with a bad back. A lame, a weak or an aching one. Doan's Kidney Pills are for bad backs.

They cure every form of kidney hills. From common backache to diabetes. They are endorsed by Danville people.

Levi Allegor, baker, of 102 North Spruce street, says: "I found more relief from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills than from anything I ever used for kidney trouble. About eight years ago I had considerable lameness in my back, over the hips and a continual aching right over the kidneys. These pains clung to me and increased in severity if I stooped or lifted. Occasionally sharp pains would pass through me and shoot up between my shoulders, along my spine. All this caused me considerable suffering and unfitted me for my work. I could not sleep well at night and in the morning would arise tired and unrefreshed."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Wall Street's Bad Condition.

Wall street or that portion of it leading from the D. L. & W. railroad to the four cemeteries on the hill is in a notoriously bad condition and those who travel it with funerals find cause for a great deal of complaint.

That portion of Wall street was never in a worse condition than yesterday. The mud, it is true, is not deep, but the street is badly washed and large stones protrude from the ground, causing vehicles to jolt badly and making it difficult for the horses to drag a heavy load up the hill.

Mr. Cotter's Turkeys.

Lawrence Cotter, of Dorchester, Mass., until last summer in charge of Castle Grove greenhouse, where his son, William Cotter, at present is installed as manager, will feast on Pennsylvania turkey on Christmas. Charles Lyon at his meat market on Mill street has two fine turkeys, the product of Montour county farms, dressed and ready to ship to Mr. Cotter. One weighs 19 pounds and the other 22 pounds.

Good Work Recognized.

As a recognition for meritorious work O. R. Shilling, in charge of the Prudential life insurance offices in this city has received a present of a handsome leather suitcase. Today two of the Danville staff, J. E. Pfahler and C. C. Fisher, will receive each a gold pin with a piece of the rock of Gibraltar as a setting.

First Death in Forty Years.

A remarkable fact incidental to the death of Samuel DeMott, of Millville, is that he is the first death in the Millville lodge of Odd Fellows since the organization of the lodge forty years ago. Like the lodge, the deceased was forty years of age.

Mr. Hippensteel in Charge.

William Hippensteel, of Fairview, has assumed charge of the puddle department of the Reading iron works.

SCENE OF DISORDER AT STREET CORNER

The third ward in the vicinity of the armory was the scene of a good bit of disorder Saturday, in which the disturbing element were some forty boys, who succeeded in making it miserable for Bloch and Benzbach and managed to elude the police, whenever the latter appeared, so that the ball went on merrily pretty nearly all day.

Bloch & Benzbach, who are engaged in taking an inventory found it almost impossible to proceed with work. There was a perfect bedlam outside and at times it seemed that a surging warfare was in progress, the shout and yell, indicating challenge and defiance, being varied with the sound of broken glass as stones were hurled through the windows of the upper stories.

Such conduct is a disgrace to any town that makes a pretense of keeping things decent and orderly. Probably the police will find some way of getting hold of the ring leaders, which will have a good effect on the rest. The corner at Bloch & Benzbach's has been a popular loafing place for a long time, but it is only within a recent period that things have become quite so bad.

Corner loafing is a nuisance anywhere and when tolerated only for a little while it is pretty certain to develop into disorder. Men who would be above any assembly conduct on the street often fall into the habit of carrying a little too long on the street corners and thus unconsciously become factors in bringing about the conditions complained of.

DRY CHRISTMAS IN COLUMBIA

The allied efforts of the Sabbath observance association, the W. C. T. U., and the ministers of Columbia county, in the form of numerous petitions and resolutions, have resulted in an order of the court that closes all bars in the county on Christmas day.

The order was issued on Saturday and reads as follows: In the court of quarter sessions of the peace in and for the county of Columbia, now December 15th, 1906, it is hereby ordered and directed by the court that the clerk of said court of quarter sessions shall have prepared and printed a notice to this effect: That all licensed places, hotels, restaurants and saloons for the sale of intoxicating liquors, either spirituous, vinous or malt, within this county, shall close the bars of their respective places of business on Monday night, December 24, 1906, at 12 o'clock midnight, to keep the same closed until 5 o'clock Wednesday morning, December 26, to the end that no sales of liquor shall be made on Christmas day. In the event of any violation of this order by any licensed place, hotel, restaurant or saloon keeper, and being brought to the attention of court, an application for license for such place for such violation occurred will be refused.

This notice to be delivered to the several constables in the several wards, boroughs, towns and townships through out the county, and the same to be forthwith served by the said several constables upon hotel, restaurant and saloon keepers and wholesale dealers within their respective districts without any cost to the county; it being part of the duty of said officers to issue orders of this nature without compensation. By the Court, (Signed) CHAS. C. EVANS, P. J. JAS. T. FOX, A. J.

Pleasant Surprise Party.

A pleasant surprise party was tendered to Samuel Heimback at his home in East Danville Thursday evening in honor of his 33rd birthday.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Heimback, Mr. and Mrs. James Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Woodward Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Barton Foust, Mrs. Rebecca Baylor, Mrs. David Heimback, Mrs. James Rishel, Mrs. John Cromley, Misses Dora Morrison, Verna Morrison, Laura Morrison, Mae Heimback, Florence Everett, Elsie Everett, Hannah Morrison, Gertrude Morrison, Messrs. Kersey Foust, Ralph Baylor, George Heimback, Raymond Morrison, Samuel Morrison, Joseph Baylor, Raymond Everett and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Penman, of Bloomsburg.

Should Isolate Contagion.

The money saving alone makes it common sense for the householder to immediately have a case of communicable disease properly isolated. This State Health Commissioner Samuel G. Dixon Saturday in discussing ways in which people can protect themselves against disease.

"If a case of scarlet fever, for instance, is immediately isolated in a room as remote as possible from other occupied rooms in the house," continued Dr. Dixon, "the chances of the other members of the household escaping the infection are manifoldly increased. Leaving out the question of the parents' duty to safeguard the lives of their other children and their neighbors' children, think of the actual economy there is in the taking of a little simple precaution at the outset."

"In addition to isolating the case, there should be hung over the door of the sick room, and it requires little trouble and expense to do it, a sheet kept moist with a disinfecting solution. This solution may be prepared by dissolving eight bichloride of mercury tablets in one gallon of hot water. It should be noted that this is poisonous."

Holiday Shoppers Out En Masse.

People of Danville this year decided to act upon good advice and they accordingly started out early to make their purchases for Christmas. Any one who observed our streets Saturday must have been keenly alive to that fact.

The Fortunate Small Boy.

Though the wreck at Halifax on Saturday brought dismay to the officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, it brought only joy to the hearts of the youth of Halifax. In the wrecked train one of the cars was loaded with sugar and tons of sweetness were scattered over the tracks and on the bank. Two cars had Christmas toys and candy and very little of this freight escaped damage. Great quantities of the sweets were left where they fell as being unmarketable even as damaged goods. The small boy reaped a rich harvest and on Christmas morning he will not have to look to his stocking for his annual supply of candy.

"ONLY RICH MAN IN STATE'S PRISON"

Griffith J. Griffith, of Los Angeles, Cal., has served his sentence of two years for shooting his wife and once more is a free man. Griffith J. Griffith enjoyed the distinction of being "the only rich man in State's prison," but what will interest our readers more in his checkered career is the fact that he grew to manhood in Danville, has many friends among our citizens and at least once in recent years paid our town a visit.

There is scarcely a man in his early fifties who spent his boyhood in the third ward of Danville but remembers Griffith J. Griffith. Several of these were talking Tuesday, who were the first to meet him, when a boy of some fourteen years, he came strolling into Danville. He was sorely in need of friendship and help and he found both in these Danville, a fact which in later and more prosperous years he held in grateful remembrance.

Griffith's parents died when he was very young. He was born in the coal region, in the vicinity of Pottsville, and when he came to Danville he made the journey over the mountains on foot.

The boys of the third ward on his arrival took him in hand, procured something for him to eat and furnished him with temporary quarters. In this way he was brought to the attention of Benjamin Mowrey, a blacksmith whose shop was located at the corner of Mill and Chambers street. Mr. Mowrey liked the boy and gave him a home in his family. When he came home Griffith could neither read nor write, but through the kindness of Mr. Mowrey and others he acquired a fair education in Danville.

In early life Griffith drifted west. To come the news that he had acquired wealth and had distinguished himself among philanthropists by presenting the city of Los Angeles with a magnificent park of 3000 acres. Later came his visit to this city, which resulted in the erection of a monument in the Lutheran cemetery at this place to the memory of Benjamin Mowrey, his former friend and benefactor. Next came the story of the dark tragedy which cast a blot upon his name, and now we have the news that he has begun his crime and is ready to begin life anew.

The "Los Angeles Times" in dwelling on this dark episode of Griffith J. Griffith's career says: "His sentence of two years has been reduced to twenty months by the good conduct rule. He is about to change his occupation from that of laundry girl to that of capitalist. Griffith went into prison in straightened circumstances; he is coming out rich again. His property has been working for him while he has been in the penitentiary."

"After giving his wife $65,000 cash Griffith had little except the Los Feliz rancho comprising between 700 and 800 acres, now worth $1000 per acre. Part of the rancho lies in the Fernando Valley, surrounding the 3000 acres, that compose Griffith park his gift to the city."

"Griffith says he feels that his term in the penitentiary is the best thing that ever happened him, as it has broken him of the drink habit."

"In spite of Mr. Griffith's protestations of reform it is said there is no prospect of a reconciliation with his wife, from whom he is divorced."

"His wife was a rich Miss Mesmer—heiress of an old Los Angeles pioneer. After their marriage Griffith became a frequent tourist down the coast line. Two years ago the community was thunderstruck to learn that he had shot his wife."

"He had gone to their room at the Anacapa hotel at Santa Monica with a loaded revolver, commanding his wife to fall on her knees and answer a lot of mad questions."

"She was too much frightened to do more than plead piteously. So he shot her. Wounded she rushed to the window and threw herself to a porch, a full story below, escaping death somehow."

BURGLAR ALARM CLOCK.

A burglar entered the residence of Frank Willis, in Norristown, early on Sunday morning, by forcing open a window and gathered a lot of silverware in the dining room which he had placed in a bag. While groping about for more booty he stumbled against an old-fashioned clock in the hall and upset it. The crash awakened the members of the household and the thief fled without taking anything with him.

Will Take Holy Orders.

Harmon Lorah, formerly of Danville, after a visit with friends in this city, left Saturday for Blue Ridge Summit, this State, where, as a lay reader, he will have charge of the services in St. John's Episcopal church, during the illness of the rector. Mr. Lorah expects to take holy orders in the near future.

DECISION THAT AFFECTS DANVILLE

A decision has been handed down by the supreme court of the United States that in its principle affects a case now pending in this county, between the borough of Danville and the D. L. & W. railway, as well as every municipality in the country where a railroad operates.

The railroad commissioners of the State of Mississippi undertook to compel the Illinois Central to stop certain through trains at the town of Magnolia, which has about 1200 inhabitants. The court held that the railroad commission had not the power to disrupt the schedules of the railroad and thus prevent the railroad from complying with the contract for the expeditious movement of the United States mails.

The principle involved is of importance because it discloses one of the means that the D. L. & W. may use to justify the ignoring of the Danville borough ordinance.

A State court has also taken a similar view in a recent decision, which was handed down before the United States supreme court passed upon the subject. In Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania, the court of common pleas, has held that the borough of Starville had no right to enforce an ordinance restricting the speed of a through train to ten miles an hour within the borough. Interference with carrying the United States mails being one of the grounds on which the opinion is based.

Funeral of William Taylor.

The funeral of the late William Taylor, whose death occurred on Wednesday, took place Saturday forenoon from the residence of Henry Vincent, Esq., son-in-law of the deceased, Valley township. The obsequies were very largely attended, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Zimmerman of Pottsgrove.

The pall bearers were six grandsons of the deceased, Victor, Robert and Walter Vincent, William Taylor, Ernest and George Bower. Interment was made in Old Fellows' cemetery, this city.

The following persons from out of town attended the funeral: Mrs. Mary A. Davis, sister of the deceased, of Springfield, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Philadelphus Taylor, William Taylor, of Philadelphia; Rev. Samuel Bower, of Pottsgrove; Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus S. Vincent of Milltown; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vincent, of Denholm; and Robert Vincent, of Clearfield.

First Pay Since Shut Down.

The employees of the Reading Iron works on Saturday received their first pay since the shut-down, last June. The pay represented nine turns and while less than the usual full two weeks' pay, along with what was paid out at the other plants, it brought about something like a return of the very good times of the past, when all our industries were booming.

The next pay at the Reading Iron works will not be until the Saturday before New Year's, which will be for two weeks and will therefore be larger than the last pay. The employees of the other plants that have been running steadily will be better suited as relates to Christmas money. But very little time was lost during those weeks, the pay for which comes due just before Christmas, and at most of the plants that pay next Saturday the amount of money paid out will reach the maximum.

MILTON'S WAY.

The borough council of Milton has ordered the assessment lists to be published in the town papers, and the Milton Evening Standard, commenting on this action, says: "There is no public matter in which all the citizens of a community are so generally interested as the valuations of real estate, which forms the basis of taxation. The greater interest the public takes in the affairs of the town the better its government is. The publication of the assessment lists every three years will get the average citizen interested in the valuation of property, just as the publication of the auditor's report interests him in the town's finances or the council proceedings keeps him posted on borough legislation. Comparisons tend to make better assessments and publicity helps secure more equal ratings between wards or districts, and militate against favoritism by assessors."

Bill to Pension Old Teachers.

Details of the bill to pension public school teachers in Pennsylvania who have served 30 years, twenty in this State, were made public last week by Frederick E. Downer, superintendent of the Harrisburg schools, a member of the committee appointed by the State teachers' association to take charge of the movement.

This bill will be presented in the next legislature, and a special effort will be made by the committee to obtain its passage early in the session. The measure provides that teachers, principals, supervisors and superintendents of public schools who have served not less than thirty years, twenty in Pennsylvania, may be retired with an annuity equal to one half the average salary received in the five years in Pennsylvania preceding retirement. The annuity shall not be less than $500 nor more than $600.

The board by which the applicant is employed shall certify the length of service to the superintendent of public instruction. If a pensioner be re-employed, the annuity shall cease, to be restored when the re-employment ceases.

The bill provides further that all annuities be paid out by the State treasury warrant drawn by the superintendent of public instruction, who is directed to set apart out of the general school appropriation a sum sufficient to carry out the provisions of the act. A census is now being made of the teachers who will be affected by the proposed act.

DON'T GET SUSPICIOUS.

Here is a suggestion by the "Here and There" man of the Johnstown Tribune that some Danville husbands should cut out and paste where they will see it once or twice a day: "If your wife asks you for $5 or $10 about this time of year, and refuses to tell you what use she proposes to make of it, don't be too suspicious. She is going to buy you a nice Christmas present that you won't have any use for."

JURYMEN ARE BEING NOTIFIED

Sheriff George Maier is sending out notices to the citizens of the county who have been drawn as jurors to serve at the next term of court, which will convene on January 14th.

The hour of meeting, 10 a. m., is definitely stated but the sheriff is wondering whether a few of the jurors will not be tempted to presume upon the court's clemency and in order to suit their convenience delay their arrival into town until a later hour. All such, the sheriff thinks, should take warning from Judge Evans' action in Columbia county, where at last court all jurors not present when the roll was called were fined one day's pay.

It is not clear to some people why we have court both in January and in February. This is accounted for by the fact that the coming court up to the present year was always held in December. It generally conflicted with the holiday festivities and for this reason the court last year, in response to a petition, made an order changing it as above described.

Several important cases will come up for trial at the next term, which, it is believed, will clean up things pretty well and probably leave no business for the February term.

A very important and interesting case that will come up for trial will be that of Clarence Carr the boy who is accused of pushing little George Fausnaught into the old soaking pit at the Bessemer steel plant and of thereby causing his death. Clarence has been in jail since the 19th of July last and is a general favorite not only with the prisoners but also with the sheriff's family. He is a beautiful singer and his sweet and childish tones beguile many an hour about the gloomy prison, which otherwise would hang very heavily on the hands of those incarcerated.

The case of Tate, alias Ethworth, and Dunmoyer, fake horse dealers, who attempted to defraud M. H. Vought out of a horse, as well as the case of William E. Pency, who is held in connection with the same affair, will also come up for trial at the next term of court. This case during the last few days has assumed a new interest by reason of the serious illness of Tate, who was taken down with grippe. It was necessary to call two physicians to the jail. Confinement seems very hard on the man.

Richard McComick's wife is charged with impersonating an officer. She is also in jail and will be tried at the next term of court.

Peter Dietrick, sentenced to the penitentiary, whose case was appended, pending action by the supreme court, is still in the county prison. It was just ten months Friday since Dietrick stepped over the threshold of the county jail on the night of the tragedy in which James A. Jones lost his life.

IN HOUSE AND SENATE.

The republicans of the house of representatives at Harrisburg will hold their caucus for the nomination of a speaker on the evening of December 31. It is understood pretty generally that Frank B. McClain, of Lancaster, will be the speaker, and that Clerk Garvin will be re-elected. Resident Clerk Johnson will likewise be re-elected. In the senate it is said that President pro tem, Woods, of Westmoreland county, will be re-elected; also that Chief Clerk Judd will succeed himself. The usual vacation of two weeks will be cut down to five days, owing to the desire of the republicans to pass proper amendments to the uniform primary act.

Peddler Didn't Need License.

The supreme court of the United States Monday reversed the decision of the superior court of Pennsylvania in the case of N. L. Rearek against the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, involving an ordinance of the town of Saubery, requiring canvassers for the sale of merchandise to take out a license.

Rearek was a representative of an Ohio broom manufacturer, and was arrested and fined $25 for the violation of the State regulations. The higher State courts upheld the proceeding, but Monday's action over ruled it on the ground that Rearek was engaged in interstate commerce which was not within the jurisdiction of State authorities.

"The brooms," said Justice Holmes, who delivered the opinion "were specifically appropriated to specific contracts, in a practical if not in a technical sense. Under such circumstances it is plain that whenever might have been their title the transport of the brooms for the filling of the contracts was protected commerce."

Hunter Will Attend Meeting.

State Highway Commissioner Joseph W. Hunter will attend the meeting of the Columbia county supervisors to be held at Bloomsburg on Thursday, at which time the State highway laws will be talked over, and Commissioner Hunter will explain many points on which the supervisors have not a clear understanding.
